BYRD'S PARTY NEAR DISASTER AMID ICE PACK

Rapidly Freezing Sea and Dwindling Stores Hold Threat of Death.

TWO NATIONS ASKED FOR IMMEDIATE HELP

State Department Seeks Aid From British and Norwegian Ships.

15-DAY LIMIT FIXED TO BRING OUT GROUP

New York Representative Discounts Likelihood of Starvation Soon.

Fearful that abnormal conditions in the Antarctic ice pack and a waning food supply threaten the safety of the Byrd expedition, the Federal Government yesterday moved swiftly to bring immediate assistance to Rear Admiral Byrd and members of his party.

In the face of advices that the expedition is unprepared for another winter in the Antarctic and that unless the party is reached within 30 days there is little hope for rescue, the State Department cabled Ambassador Charles G. Dawes at London and Lauritis S. Swenson, American Minister at Oslo, to obtain aid from whaling vessels under the English and Norwegian flags, now in the ice-bound region. The State Department emphasized that the party should be brought out within fifteen days.

Because of the abnormal conditions in the ice pack, the department has been advised that the City of New York and the Eleanor Bolling, the two Byrd vessels, apparently will be unable to negotiate the passage to Little America, the expedition's base on the Ross ice barrier in the Bay of Whales, to bring out Rear Admiral Byrd, his men and equipment.

Food Supply Dwindles.

Moreover, the food supply is said to be virtually exhausted, and Rear Admiral Byrd believes that several members of his crew could not survive the harrowing experiences of another winter.

According to messages received here, Capt. Vermell, master of the Nilsen-Alonso, reported steaming north through the ice pack on January 19, has declined to assist Admiral Byrd without direct orders of the owners. This ship, owned by Melson & Melson, of Larvik, Norway, and a second ship, also owned by the same company, the Kosmos, are two of four Norwegian ships in the Antarctic.

The C. A. Larsen and the Sir James Clarke Ross, both owned by the Rooshavet Co., of Sandfjord, Norway, are the others.

The Southern Princess, owned by the Southern Whaling & Sealing Co., of Liverpool, is the British ship in the frozen territory.

Capital Interest Widespread.

The fear for the safety of Rear Admiral Byrd and his party has aroused widespread interest in the Capital. The waning food supply is the cause of the greatest alarm, as it is felt that if adequate supplies are available there would be no reason for grave concern for the eventual rescue of the expedition.

Authorities say that, other than the food situation, the party would be faced only with a long delay in returning from the Antarctic. It is admitted, however, that there is also the possibility of serious danger from the ice closing in on the vessels.

The advice to the State Department that Rear Admiral Byrd fears some of his men can not stand a longer delay in the frozen territory has also added graveness to the situation.

However, the feeling prevails in the Capital that the English and Norwegian governments will take immediate steps to have the whaling vessels ordered to the rescue. Such orders are momentarily anticipated in official circles.

In all instances, American representatives have been instructed to assure owners of the vessels that adequate compensation will be forthcoming.

Starvation Is Discounted.

New York, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—The New York Times tomorrow will quote Capt. H. H. Railey, personal representative of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, as saying there is no immediate prospect of a food shortage in the Byrd expedition in Antarctica. Capt. Railey's statement says:

"While it is true that the expedition is not fully equipped to spend another winter in the Antarctic, there is no immediate shortage of the food supply. There is ample fuel for heat and for the operation of the radio. The men are not on reduced rations. There is no immediate prospect that they will be. They are well clothed, comfortably housed.

"In extreme circumstances an adequate supply of whale, seal, penguin will sustain life, but those who

Liquor Charges Placed Against Mades, Once Capital Favorite.

The Mades Hotel at 300 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, one-time haunt of Washington's socially prominent, again came into the public eye yesterday when the Government filed papers in the District Supreme Court seeking to padlock the establishment for a year for alleged violation of the national prohibition act.

Pending hearing on the petition to padlock, Justice Alfred A. Wheat issued a temporary injunction restraining the owners and occupants from violating the law. Those named as defendants are Mirtello Bell, operator of the hotel; William O. Bell, Ellen Stanley and Thomas Yarbro, employes, and Franklin D. Mades, owner.

ANSWER PREPARED FOR SLUSH CRITICS

SEVERAL HURT IN FALLS

Congressional criticism of conditions along curbs in the District because of recent snow will be answered today, if Congress so desires, by a statement from Maj. D. A. Davison, Assistant Engineer Commissioner, who declares no emergency exists and traffic has not been hampered.

Senator Hamilton F. Kean (Republican), of New Jersey, yesterday wrote Traffic Director W. H. Harland complaining that automobiles had remained parked in the same spot since last Friday's snow and urging they be towed away to allow cleaning. Representative Treadway (Republican), of Massachusetts, charged no real effort had been made to clean the streets and that traffic was thus endangered.

In answer to this criticism, the District Commissioners are prepared to submit Maj. Davison's report, which declares that the city's force of 350 snow removers worked Friday and Saturday cleaning arterial highways and crosswalks, but was handicapped Monday and Tuesday by freezing weather, which made work impractical because of high cost. In view of probable further snows, Maj. Davison reported, no money could be spared to pick loose the hard-packed snow at curbs.

After dropping to a predicted minimum of approximately 10 degrees above zero early this morning, the temperature was expected to rise steadily today under fair skies. No more snow is in prospect immediately, according to the Weather Bureau.

Icy streets and sledding activities caused a number of accidents throughout the District yesterday. Frederick Ludke, 5 years old, 1114 Chicago street southeast, suffered a fractured left leg when the sled on which he was riding was struck by

REALTORS TO HELP PADLOCK CAMPAIGN

TO CHECK ON VIOLATORS

Appreciation of the action of the Washington Real Estate Board in making available its records for use in stemming the flow of illicit liquor was expressed yesterday by District Attorney Leo A. Rover, to whom the board made its offer of cooperation.

"It is very gratifying to hear of this action by the Real Estate Board," said Mr. Rover, "and I am sure the cooperation thus pledged will be of material aid in enforcement of the law."

Announcing "a definite program of cooperation with the District attorney's office in respect to violations of the prohibition law affecting real estate," John A. Petty, executive secretary of the board, explained that the board has placed at Mr. Rover's disposal the entire real estate records and files maintained in its executive offices, including an extensive file of more than 200,000 cards showing names of the owners of every lot and parcel located within the District.

This action, Mr. Petty stated, is the culmination of a movement started some weeks ago by the property management division of the organization, and follows a conference last week with Mr. Rover and Capt. Harold W. Orcutt, assistant District attorney in charge of prohibition.

A special notice, sent to members of the board, emphasized the vital importance of protecting innocent property owners from the drastic effects of padlocking properties, and urged every member to report promptly to the District attorney any instance where violation of the law in properties under their control was suspected so that immediate investigation could be made.

Necessary witnesses and evidence to prove violations of law are to be furnished by the District attorney in all ejectment suits resulting from or based upon notices issued to him by property owners, the board's statement said, explaining that "this cooperation on the part of the District attorney is extremely valuable and will serve as an assurance against mistakes in filing suits which might involve innocent parties."

40,182 Have $11,276,157 Coming to Them at End of Month.

Chicago, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—It's a long time between pay days in Chicago—ask any of the 40,182 persons on the city, county and school pay rolls—they know.

But, thanks to the butcher and baker and the small loans maker, none of the 40-odd thousand (try missing a few pay days), it really is odd—has died of starvation yet, although there is no doubt that some of them are sorely beset by the financial famine.

One wonders how they are getting along; but they are, by going in debt, extending credit, borrowing, digging down in the old sock and devious other ways. Some have obtained extra work and have found only little trouble tidying themselves over the pecuniary hiatus, but most of them

RAID ON FORAN; HOUSE RENEWS DRY ARGUMENT

ANTISALOON LEAGUE BATTLE IS IMMINENT

L. K. Liggett's Massachusetts Statement Brings Speculation.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Prohibition, which President Hoover had thought could well be taken care of by the National Law Enforcement Commission, yesterday bobbed up in two places that demanded his immediate attention.

The first was the case of Col. Arthur F. Foran, comptroller of the Port of New York, whose summer home was raided in New Jersey by unofficial prohibition agents and photographs taken of a bar he is said to have had set up in the garage.

The raid on the colonel's home is said to have been part of the New Jersey Antisaloon League's campaign against him and other New York port officials. The raid was carried out. No liquor was found. But there were photographs taken of his summer place. The prohibition commissioner, Mr. Doran, and the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Lowman, in charge of Mr. Doran, promptly disavowed any connection with the raid.

Raid Termed "Mistake."

Indeed, they said, they would never be connected with any such unlawful thing as this. The magistrate who issued the search warrant also claimed he had been misled. It was a mistake from the beginning to the very end. That is the story of the prohibition authorities.

The Antisaloon League, through James K. Shields, its militant superintendent in New Jersey, does not see the mistake. The league had already filed charges against Col. Foran and other New York port officials. The raid, made by a discharged customs employe, is looked upon as a part of the campaign against him.

Developments moved very fast in the situation. At the end of the day, Col. Foran, who had come to Washington to see about the case, had made considerable progress. He had been a member of the old Walter E. Edge New Jersey machine and there was a serious doubt as to whether Senator Hamilton F. Kean would support him. The senator, indeed, had been holding up the colonel's reappointment for several weeks.

Endorsement Is Hurried.

But when it developed that the Anti-Saloon League was moving against him as it had, it did not take long for the senator to make up his mind. Forthwith he indorsed the colonel for renomination and so did his colleague, Senator Baird. The two of them sent their indorsement by special messenger to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. So there the case lies. Senator Kean had had his doubts about giving Col. Foran any patronage, but this business of raiding a man's home—in New Jersey—it determined him to support Col. Foran for reappointment as the comptroller of the port of New York.

Thus a battle appears between the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League and the two senators, between as a matter of fact, the two senators and the prohibition department, as it is understood that both Secretary Lowman and Commissioner Doran look upon the raid of the colonel's home as little short of an outrage.

There is little question but that the National Anti-Saloon League will take the matter up. To make it more exciting Col. Foran is a Catholic and he charges that this is the reason for the "frame-up" against him.

Hoover Faces Problem.

Two perfectly good issues in this day and time from which Mr. Hoover must choose. He must either decide with the New Jersey senators or the Anti-Saloon League.

If this were not trouble enough, the statement of Louis K. Liggett, Massachusetts national committeeman, gave more. The Democrats on Capitol Hill were hailing Mr. Liggett's statement Wednesday as conceding the Massachusetts election to the Democrats.

Mr. Liggett, after an hour's conference with the President, said that although Massachusetts is a wet State, the Republican primary is such that only a dry can be nominated. Which, if Mr. Liggett knows his onions, and the wiseacres hereabouts say he does, means that a Republican dry, perhaps former Senator William

ILLINOIS GETS ARMY HELP IN FLOODED AREA

20 BELOW REPORTED IN KENTUCKY TOWN

Air Reporter Sees 27 Homes With Persons Perched on Housetops.

Chicago, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—As forecasters promised some moderation from winter's third frigid blast, which brought death to five persons and hampered rescue work among marooned flood sufferers, attention was centered upon further inundating dangers by a War Department order for immediate investigation of an ice gorge on the Wabash River at Palestine, Ill.

Appeal to the Secretary of War for the investigation was made by Gov. Louis L. Emmerson and Senator Otis Glenn, of Illinois, who pointed out the rapid flooding of Illinois farm lands.

Persons living below the ice gorge at Palestine and another at Covington, Ind., were fearful that any break would release great volumes of water upon them, while the lands of persons living upstream were rapidly being inundated, the War Secretary was informed.

Kentucky Has Zero Weather.

Although the cold was reported moderated considerably in most of the Middle West, many spots still shivered at some of the lowest temperatures in many years. Owensboro, Ky., was an example with 20 degrees below zero.

Abnormally cold weather continued in the Rocky Mountain region and the section between the Western foothills of the Appalachian Mountains and the Atlantic Coast was experiencing uncomfortable subnormal temperatures. A bright sun over the Southland gave that section hope of relief from the grip of extraordinary frigidity.

Rising or moderate temperatures were predicted for tonight and tomorrow in most of the North Central States, but weather forecasts said reading would remain below normal.

Ice Blockades Towns.

Vincennes, Ind., Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Ice barriers and flood-swept wastes continued today to block relief workers who sought to learn the true conditions prevailing in several communities which have been isolated since the Wabash, White and Patoka rivers overflowed their banks last week.

No word has been received for several days from rural districts in Knox, Gibson and Posey counties, all bordering on the Wabash in the southwestern part of the State.

Under the direction of H. B. Williamson, assistant national disaster relief director of the American Red Cross, efforts to penetrate the flooded area went forward today. Following the successful carrying of supplies by airplane yesterday to 150 persons, who have been marooned on the Claypool Hills in southern Knox County, Mr. Williamson called for more aerial assistance today.

Newspaper Aids Relief Work.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Relief went by air today to isolated regions in the flood-stricken area in northeastern Arkansas and the southeastern tip of Missouri while rescue crews battered their way into the ice-bound overflow to bring several hundred persons from the flooded lowlands.

An airplane dispatched from Memphis by the Memphis Evening Appeal, joined forces with the American Red Cross and dropped food and fuel to distressed lowland dwellers marooned in cabins and isolated farming centers.

Refugees Taken to Camps.

Refugees will be taken to camps at Blytheville and the town of Dell. The sorely stricken area which had not been penetrated by reacue crews today was estimated by the pilot of the relief plane at "about three miles wide and six miles long."

Jack Bondurant, Evening Appeal representative in the plane, reported that he counted 27 houses in the territory on his first flight where persons could be seen crowded about windows or perched on the roofs.

Close on the heels of the news of the plight in which the newspaper plane found the marooned sufferers, the Memphis headquarters of the Curtiss-Wright flying service put its entire fleet of sixteen planes at the disposal of the Red Cross.

MacDonald Offers Plan, Asking Hardest Naval "Knots" Be Listed.

ENVOYS NOT INVOLVED WOULD BE MEDIATORS

Most of Controversies Two-Nation Affairs, He Points Out.

CONFERENCE REMAINS IN "JUMPY" CONDITION

Naval Needs Are Set Forth in General Terms, With Figures Omitted.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.

London, Jan. 23 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—To all intents and purposes the London naval conference has not yet begun. This is true despite the second plenary session held this morning in St. James' Palace, at which four nations made vague and general statements about their "needs" and Secretary of State Stimson, for the United States, declared himself unwilling to make any statement of American desires beyond a claim to parity with Great Britain, as already agreed by this country.

All five powers participating in the conference are considering tonight a remarkable proposal made late today in private conversations by Premier MacDonald to other leading delegates. The British prime minister first asked the other four powers to tabulate the main controversial issues, and to agree to bring them before the conference, subject to preliminary exploration.

Recites Main Stumbling Blocks.

He suggested that the chief stumbling blocks arise between two powers. He named the American-Japanese ratio question, the American-Japanese cruiser issue, Anglo-French submarine difficulties and Franco-Italian troubles.

MacDonald's suggestion is that the conference should appoint a disinterested third party delegate to sit in as a conciliator with the delegates of the two powers concerned in each of these disputes.

It was apparently hoped that this suggestion could be adopted and conciliators appointed tomorrow, but the possibility of this appeared doubtful at midnight since it is said that there is as yet no agreement as to what the main points of controversy are. Some have been mentioned which are so highly controversial that certain of the high contracting parties think they should not be raised at the conference at all. It is noticeable that the statesmen of certain nationalities jump several feet at mention of "freedom of the seas."

Evasion Is Deliberate.

Although no postwar international conference has ever found itself in such vague and nebulous shape at such a stage, this is in itself no reason for pessimism.

Avoidance at the outset of controversial topics is deliberate; it is the policy of the American and British delegations; it meets with no objections from the Japanese, and the French are somewhat sardonically pleased with the mass of flattery and attention to which they are subject, although not entirely convinced that what they designate as the Anglo-Saxons are going to let them call the tune for more than ten days or a fortnight.

Only the Italians at present appear anxious to get down to brass tacks, and they are being kept in good humor.

The American position at this stage can be stated authoritatively as follows: There is no hurry. Previous conferences have been wrecked by too great anxiety to get things done more quickly. Sooner or later, of course—the Americans put the limit as not more than a fortnight—the all-important question of ratios must be tackled, and until that is

SENATOR DENIES USE OF CAMPAIGN CHECK

WAS LOBBY TESTIMONY

(Associated Press.)

An immediate denial was made yesterday by Senator King (Democrat), Utah, of testimony before the Senate lobby committee that he had been aided in his political campaigns of 1922 and 1928 with contributions totaling $2,000 from H. A. Metz, New York dye importer. King is a member of the finance committee which drafts tariff legislation.

The testimony was received from Samuel Russell, of Salt Lake City, former secretary to King, who told of "strained relations" between himself and the senator after a friendship of more than 24 years. As he discussed the "break" in their friendship, his voice faltered.

Russell testified that E. R. Pickrell, employed by Metz, had given him $1,000 in behalf of Metz for King's 1922 campaign and that he had sent it to Samuel A. King, brother of the senator and his campaign manager, in Salt Lake City.

In addition, a letter from Pickrell to Russell was produced, which said Metz had sent a $1,000 check to King in October, 1928. The witness, who was not associated with King after September 1, 1928, disclaimed knowledge of the latter check.

Questioned by newspapermen after the lobby hearing had adjourned, Senator King said Metz had sent him a $1,000 check in 1928, but that it had not been used. He added that he had never heard of any contribution in 1922.

"I never take money from my friends," he asserted. "I don't want to be under obligations to any one."

King displayed a part of the 1928 check, which bore the signature of Metz, explaining he had preserved it in case any one questioned that it had been destroyed. He said Metz had been notified the check had not been used and had been destroyed.

Russell, who is more than 50 years old, said that after he graduated from the University of Virginia Law School he entered King's law office in Salt Lake City. Their friendship continued until after the 1922 election, when disagreements began to result over certain policies. Their relations were severed in 1928.

BUSINESS NORMAL, PRESIDENT IS TOLD

GROWING ACTIVITY SEEN

(Associated Press.)

Business men of national note who have undertaken the direction of the effort instituted by President Hoover to stimulate American commerce and industry held their first meeting in Washington yesterday to review progress, and took the reports upon it to the White House.

President Hoover was notified that the general business situation of the country has "become so far normal that no unusual methods need to be considered for the stimulation of business beyond the policies of progress which ordinarily mark American industry."

"The figures for industry presented at the meeting showing the status of production and consumption up to mid-January, were all encouraging," said a statement by Lewis E. Pierson, New York banker, who acted as temporary chairman. Julius H. Barnes, the permanent chairman, was absent because of the death of his mother.

"The facts are now available for the last quarter of 1929 and the opening weeks of 1930," Mr. Pierson continued. "A canvass of these shows that in the last months of 1929 there was a recession of business more than seasonal from its previous high level of activities. This recession, due to causes other than those involved in the business structure, has left no major problems to be solved. There are now evidences of growing activity."

Robert P. Lamont, Secretary of Commerce, attended the gathering, which included most of the members of the executive committee of the national business survey conference. Others present were Harry Chandler, Los Angeles publisher; Stuart W.

Attempted to Land Cargo, Is Claim, as Victim Lies Near Death.

Detroit, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—The shooting of a boatman in the Detroit River off Wyandotte last night by a customs border patrol inspector was defended by the officer and his companion today, who claimed the man was attempting to land a cargo of liquor.

The boatman, Walter Grund, 27 years old, was in Wyandotte General Hospital tonight with a bullet wound in his stomach which was expected to prove fatal. He was shot by Clare B. Hooper, of the border patrol, who, with his companion officer, William H. Redford, was awaiting a fleet of smugglers' boats at a wharf at the foot of Maple street in Wyandotte shortly before midnight.

Grund was found lying in his rowboat which had come ashore 3 miles from the scene. The man who the done the conference can not be said to be underway. When this happens, a serious effort will be made by the United States and Great Britain to elaborate compromise formulae saving the faces of Japan and France.

U. S. Considers French Plan.

The Americans are even considering adopting the French proposal upsetting the Anglo-American tonnage and yardstick agreement in favor of a scheme whereby each nation would be allocated a fixed tonnage which might be transferred at will, within certain limits, from one category to another.

American acceptance of this, however, will be designed to prevent a situation arising in which Japan could alter a ratio of naval strength to the disadvantage of the United States or France alter it to the annoyance of Great Britain. The idea is that the transfer of tonnage shall only be permitted in a downward sense. That is, allotted cruiser strength could be diminished to build more destroyers, but destroyer strength could not be diminished to build more cruisers. Big cruiser tonnage, as allocated, could be transferred to light cruisers, but not vice versa.

Figures Are Omitted.

The state of uncertainty in which the plenary session, the last for many a day, met this morning may be indicated by the fact that the Japanese delegation brought two speeches with them, one dealing with figures and one omitting them. They professed themselves unable to understand what was expected.

MacDonald made an earnest plea before the session opened that nobody should mention any figures. Nobody did, and the Japanese spokesman, former Premier Wakatsuki, made his speech number two.

In these circumstances, the speeches were not noteworthy. Foreign Minister Dino Grandi demanded a one-power standard with France and ridiculed the idea that naval needs can be stated absolutely and not relatively to the fleets of other powers.

American delegates privately expressed agreement with this standpoint and used it to explain why the United States declines to enter into an exposition of needs. Premier Tardieu and also MacDonald and Wakatsuki have made the speeches they delivered this morning several times before.

France, Italy, Bolster Claims.

It was noticeable at the plenary session that both Tardieu and Grandi sought to bolster up French and Italian claims for large fleets by comparing their countries with Great Britain. Tardieu stressed the length of French coast lines and the extent of the French colonial empire. Grandi explained that Italy is practically an island like Great Britain because it is shut off from the world by the Alps and by Gibraltar and the Suez Canal from access to other nations by sea.

The United States delegates believe that to bring about a five-power agreement here they will have to reconcile French and Italian claims. Not now, but in the fullness of time. There is authority for believing that the American scheme at present is to support, in an indirect form, of course, the Italian claim for parity with France. This because it is impossible to refuse it without an immediate rupture, and such a step is rendered more easy by the fact that Italy officially makes no claim as to the size of her fleet, but leaves it to France to set the standard.

"Crisis" Probable Later.

No doubt this will cause a "crisis" later in the conference. The Americans and British will then tell the French that the contemplated agreement is only for five years. Efforts will be made to get the French figures down, not so much for Italy's sake as for Great Britain's, since Great Britain fears French submarines and light craft in the channel.

If the French recede from their present high claims, they will be told that, although France must agree to nominal Italian parity for the sake of Italy's prestige, Italy will be so far behind when the five-year period is ended that she will be unable ever to build up to France.

The conference organized itself today into a committee of the whole, but so far as is known tonight there will be no meeting tomorrow.

Line to Mt. Vernon Is Sold for Junk

Historic Electric Railway Made Antiquated by Automobile.

Made antiquated by the automobile, the old electric railway connecting Washington and Mount Vernon is to be dismantled and sold for scrap iron. Once known as the "Road of the Presidents," it has carried thousands to the shrine of George Washington.

The Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Railway Co., owners of the line, have sold only the portion between Alexandria and Mount Vernon. The remainder will continue in operation.

Louis Simon, Inc., scrap-iron dealers, of Twenty-fifth and H streets, have acquired the road, which included 7½ miles of track and trolley wire. Included in the rolling stock is an elaborately fitted car once used for Presidents and distinguished visitors. Dismantling will begin March 1.

BRITISH SHIP NEEDS BASED ON SEA RISK

SAFETY IS IMPERATIVE

Official Communique Of Naval Conference

London, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—After today's meeting of the chief naval delegates, the following official communique was issued at No. 10 Downing street:

"The prime minister has asked the heads of the delegations to consult with him with a view to the collection and arrangement of questions which will in due course be brought before the conference.

"It was found that there were a large number of such questions and that this work of preparation must of necessity take considerable time and require a number of meetings. The first of these took place at No. 10 Downing street this afternoon and after a discussion lasting an hour and a half the meeting was adjourned until Monday, at 10 a. m."

London, Jan. 23.—An official communique on today's naval conference session gives the following paraphrase of Prime Minister MacDonald's statement of Great Britain's naval needs:

"The prime minister, speaking on behalf of his majesty's government in the United Kingdom, said that his government was fully alive to the difficulty of relating national need to national security, but sooner or later the conference must face its difficulties and resolve them.

"Therefore he was pleased that this difficult subject should be faced in a friendly spirit.

"While a statement of needs was an important element, claim for naval strength must always be related to risk. To build up a navy merely on need is an exceedingly foolish undertaking. Naval force and military force are required not because a country has certain economic needs and certain lengths of coast lines and so on, but are based upon an estimate of how far there is a threat of deprivation of those needs, a threat to the security of those coast lines.

Did Not Quote Figures.

"Need and security must always be related. As figures, so far as the United Kingdom is concerned, had often been published, he did not quote them, but confined himself to observations on three heads.

"First, he emphasized the insular position of the United Kingdom, which could not maintain its own population, and therefore required access to the whole world without limitation except for the ordinary legitimate limitations imposed by a sovereign authority outside, such as tariffs, &c.

"Therefore the British government's problem was to satisfy the will to live which lay at the foundation of our naval problem. The world must be open for food and life.

"Emphasizing the peculiar status of the British commonwealth, he added that British naval strength was required 'to enable our own kith and kin and the members of our own family to keep interrelations with the motherland.'

Three Naval Groups, at Least.

"Secondly, he emphasized that the British naval forces are and must necessarily be dispersed in every sea in the world. They must be divided into three groups at the very least, with various subgroups not for fighting purposes, but for police and peace purposes.

"The Navy could not be concentrated. It must be on the Pacific and on the Atlantic. Not, he repeated, for war purposes, but for peace and ordinary Commonwealth purposes.

"He emphasized the importance of the problem from the point of view of British psychology. As he had said on Tuesday, the sea is everything. If we are blocked on the sea, we are blocked everywhere. We have no hinterlands to fall back upon; we have no railway communication, either perfect or imperfect, by which we can draw our supplies. That was why all our thoughts had been concentrated on the sea.

Confidence His Aim.

"We have felt that on the sea we had to defend ourselves against everybody and against every form of aggression and against every aspect of our weakness.

"He would like that to be changed. Therefore what he wanted was a confidence given by you to us. A confidence given by the rest of the world; a confidence given not by superiors, but a confidence that can be given as the result of successful talks and successful agreements such as are possible for us now; a confidence that we are living in a world, the seas of which will not be blocked, will not be occupied by hostile fleets which we are unable to meet. A sense of security which will at once change the psychology that has influenced the British policy so much."

Belgian Monarchs to Rest.

Brussels, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—King Albert and Queen Elizabeth left Wednesday evening for Switzerland where Queen Elizabeth will enjoy a short rest cure at Murren and the king will indulge in bobsleighing—which, next to mountain climbing, is his favorite sport. Shortly after their return in February the royalties will prepare for an official visit to King Fuad of Egypt.

Stimson Will Not Expand On American Naval Needs

Requirements of U. S. Are Well Known, He Says, in Interview.

London, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Henry L. Stimson, the American Secretary of State, said at the naval conference meeting today that he would not expand at the present time upon American naval needs as it was well understood that the United States was looking to the conference for as much actual reduction as possible. The Secretary said:

"After careful consideration and consultation with my colleagues I have decided not to make any statement today as to the naval requirements of America. I do not think that to do so would particularly assist our deliberations. These requirements are well understood. They have been cheerfully recognized by the nation which is our host, which has through its prime minister agreed with us that equality in naval power between us is the basis upon which we can best promote the beneficent purposes of this conference.

"We also believe that the requirements for national defense on the part of the various nations of the world are necessarily largely relative on the general condition of the world and therefore if this conference can find a way by which general reduction can be secured, our own navy can likewise be reduced.

"While this is our attitude, we shall gladly listen to any statements which may be made by others as we are anxious fully and cordially to understand the difficulties and problems which may confront our sister nations, and for ourselves I shall not make any statement."

SIR MAURICE HANKEY, who was chosen Secretary General of the Naval Conference in London yesterday.

BRITISH-U.S. POLICY PLEASING TO FRENCH

Absence of Cut-and-Dried Conference Program Routs Suspicions.

HAD FEARED AGREEMENT

Paris, Jan. 23 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—To the surprise and pleasure of the French, both government officials and the public, the London naval conference is believed already to have demonstrated the absence of any hard and fast agreement between the United States and Great Britain.

One thing the French feared after the conversations between President Hoover and Premier MacDonald by the Rapidan was that the two great English-speaking powers would come to the conference with a cut-and-dried program for naval reductions which they would expect other nations to accept in toto, leaving Great Britain and America to share the sovereignty of the seas. The opening days of the London parley seem to have dispelled that apprehension. The semiofficial Temps comments today:

"No complete accord exists between the United States and Great Britain on exact tonnage as a basis for parity, or on the distribution of such tonnage over various categories of ships, or on the number of large cruisers or the caliber of the guns arming them. The declarations of Secretary Stimson and Prime Minister MacDonald make it quite clear that both intend to maintain entire freedom of action, and rapprochement between London and Washington by no means implies that the two nations will constitute a bloc in the face of other naval powers to secure triumphs for a formula for limitation and reduction of armaments corresponding with their own interests alone."

Realization of this situation has provoked very cheerful dispositions in Paris and created the impression that, although the conference is likely to be a long and difficult one, there are excellent reasons for believing that real practical results will be attained for the benefit of all nations carrying the burden of naval armaments.

Divergencies of viewpoint are seen between Japan and the United States and also between Japan and Great Britain. Japan's conception—adequate naval insurance against foreign invasion—is approved here as being near the French view.

The newspaper Liberte resists the wave of optimism which has swept over the Paris press generally. It complains that a lack of frankness is evident at the conference. It accuses the United States of having only one aim—naval parity with Great Britain—and that simply for the sake of prestige.

"We are no longer in 1778 or 1812 or even in the days of the American Civil War," Liberte says. "Limitation of naval armaments would be quickly secured if the aims of all the powers were pure and if each one announced it does not covet the others' possessions, but, on the contrary, all mutually agreed to guarantee each others' dominions."

Baltimore Health Aid May Have Psittacosis

Baltimore, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Dr. Daniel S. Hatfield, chief of the bureau of communicable diseases, of the city health department, is the latest victim here of a suspected case of psittacosis, the parrot fever, which his department has been combating for several weeks.

Blood cultures have been taken and Dr. C. Hampson Jones, health commissioner, today said it would be several days before it would be known whether or not Dr. Hatfield has the malady. While studying the disease Dr. Hatfield came in contact with a number of birds suspected to be infected.

Aged Georgia Couple Found Beaten to Death

Powerville, Ga., Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Green Hartley, 86, and his wife, 80, were found clubbed to death in their secluded farm home near here today, victims, officers believed, of a robber who sought a reported cache of money. A negro living near the Hartley house was arrested, but Sheriff George Answerson, of Peach County, said he did not have "a very strong case" against him.

The bodies of the two were found by a neighbor on a business errand. A pine club, 3 feet long, lay near the bodies. There was evidence of a fierce struggle.

Mary Doran Rinehart Seeks Divorce in Reno

Reno, Nev., Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Mrs. Mary Doran Rinehart, daughter-in-law of Mary Roberts Rinehart, novelist and scenario writer, said today she planned to file suit for divorce from Stanley M. Rinehart, jr., member of the publishing firm of Farrar & Rinehart, of New York.

"Yes, I'm here for the usual purpose," Mrs. Rinehart told reporters. She arrived January 11 to establish three months' residence in preparation for the divorce action, which she said would allege mental cruelty. Her children are in New York with her mother.

RELATIVE STRENGTH ON SEA ITALY'S AIM

Other Nation's Navies Will Determine Size of Hers, Grandi Asserts.

WANTS DEEP CUTS MADE

London, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy, speaking at today's naval conference session, said that regarding the connection existing between the armaments requirements and security of a country, armaments should be reduced to the extent compatible with the defense needs of each country.

He said he could not state the Italian requirements in absolute figures because they were determined by the armaments of other countries.

"But Italy favors reducing armaments to the lowest level possible," he continued, "and therefore the Italian delegation is willing to leave it to the other powers to determine the size of their armaments, reserving to itself the right to regulate its own requirements by theirs.

"To all intents and purposes, Italy is an island deficient in some of its most essential raw material and, set in an inland sea, Italy is a country with world-wide interests and commitments whose metropolitan area is closed by the Mediterranean.

"All our land communications must cross the barrier of the Alps and our maritime communications lie through straits situated 1,000 miles from our ports. Italy is exclusively dependent for nearly all supplies essential to her existence on ocean-borne imports which must come through the straits of Gibraltar or Suez, therefore being placed in a particularly unfavorable situation."

The absolute needs for defense of Italy's very existence, Foreign Minister Grandi said, will therefore wholly justify her insistence on a relative superiority of strength and in any case she has the right to expect that she will not be asked to deprive herself of her present right to naval armaments on a level with those of any other European continental powers.

He expressed the hope that the principle of the one-power standard may be applied at the lowest possible level by Italy in her relations to continental European countries. Italy is ready to reduce armaments to any level, no matter how low, providing that level be not exceeded by any other European continental power, he concluded.

Women Ask Action Of Naval Parley

Memorial to Be Handed Delegates by Group Sailing Tomorrow.

New York, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Plans for presentation of a memorial, signed by thousands of American women, calling upon the London naval conference delegates to work for effective reduction of naval armament were announced today by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the national committee on the cause and cure of war. Speaking at a luncheon of the New York League of Women Voters, Mrs. Catt said that four New York women would sail Saturday for London with the signatures.

The memorial will ask the naval conference delegates "not to stay their deliberations until effective means have been found" to relieve citizens of the great powers from the economic burdens of "naval armament no longer required."

The signatures will be carried to London by Mrs. Edgerton Parson, treasurer of the national committee; Mrs. Casper Whitney, of the League of Women Voters; Miss Josephine Schain, administrative chairman of the national committee, and Dr. Izora Scott, editor of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union Magazine.

Wakatsuki Seeks Pact on New Basis

Japan's Naval Delegate Says World Suspicion Must Be Erased.

London, Jan. 23 (A.P.). — Reijiro Wakatsuki, former premier of Japan, speaking at the five-power conference for Japan today, declared that it was desirable for the powers to reach an agreement about auxiliary craft on a new basis, but did not definitely outline the technical needs of his country in naval power.

His reference to an agreement on auxiliary craft on a new basis embodied his recent statements that Japan would demand 70 per cent of the maximum cruiser strength of the strongest naval power.

He said that the conference aimed at world peace and at relieving peoples from growing tax burdens. Affirming that international suspicion must be done away with, he declared that Japan was no menace to any nation, and consequently would not permit herself to be menaced.

FRENCH NAVY NEEDS DEPICTED BY TARDIEU

SIGNIFICANCE IS LIMITED

Error in Pronunciation Costs Briand Half Hour

London, Jan. 23 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—American and European delegates to the London naval conference have had occasional moments of embarrassment in the past day or two as a result of not knowing the correct pronunciation of the names of some of their Japanese colleagues.

The name of former Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki, head of the Japanese delegation, for example, is pronounced Ray-jee-ro Wakatsky, the letter "u" in the last name being silent.

Ignorance of this fact cost Foreign Minister Aristide Briand of France half an hour's wait yesterday at the Japanese headquarters at Grosvenor House, when he called by appointment to see the former Japanese premier. He asked for Mr. Wakatsuki, pronouncing the silent "u." A secretary, thinking he wished to see Mr. Wakatsugi (in whose name the "u" is sounded, and, incidentally, an "n" sound inserted before the "g"), informed him the man he had come to see was not in and that he would have to wait.

Meanwhile, Wakatsuki's secretary was phoning about London trying to find out why Briand had not appeared to keep his appointment.

London, Jan. 23 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—France as a world empire, second only to the British Empire, and therefore with naval claims to match, was the conception of his country put forward today by Premier Andre Tardieu.

He pictured such an empire, giving details of the length of French coast lines and the number of sea miles in trade routes to be protected, to the London Naval Conference at this morning's plenary session in St. James' Palace in the most detailed exposition of national needs heard there. He repeated the gist of the same speech in a radio talk to America and developed the same line of thought again tonight in a speech at the Guild Hall when he spoke for all the delegations in reply to the speech of welcome by their host, the Lord Mayor of London.

Significances Limited.

The significances of his speech, and its reiterations is, however, limited. It was meant to create for France in the present conference a position of equality with the other great naval powers, designed to wipe off the London calculating slate the Washington ratios by which France was placed in an inferior position as a naval power.

It was Mr. Tardieu's way of saying "me too" when it comes to calculating existent fleets before cutting them down. If France has not now a big navy, it might have, will be his argument when naval needs are considered.

In other words, the French spokesman told the conference that when it comes to cutting down, the process must begin for France from the basis of the navy she might have built and not from the one actually in existence.

'Absolute' May Be 'Relative' Need.

It was a speech which everyone knew Mr. Tardieu was going to make and all the delegations are relieved that he has got it off his chest, especially as he finished his speech before the plenary session with an expression of French willingness to cooperate in naval reduction.

"Owing to international agreements," he said in closing, "these absolute requirements may be in great measure transferred into relative requirements."

It was this phrase which attracted most attention from his listeners, partly because of its expression of French willingness to make naval cuts, which was of far more interest to the others than Tardieu's figures on the extent of France's colonial empire, but also on account of the words which followed it, explaining what he considers the character of international agreements ought to be.

Terms of Cut by France.

The French navy, he intimated, being hypothetically big enough to protect the world's second greatest colonial empire, could be cut if international agreements provided sufficient security for France and such a cut would "depend more particularly on the fact of knowing whether, in case of conflict, the country can depend upon itself only or whether an international collaboration has been organized against the aggressor."

The intimation was clear that he considers any French navy cuts, below what he states to be France's present need, would depend upon some peace guarantee which will provide effective means of stopping an aggressor.

Ending on that thought he left in the minds of his listeners a question as to whether he is preparing to insist at this conference upon positive guarantees, such as the covenant of th League of Nations provides against an aggressor, or whether he is open to discussion of moral obligations for maintaining peace such as were outlined in the Hoover-MacDonald joint statement of last October 9.

France Stands on League Pact.

Though Mr. Tardieu touched on this delicate and troublesome point in only a few words, his speech recalled vividly the fact that France in her naval memorandum of last December 20 stood on the league pact, whereas Great Britain and America made the Kellogg pact the point of departure for the present conference.

Mr. Tardieu was himself too intent tonight on his effort to reestablish the conception of France as a great naval power to enlarge this point.

All he wanted to do for the time being was to talk of France as a world power to as large an audience as possible, which accounts for his repeating to American radio listeners some of his figures on the extent of French colonial possessions and the naval needs entailed by them.

ROTHSTEIN'S POLICY DENIED INEZ NORTON

SERVANT IS WITNESS

New York, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—The story-book method adopted by Arnold Rothstein, mysterious and mistrustful Broadway gambling lord, to guard his money and his secret papers came out today at the closing session of a trial by which Ines Norton, blonde actress, lost her suit against his estate for a $20,000 life insurance policy.

Tom Farley, college-educated Negro who was for years Rothstein's confidential servant, added one more touch to the colorful monument of legends that has grown up since the night a year ago last November when the gambler, mortally wounded, staggered into the service foyer of the Park Central Hotel.

Farley told of a chair, in the seat of which was cleverly concealed a safe-deposit box opened with a secret spring. In this chair, which was in his Fifth avenue apartment, Rothstein used to hide every night large rolls of bills and important papers, Farley said.

A witness for the Rothstein estate, Farley told of the chair to illustrate the confidence Rothstein reposed in his wife, Carolyn, from whom Miss Norton said he was about to get a divorce in order to marry her. The only persons who knew of the presence of the strong box in the chair's seat and how to open it were Rothstein, his wife, and himself, Farley said.

Although she declared on the stand today that her relations with Rothstein were "the same as those of man and wife" and that she was "not ashamed of them," Miss Norton failed to convince Supreme Court Justice Alfred H. Townley that she was entitled to the $20,000 life insurance policy, now in possession of the court, which had first been made out to Rothstein's estate and then altered to make her the beneficiary.

The court ruled that the policy had not been properly transferred. Miss Norton's attorney announced he would appeal.

In contradiction of Miss Norton's testimony regarding Rothstein's proposals of marriage, the Negro servant testified that th egambler had asked him to plead with Mrs. Rothstein and try to get her to return to him.

"I saw her," Farley said, "and then told him I had talked to her two hours, but that she would not yield, and when I told him that he said:

"I am a ruined man. I really loved Carolyn."

Annulment Plea Based On Former Marital Tie

Van Wyck Womack, of 408 M street northeast, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court to annul his marriage to Mrs. Rosette Walter Womack, contending that his wife's divorce from her former husband was not legal. The couple were married June 27, 1925, and separated July 21, 1929. There are no children.

Mr. Womack contends that when his wife divorced her former husband at Baltimore in 1924, she had not complied with requirements as to residence, and for this reason, he alleges, the divorce was invalid and that she still was married to the other man at the time of their ceremony. Mr. Womack contends further that his wife told the Baltimore court that she had been deserted, a fact which he denies. Attorneys Raymond Neudecker and William C. Ashford appear for the plaintiff.

Suit Against Huston For $88,000 Dismissed

The suit filed in District of Columbia Supreme Court last December 5 by Guy Standifer, of the Southern Building, against Claudius M. Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee, was dismissed yesterday.

Action was taken on a motion of the defense counsel, Milton W. King. Mr. Standifer, in the original suit, claimed that he had loaned Huston $88,000 in March, 1929, and that he had been unable to collect. The inference in court circles was that the suit had been settled out of court, inasmuch as the decree bore the notation, "Settled and dismissed." Efforts to obtain the terms of settlement were unavailing yesterday.

Auto Show to Give Progress in Design

Strides Made in Producing 1930 Car Are to Be Emphasized.

Numerous graphic exhibits of recent progress in motor car design will be among the most interesting displays at the tenth annual automobile show which opens at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night at the Auditorium under auspices of the Washington Automotive Trade Association. Chief among these, the show committee announces, will be a variety of cutaway chassis which will reveal at a glance the strides that engineers and designers have made in evolving the 1930 car.

These attractive models will be shown in actual operation, many of them electrically driven, and promise to be among the great focal points of the crowd's attention.

The work of transforming the great structure at Nineteenth and E streets into an appropriate setting for the big event now is nearing completion, the show committee reports. Large numbers of decorators, carpenters, painters and electricians are in possession on the building, carrying out the purpose of the W. A. T. A. to make the 1930 show the most attractive yet held in the National Capital.

District Deficiency Bill Hearing Set for Today

The District Commissioners and interested department heads will appear before the House District subcommittee on appropriations at a hearing today to consider an urgent deficiency bill.

The principal item in the bill is an appropriation of $300,000 for beginning the construction of the proposed trash incinerators. The measure also would authorize the Commissioners to contract for completion of the incinerators, at a cost of not to exceed $850,000. Other items include $2,000 for gates for the zoo, $750 for payment to Gallaudet for education of District students, and would permit the interchange of $5,000 and $12,000 items for the transportation of pupils of the tuberculosis school and the school for crippled children.

SENATE SHOE DUTY VOTE IS SET TODAY

HIDE TAX COMPROMISE

(Associated Press.)

An attempt to place the Senate on record in favor of tariffs on leather and shoes no higher than the "true compensatory" levels, in event hides were taken from the free list, failed late yesterday and forced postponement until today of a decision on the proposed hide import levies.

The move was made by Senator Steck (Democrat), Iowa, who held it was unfair to those favoring a hide duty to be required to vote on this question separated as it is now from leather and shoes, and to "take a chance" on getting reasonable duties on the latter which would not more than offset any benefit from a hide tariff. He asked before a final vote that the Tariff Commission be required to determine the proper levies.

Proposal Shouted Down.

Although supported in principle by Senators Norris (Republican independent), Nebraska, and Dill (Democrat), Washington, the Steck proposal was shouted down easily without a record vote. Chairman Smoot of the finance committee, whose bill proposes duties of 11 per cent on hides, from 15 to 20 per cent on leathers, and 20 per cent on shoes—all now on the free list—contended the Senate could figure out the proper levies itself on leathers and shoes if the hide duty were raised.

He added that it would take the Tariff Commission months to determine what would be regarded as exactly compensatory levies.

The vote on the proposed hide levy still was in doubt last night. Senator Oddie (Republican), Nevada, who had proposed an amendment to increase the bill rate to 6 cents a pound on green hides and 10 cents on cured, modified it when a vote appeared likely late yesterday to the basis of 5 to 9 cents, respectively.

Compromise Move Made.

The compromise move was made after several conferences with Republican Independents and Democrats favoring a higher duty than that carried in the bill and hope was expressed by these senators that the modified proposal would carry. Republican leaders felt, however, that the committee rate would prevail if any duty at all were approved.

Senator Walsh (Democrat), Massachusetts, who began the second day's debate yesterday with an assertion that any hide duty would be indefensible, also made the principal argument against the Steck proposal, which was hooked on as a proviso to the Oddie amendment.

The New Englander said the Iowan's proviso would have prejudiced the case by saying the leather tanners and shoe manufacturers were not entitled to protection whether there was a duty on hides or not and regardless of their feeling in the matter.

Man Dies From Shot Wound.

Clinton Sunby, 27, colored, of 1285 New Jersey avenue southeast, died at Casualty Hospital yesterday from a wound received when he was shot Monday at 86 N street southeast. Lloyd Thompson, 28, colored, 91 N street southeast, is being held at the Fifth Precinct in connection with the shooting.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at 11 a. m. and recessed at 4:25 p. m. to 11 a. m. today.

Senator King (Democrat), Utah, denied charges before the lobby committee that he had accepted contributions from H. A. Metz, New York dye importer.

Interstate commerce committee inquired into an agreement whereby the Radio Corporation of America loaned equipment to the Southern Radio Corporation for use as a circuit from New Jersey to Bolivia.

HOUSE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 5 p. m. to noon today.

Took up Colton bill to approve President Hoover's public domain commission.

Expenditures committee asked Prohibition Commissioner Doran to furnish the names of concerns that have withdrawn industrial alcohol in Chicago.

Representative Strovich (Democrat), New York, quoted Doran as saying that certain nonpoisonous ingredients would be more effective denaturants in alcohol than the poisons now used or recommended.

Interstate commerce committee favorably reported the Kelly bill authorizing manufacturers to so mark their products as to prevent price-cutting.

Representative Warren (Democrat), North Carolina, announced that President Hoover favored plans for a national memorial at Kitty Hawk to commemorate the flight of the Wright brothers.

Representative Ruth Pratt (Republican), New York, introduced a bill authorizing $75,000 for the Congressional Library which would be spent for a circulating library for the blind.

Mrs. Hoyt-Butt Seeks Marriage Annulment

Reno, Nev., Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Annulment proceedings will be instituted here tomorrow by Mrs. Eugenia Bankhead-Hoyt-Butt to have her marriage to Wilfred Lawson Butt, former Nevada football player, set aside. She charges that Butt had a wife when they were married here December 18 last.

Mrs. Hoyt-Butt, daughter of Representative William Bankhead, of Alabama, arrived here today from Honolulu and through her attorney, Mayor E. E. Roberts of Reno, made plans to have the annulment proceedings instituted. She left her husband in Honolulu.

DRUNKEN KIDNAPERS' GIRL CAPTIVE NAMED

WAS SEIZED FOR PARTY

Northampton, Mass., Jan. 23 (A.P.).—The Smith College student who was kidnaped Tuesday night by two men and a woman and held prisoner for two hours was Miss Susan Albright, of Buffalo, N. Y., it was learned from an authoritative source here tonight.

The girl is a junior at the college and is the daughter of John J. Albright, who was associated with the development of the Niagara Falls Power Co. In 1900 he gave to the City of Buffalo the Albright Art Gallery, consisting of famous paintings valued at almost $2,000,000.

Miss Albright's mother died several years ago and her father was reported to be ill at the family home in Buffalo.

William Allen Neilson, president of Smith College, said he would neither confirm or deny the identification. He said he had agreed to aid in keeping news of the case from reaching the family of the girl involved.

The president said he did not believe that the kidnapers had meant any harm to the girl. He said, "They were obviously under the influence of liquor and had no definite plan in seizing her. They got cold feet and let her go."

He ventured the opinion that in pulling the girl into their automobile, the trio took the chance that she might join in the party, but when they found that she would not they released her.

She was held in a house two hours and then driven back to the vicinity of the college in an automobile and released.

Baltimore Ship Fire Fought by Officers

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Eighteen members of the crew of the British freighter Oradell, lying off the Canton drydock in Chesapeake Bay, were taken off tonight while three officers of the boat remained aboard to fight a blaze until the arrival of fireboats which gained control of the flames after three hours.

Thomas Pratt, first mate, with his second and engineer, took charge of the fire after a call for help had been sent by the wireless operator. The operator and seventeen West Indian members of the crew were ordered to take to a lifeboat, and were brought to a pier in the harbor. The captain, Thomas L. Proud, was not aboard at the time of the fire.

Gasparri Retirement Expected in February

Rome, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Giornale d'Italia says today that Cardinal Gasparri, secretary of state of the Holy See, probably will give up his office in favor of Cardinal Pacelli, former papal nuncio to Berlin, early in February.

It is considered probable the transfer will take place on February 12, the eighth anniversary of the coronation of the Pope.

Cigarette Firm Agrees To Halt Fight on Candy

PARAGUAY PROTEST PRSEENTED LEAGUE

Country Disclaims Guilt for Any Hostilities in Chaco Boreal.

BOLIVIA DENIES CHARGES

Geneva, Switzerland, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—The Paraguayan charge d'affaires in Paris, has sent a protest to the League of Nations against alleged plans for military movements by the Bolivian army in connection with the Chaco Boreal territorial dispute.

The charge d'affaires said: "In nouncing this imminent aggression on the whole Paraguayan Chaco front my government disclaims responsibility for the eventual results and formally protests against this attempt, which has been secretly prepared by the Bolivian government."

The communication of the Paraguayan government was telegraphed to all states that are members of the League Council and to the Bolivian government.

La Paz, Bolivia, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—The foreign office today instructed Senor Cortadellas, Bolivian delegate to the League of Nations, to lodge a formal protest with the league against "the false information by Paraguay in attributing to Bolivia responsibility for the recent incident in the Chaco Boreal, which was provoked by a Paragayan patrol which attacked a Bolvian observaion post last Thursday." The statement was signed by Vaca Chavez, foreign minister.

Theft Is Charged In Overcoat Loan

Garmnet Borrowed Last March Turns Up Sold; One Arrested.

Frank James Gilmore, 30 years old, a painter, of Twelfth street northwest, near K street, met Richard A. Israel, of 1423 Harvard street northwest, last March in a store at Twenty-first and M streets northwest, and induced Israel to lend him his new overcoat for "fifteen minutes," police say, so that he could make a good appearance in an attempt to obtain a painting job. Israel complied and didn't see his coat again until last night, they claim.

Detective Sergts. James Springmann and Michael J. Dowd arrested Gilmore on a charge of larceny after trust after finding the coat on a second-hand store, where the painter is alleged to have sold it for $4.

Army Winter Test Planes Land Safely at Miles City, Mont.

Miles City, Mont., Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Out of the Rocky Mountains and over the plains once more, sixteen pursuit planes of the Army's winter test flight from Selfridge Field, Mich., to Spokane and return, swooped down on the Municipal Airport here this afternoon to remain overnight.

They will nose across North Dakota tomorrow, stopping at Bismarck for lunch and servicing and at Fargo for the night.

Lieut. T. M. Bolen, who was delayed in the take-off from Helena today because of a damaged landing gear and propeller, trailed his mates into Miles City. He landed at 4:55 p. m.

Four of the ships of the arctic patrol flew direct to Miles City from Helena in two hours and twenty minutes. A snowstorm, which was in progress when they came down here, halted before their eleven mates appeared from Rattlesnake Lake, near Billings, where the fliers had lunch and refueled.

been Buenos Aires, Argentina, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and Washington. The foreign office statement referred specifically to a demonstration that took place in Detroit two weeks ago when President-elect Ortiz Rubio arrived there.

The foreign office was asked tonight if the Mexican government would give the Soviet envoy here a specified time within which to leave this country. The reply was that the statement issued by Minister Estrada spoke for itself and that nothing could be added to it.

The text of that statement follows:

"The government of Mexico has received information that demonstrations have taken place against various Mexican mebassies on the American continent as a pretext for protesting against measures taken here against some foreign agitators who had meddled in our internal affairs and had tried to disturb public order. The Mexican government also received information in advance that these acts were in preparation.

"No protest has been made to the respective governments of the countries in which the demonstrations occurred since it was known beforehand that neither those governments nor their peoples were responsible and that tehy had done everything necessary for suppressing such demonstrations.

"The government of Mexico knows perfectly that this propaganda against our institutions and national revolution was prepared and directed from Russia.

"It knows also that Russian Communists groups neither work nor can work independently, because any political organization whatsoever in that country is subject to the Soviet government."

Negro Politician Is Shot to Death

Slayer of Indiana Lawyer and Leader of Elks Surrenders.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 23 (N.Y. W.N.S.).—Ernest Tidrington, nationally known Negro lawyer and politician, was shot to death early today by Luther Bell, Negro.

The shot was fired through his brain from behind with a shotgun at close range as he sat in his automobile with his wife. Bell surrendered and said he killed Tidrington because of the latter's political persecution of him.

Tidrington was vice supreme councilor of the Colored International Knights of Pythias and grand chancellor of the State organization. He also held a national post in the Colored Elks and was head of the State lodge.

He was one o fthe three Negroes appointed by President Coolidge in 1925 on an interracial commission, and headed the colored bureau of the Republican State committee in the 1924, 1926 and 1928 campaigns. After the last general election Tidrington was an applicant fo ra position at Washington, and when that went to another Negro, he turned against Stuart Hopkins, Republican nominee for mayor of Evansville, and worked in behalf of W. J. Griess, Democratic nominee, who was elected.

Detectives Arrest 848 Over Quarter

444 Convictions Obtained in Cases of Last Three Months of 1929.

A total of 848 arrests was made by the Detective Bureau of the Police Department during the quarter ended December 31, Lieut. W. S. Shelby, chief of the bureau, reported yesterday. Convictions were obtained in 444 of the cases; 156 cases are pending; 210 were dismissed and 38 were nolle prossed, while property recovered by the bureau was valued at $83,085.

The clothing squad was given 243 assignments involving property valued at $27,827.93, and the goods recovered by the squad during the three-months period amounted to $7,510.50, while that recovered by the owners and officers of the precincts totaled $2,188.15.

Of the 848 automobiles reported stolen, 762 were accounted for leaving 86 still unrecovered. The automobile squad recovered 172 of the cars and made 84 arrests during the quarter. Detective Sergt. F. M. Alligood led the squad in both the number of cars recovered and arrests made.

Joe Opportunity Enrolls "Luella" in Post Contest

C. D. Chance Aids Employe in Bringing "Daily O'Currences" Character in Competition for Fine Automobiles and Radio Sets.

"Hello Steve," greeted C. D. Chance, as he encountered Old Man Opportunity at the door of The Post city room.

"Where do you get that 'Steve' stuff," gruffly asked Joe.

"Pardon me old chap," returned C. D. "But for a moment I confused you with my old friend Steve Brodie. You remember him. He jumped off the Brooklyn Bridge a number of years ago. The papers did not report the facts accurately, however, as they stated that he took a Chance when he did it and neglected to say that it was a cousin of mine and not me who went over the rail with him."

"Oh, yes," responded Joe Opportunity, in a good humor again. "I do remember him. Of course you know that I put the bridge there so that he could achieve his undying fame—gave him his opportunity you know."

"By the way, did you check up on that call I asked you to make today?"

"You mean that call on Luella, who lives over in the 'Daily O'Currences' section? Yes, indeed. She told me that she had recognized you when you knocked at her door, but did not retlize that you were looking for her. Of course when C. D. Chance arrived," he said proudly, "she realized right away that she might as well be riding in one of those big cars, or listening to one of those wonderful radios as anyone else."

"I told her what a fine fellow you are and how fairly you were conducting this Post $20,000 Opportunity campaign. When I mentioned the fact that you were often called by your middle name, Squal, she immediately tore the nomination blank out of this morning's Post and gave it to me to bring in to the Campaign Manager."

"Fine, fine!" enthused Old Man Opportunity. "She'll make a splendid candidate and I know she'll win the Cadillac. Of course she understands that her Cadillac will only be a half-tone news picture?"

"Oh, certainly," replied Mr. Chance "she only lives on paper anyway and couldn't use any other kind. Then too, she is to some extent associated with The Post and so is not entitled to receive the one valued at $3,630 which will be presented to the candidate polling the highest total of votes by the end of the contest."

"Remind me to give you a raise in salary a year from today," remarked Old Joe. "That was a fine piece of work. Now I'll tell you what I want you to do tomorrow.

"Go around and see everyone you possibly can and remind them that this contest does not end until April 5. Consequently there is still plenty of time to enter and to finish as one of the big winners. Of course you also will have to tell them of my 10 per cent cash commission which will be paid to nonprize winning contestants, and that their nominations will have to be in tomorrow to be published with Sunday's list of candidates. The campaign manager's office will be open until 8:30 p. m., Friday.

"Just drop your daily report on the Campaign Manager's desk and let's find a vacant chair in some lunch room.

HOUSE ATTACKS RUM POISON SUGGESTION

UNITS' TRANSFER TALKED

(Associated Press.)

Poisoning of industrial alcohol by the Government was attacked again in the House yesterday as plans went forward in both branches to formulate legislation to strengthen prohibition enforcement.

In executive session, the House expenditures committee ordered Prohibition Commissioner James W. Doran to furnish it with information on alcohol withdrawals in Prohibition District 13, which includes Chicago. The committee is considering legislation for the transfer of the prohibition unit from the Treasury to the Justice Department and will resume hearings today.

Commissioner Doran's stand for wood alcohol for industrial purposes came under the fire of Representative Sirovich (Democrat), New York, who is sponsoring a bill to eliminate poisons from denatured alcohol. The New Yorker read a statement which he said was written by Dr. Doran to the efect that the Prohibition Bureau considered "oil compounds more effective as a denaturant and less easy to remove."

1,300 Agents Eliminated.

The House judiciary subcommittee also is to hold hearings today on bills to increase the powers of United States commissioners to try casual and slight offenders of the prohibition law.

Along with these developments, the Civil Service Commission announced that tests conducted for prohibition agents in the past two years have resulted in the elimination of 1,300 who failed to meet the requirements. The cut in the personnel, which numbered 2,600 in 1927, the commission announced, was made gradually. The eligibility of between 300 and 400 other agents is being investigated.

Over in the Senate, a judiciary subcommittee planned hearings for today or Saturday on the King measure to effect the prohibition unit transfer. In the meantime Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, had received information relative to enforcement conditions in New York City and along the Canadian border in which serious charges against Federal officials have been made. He is making a check to ascertain the facts.

Borah Awaits Time.

Senator Borah, who has voiced objection to the administration's enforcement policy, is also understood to have obtained information to support his contentions that open saloons are running throughout the country. As soon as the tariff bill is disposed of, he is expected to disclose this information when the prohibition question again arises in the Senate.

Change in Issuance Of Permits Opposed

Urging retention of the permissive features of the national prohibition act with the Treasury Department to protect legitimate business, a group interested in industry and science yesterday conferred with Commissioner James M. Doran and Assistant Attorney General Youngquist. The group also objected to terms of the Williamson bill, transferring prohibition enforcement from the Treasury to the Justice Department, declaring it did not satisfactorily differentiate between permissive and enforcement features of prohibition.

Those present at the conference included Frank A. Blair, Proprietary Association; H. S. Chatfield, National Paint and Varnish Association; Charles L. Reese, Manufacturing Chemists Association; Samuel C. Henry, National Retail Druggists Association; Fred S. Rogers, Flavoring Extract Manufacturers Association; A. Homer Smith, American Drug Manufacturers Association; Martin H. Ittner, American Chemical Society, and H. B. Howe, editor of American Institute and Chemical Engineers.

U. S. Property Called Myth by Woman Red

American prosperity was characterized as a myth by Edith Rudquist, of New York, the principal speaker at a communist meeting last night at 1337 Seventh street northwest, held in commemoration of the sixth anniversary of the death of Lenin, founder of the Soviet Union in Russia.

Declaring that the recent Wall street crash portended the fall of capitalism in America, she appealed to American workers to join with the communist party in its battle against "imperialism and oppression."

DRY AGENTS' DEATHS ARE CALLED MURDER

Coroner's Jury in Florida Finds Alleged Bootlegger Slew Both Men.

CLASH MARKS INQUEST

West Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 23 (A.P.).—A coroner's jury late today held that George W. Moore, alleged bootlegger, murdered two Federal prohibition agents, killed last Saturday when they attempted to search the Moore home for liquor.

Immediately after the verdict of the jury, which stated that Robert K. Moncure and P. R. Patterson died from gunshot wounds inflicted by George W. Moore in an act of murder, Justice T. M. Wright announced he would issue a warrant holding Moore for the grand jury.

The defense bitterly contested the case throughout the inquest, bringing witness after witness in an attempt to prove, that the agents had attempted an illegal search after nightfall with daytime warrants. Witnesses, including Mrs. Moore and her 14-year-old daughter, Ollie, testified that the agents did not ring the doorbell of the residence before attempting entry, and that the raid was made after dark. On the other hand, James S. Kugler and William McNulty, two agents who survived the raid, declared it was still daylight when they attempted to search and that Agent Moncure first showed the search warrant to Moore before asking him to open the door.

The agents said the raiding party left headquarters at 5:50 p. m. for the Moore place and that it was still daylight when they got there. Gus Jordahn, a defense witness, was introduced to read from a Government book that official sunset on the day of the slayings was at 5:32 p. m. Three other witnesses for the defense testified that darkness had fallen when the raid and shooting occurred. Two of these were filling station operators in the vicinity and another was a motorist whose automobile had stalled near the Moore home.

The search warrant, stained with the blood of Agent Moncure, was examined by the jury and found to be a daytime warrant.

The body of Robert K. Moncure, former Washington prohibition agent who was slain last Saturday in West Palm Beach, Fla., will arrive in Washington today, accompanied by the widow. Burial will be in Arlington Cemetery.

RAID ON FORAN HOUSE RENEWS DRY RUMPUS

M. Butler, will be nominated in the Republican primary, and in the general election a wet Democrat will win.

Liggett Causes Stir.

There were political minds who wondered if the President could have persuaded Mr. Liggett to such a view, inasmuch as he is looked upon as having taken the dry side of the political ticket. But it was explained that Mr. Liggett simply stated a Massachusetts fact, and that is that party in that State, insofar as the primary is concerned at least, is dry, and the State is wet.

There is, indeed, a referendum to go on the next ballot to repeal the State's prohibition enforcement laws and the question is said to be only whether it will be carried by 100,000 or 500,000. This certainly does not look very good for a Republican senatorial candidate.

At any rate, Mr. Liggett's frank statement was looked upon with alarm in Republican circles and he was generally dubbed to be about the worst politician ever to come out of New England. Nevertheless, they have not succeeded in getting rid of him as national committeeman, which many Republicans would like to do.

PADLOCKING ASKED FOR MADES HOTEL

Orcutt follows a raid on the establishment several weeks ago by Sergt. Oscar Letterman and his vice squad. At that time the police alleged they found considerable liquor and made several arrests.

Shortly before the raid the hostelry received considerable publicity as the result of the death of William Sykes. The man, who died shortly after he was taken to the hospital, was discovered in an alley in the rear of the hotel, while certain articles of his clothing were found in the place. Six men are under indictment on charges of manslaughter in connection with the death of Sykes, and on Tuesday one of these, Henry King, was sentenced to 180 days in jail on a charge of having assaulted the Government's principal witness in the case.

The Mades Hotel is probably the last of those hostelries, in and about the National Capital, which date their opening to ante-bellum days. Erected in 1848 by Charles B. Mades, sr., the building has been continuously used ever since, more than 81 years, as a hotel.

For 27 years the elder Mades conducted the establishment and then in 1875 passed the management to his eldest son, Charles B jr., who held it for 43 years, or until his death in 1918. The father died in 1915.

With the passing of Charles, jr., the heirs, two brothers and three sisters, all of whom are still living and residents of Washington, decided to place the famous old hotel on the auction block. They are Franklin D. and Nicholas A. Mades, Mrs. Minnie McDermott, Mrs. J. A. Springman and Mrs. Louis Luh.

Mades, or, as it was more commonly known during the Harrison, Cleveland and McKinley administrations, "Bennie's Place," a nickname given Charles Mades, jr., gained a national reputation for the excellence of its cuisine.

It was there that fowl were killed on the premises, dressed and cooked while the epicurean waited, while frogs and fresh water fish were taken from a fountain in the rear, skinned or scaled and served the awaiting diner.

Men famous in the legislative, political and financial history of the country have at one time or another made Mades Hotel their headquarters. A quorum of the Senate was not an uncommon attendance at the famous tavern.

Speaker Tom Reed, Senators Voorhees, Turpie, Blackburn, Hanna and Penrose were frequenters of Mades. It was also a favorite haunt for members of the fourth estate.

FILIPINO SHOT DEAD IN COAST RACE RIOT

POLICE GUARDS SENT OUT

Watsonville, Calif., Jan. 23 (A.P.)—With a Filipino shot to death, believed the victim of a mob which terrorized Filipino residents of this section, the race feeling situation today assumed serious proportions.

Engendered by resentment over the employment of Filipinos as farm laborers and by employment of white girls in a Filipino dance hall, anti-Filipino demonstrations reached their peak last night when a mob of about 600 white men armed with clubs, whips and firearms wrecked the interior of several Filipino residences and severely beat their occupants.

Authorities of Monterey and Santa Cruz Counties took drastic steps to prevent a repetition of the disturbance and with offers of assistance from the American Legion Posts of Santa Cruz, Salinas and Watsonville, expected to maintain order.

Watsonville legionnaires, meeting today in response to a request by acting Chief of Police Mathew Graves, offered their cooperation in checking the race riots through patroling the streets and endeavoring to persuade gatherings to disband. One of the points brought out at the meeting was that unless checked, violence violence done local Filipinos might bring reprisals in the Philippine Islands.

Sheriff Carl H. Abbott of Monterey County requested that fifteen legion men be sent from Salinas for duty in the trouble zone tonight.

The lone fatality of the disturbance was Fermin Tehera, 22, found shot to death in a bunkhouse on the Murphy ranch 4 miles east of Watsonville. Tehera was one of several Filipino lettuce workers occupying a bunkhouse when a party of men approached it and fired at the Filipinos.

The other Filipinos fled. They did not know Tehera had been killed until they returned to the cabin today and found his body.

Ex-West Pointer To Try Once More

De Priest's Colored Entrant to Get Coaching on Algebra.

After a brief conference with Representative Oscar De Priest here, Alonzo S. Parham, young colored cadet who was discharged last week from West Point after failing to pass his examinations, left yesterday for his home in Chicago to study in preparation for reentrance to the Military Academy.

Parham yesterday contradicted all suggestions that his dismissal had been due in any way to racial prejudice, and stated that nothing except his lack of knowledge of algebra had brought about his discharge. He expressed full confidence that after a period of tutoring under professors at Wendell Phillips High School in Chicago, he will have no difficulty in passing the reentrance examination at West Point in March.

Before leaving Washington, the cadet visited Howard University, where William B. West, dean of men, offered him the full facilities of the university for coaching in preparation for the examinations.

To Correct Misapprehensions

With Respect to the Effect of and Need for a Duty Upon Hides and Shoes

A DUTY on hides will increase the cost of leather shoes and other articles made of leather, while a duty on shoes will not increase the cost of American made shoes. Consider these parallel columns:

HIDES

United States must import about 30% of the hides they consume and about 40% of the calfskins. There are not enough cattle or calves in the United States to produce all the hides we use.

Therefore, the price of imported hides determines the price of domestic hides, and a duty on hides will be reflected in the price of all hides consumed in the United States. A duty on hides will mean an increase of millions of dollars in the cost of shoes, saddles, harnesses, trunks, suit cases, and other leather products.

Hides are a by-product of the cattle industry. The value of a hide is only about 1/15th the value of a steer. Cattle are raised for beef and our per capita consumption of beef and the number of beef cattle are steadily declining. No claim is made that a duty on hides will result in the raising of a greater number of cattle, or the employment of additional farm laborers.

SHOES

Our shoe factories have a capacity of at least 50% in excess of the requirement of our domestic market and export trade. We can produce all the shoes we use.

Therefore, American Manufacturers, 1300 of them, are engaged in the keenest competition among themselves, even with no duty. With a duty, the same intense competition and the same low prices will persist. A duty will do no more than shut out some imported shoes or will place the foreign article on a basis where it costs the American retailer more nearly what he must pay the American manufacturer.

If 2/3rds of the shoes now imported should be manufactured here, it would mean additional wages in the pockets of American shoe operatives amounting approximately to $2,800,000 without adding to the shoe bill of the consumer. The additional purchasing power of shoe operatives, to say nothing of tanners and manufacturers of shoe supplies, would help other industries.

SOME cattlemen want a duty on hides because they believe such a duty would increase the price they will receive for hides, tho it has been demonstrated that on account of the manner in which hides are handled and the number of middlemen through whom they pass, the cattleman will secure but a small part, if any, of the increase in value. The shoe manufacturer, on the other hand, wants a duty on shoes, not so that he may increase his prices, but simply so that we may make in this country shoes now made abroad. Remember also that very few farmers raise enough cattle to benefit to any material extent from an increase in the value of hides, while every farmer wears shoes and uses other articles of leather which will be increased in price by a duty on hides.

It has been argued that shoes should have no duty because imports of leather shoes represent but a small percentage of our domestic production. Note, however:

(a) During the year of 1929, there were imported 7,158,163 pairs of footwear, duty free, as compared with 3,250,882 pairs during the year of 1928.

(b) Of these totals, 6,182,641 in 1929, were leather boots and shoes, as compared with 2,616,884 in 1928; an increase of more than 136%.

(c) Imports of women's shoes will probably amount to 5% of our domestic production.

(d) Many commodities of which imports represent much less than 5% of domestic production, at present carry a duty which it is proposed to increase—milk and cream, for example, where imports represent about one-half of 1% of domestic production.

It has been said that we do not need a duty on shoes. However,

(a) Wages in Czechoslovakia, the largest shoe exporting country in the world, are about 25% of our wages.

(b) The workmen there are probably just as efficient and factories just as well-organized and equipped as ours here.

(c) We should consider what may happen before the next tariff bill is framed. Between 1923 and 1928, imports of leather shoes increased 655% and of women's shoes 1653%. Imports are now increasing over 100% annually. If this continues, in 1932 at least 48,000,000 pairs of leather shoes will be imported.

While our purpose is to point out the fallacy of a duty on hides and the justice of a duty on shoes, we assume it is generally recognized that a duty on hides or leather, without a duty on shoes, would be manifestly unfair.

The National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers Association will be glad to send to anyone who may apply, further statistics or information upon the points above outlined.

AIR CORPS SERGEANT ENDS 30-YEARS HITCH

Bolling Field Detachment Pays Honor to Veteran of Service.

HAD EXCELLENT RECORD

Bolling Field, blessed with the best flying weather in many days, paused yesterday to do honor to on eof its enlisted men upon his retirement after 30 years of service without a single absence from duty. The soldier to receive this honor was Master Sergeant James P. Smith, 50 years old, who has served as first sergeant and in charge of line maintenance at the field.

Sergt. Smyth enlisted in the Cavalry February 6, 1901, served two years in the Philippines, and transferred to the Air Service in June, 1915. June 27, 1922, he was assigned to Bolling Field and has served here since that time.

At 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the detachment was turned out and his record read by Lieut. Eugene B. Bayley, post adjutant. Sergt. Smyth was congratulated by Capt. Ernest Clark, detachment commander, and by other officers of the field, including Maj. Howard C. Davidson, commandant, who landed from a cross-country flight just as the ceremonies were concluded. Last night, officers and men of the field gave Sergt. Smyth a smoker and presented him with a set of tableware.

He expects to leave my motor Monday with his wife for San Diego, Calif., where he will make his home. He expects to apply for employment as a civilian at Rockwell Field, the Air Corps post at San Diego.

Birth and Death Rates Increase in District

Based on an estimated population of 552,000, which is the same figure as that used in 1928, the birth and death rates increased in 1929 in the District as compared with 1928, according to tabulations of the District Health Department announced yesterday.

The birth rate increased from 16.29 per 1,000 in 1928 to 16.36 last year. The death rate increased from 13.11 per 1,000 in 1928 to 13.45 last year. There were 7,239 deaths in the District in 1928 from all causes as compared with 7,426 in 1929. Births numbered 9,032 as compared with 8,994 in 1928.

Services Tomorrow for Capital Building Contractor.

Edward M. Dulin, 60 years old, of 1270 New Hampshire avenue northwest, building contractor for twenty years and formerly head of the Anchorage Dairy at Langley, Va., died yesterday at Emergency Hospital.

Mr. Dulin is survived by his widow and four children, Edward, Elinor, William and John, all of Washington, and a brother, Ernest Dulin. He was a native of Virginia and an active member of the Oldest Inhabitants Association. Funeral services are to be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the home.

Mrs. Bryan's Rites Are Set for Today

Los Angeles Services to Precede Burial of Ashes in Capital.

(Associated Press.)

Representative Ruth Bryan Owen (Democrat), Florida, announced last night that funeral services for her mother, Mrs. Mary Baird Bryan, who died in Beverly Hills Tuesday night, will be held at the Little Church of Flowers in Los Angeles today.

The body is to be cremated immediately but the ashes will be kept in Los Angeles until spring, when they will be brought to Washington for burial beside those of her late husband, William Jennings Bryan, in Arlington Cemetery.

Mrs. Owen said that she was unable to attend the funeral services because of the great distance to Los Angeles.

When the ashes are brought here a simple ceremony will be held.

MRS. J. E. B. LEACH DIES.

Mother of District Doctor Will Be Buried Here Tomorrow.

Mrs. Jane Eliza Bell Leach, 93 years old, mother of Dr. Frank Leach, well-known physician, died at the home of her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Bell Leach, 1320 Twenty-first street, early yesterday. She was a native of Prince Georges County, Md., and a widow of the Rev. George Vanderlip Leach, Methodist minister.

Besides the son and daughter, another son, the Rev. Redding Leach, of Dover, N. J., survives. She also leaves a brother, George W. Bell, of Beltsville, Md., and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Bell Lintchicum, of Beltsville. Funeral services will be held at the home of Dr. Leach, 1359 Columbia road, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Burial will be in Glenwood Cemetery.

DIES AT SEA

ALBERT O. BURKLAND.

MRS. MARY B. FAY DIES.

Was Member of Twentieth Century Club and Unitarian Church.

Mrs. Mary Bradshaw Fay, widow of Edward A. Fay, former vice president of Gallaudet College, died yesterday at her home, 3 Kendall Green.

Mrs. Fay was a member of All Souls' Unitarian Church and a charter member of the Twentieth Century Club. She is survived by four children, Miss Helen Fay, of this city; Dr. Sidney B. Fay, of Cambridge, Mass.; Mr. Theodore B. Fay, of Atlanta, Ga., and Dr. Percival B. Fay, of Berkeley, Calif. She also leaves eight grandchildren, Ellen Lyle and Allan B. Fay, of this city; Dorothy A. Fay, Laura H. Fay, Elsa M. Fay, of Cambridge, Mass., and Edward A. Fay, William M. Fay and Margaret Fay, of Berkeley, California.

Topographist Dies Aboard Steamship

Albert O. Burkland, of U. S. Geological Survey, Is Fatally Stricken.

Albert O. Burkland, topographic engineer of the United States Geological Survey, died suddenly of heart disease aboard the S. S. Maloio en route from Honolulu to San Francisco last Tuesday, according to word reaching here yesterday. He had been with the Geological Survey since 1901 and was on his way to Washington for a conference when he died.

Going overseas with the Coast Artillery as a first lieutenant, Mr. Burkland was later promoted to captain by Gen. John J. Pershing for meritorious service. He was engaged in making a topographic map of Hawaii before his death.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Kitty Gay Burkland, and two sons—Reynolds and Richard, now in Honolulu, and a mother and a brother in Vermilion, S. Dak. Funeral arrangements will be made later.

TO ADMIRAL BYRD'S RESCUE.

It begins to appear as though the most difficult task of all remains before the Byrd Antarctic expedition. The South Pole has been reached successfully by airplane. A vast area has been surveyed from the air, and geologists have explored hundreds of miles of territory. But the expedition, its personnel and its equipment, has yet to be brought back to civilization. Winter is closing in. The steamships City of New York and Eleanor Bolling have only reached the edge of the ice pack, some 500 miles from Little America, and it is doubtful whether they will be able to break their way through. The Byrd expedition faces the prospect of another long winter on the barrier, with its food supplies depleted.

The situation constitutes an emergency that calls for prompt cooperative action. Four Norwegian vessels and one British whaling vessel are now fishing north of the pack, any one of which, it is said, is far better equipped to smash a path through to Little America than either the Eleanor Bolling or the City of New York. Yesterday the State Department forwarded requests to the American Ambassador at London and the American Minister at Oslo requesting them to appeal to the British and Norwegian governments to use their good offices in having one or more of the whalers go to the rescue of the party. In view of the world-wide interest in the expedition and the universal commendation it has received, it is inconceivable that the request will be refused.

The expedition should be brought out within fifteen days if safe passage is to be assured. This means that the relief vessel should be got under way at the earliest possible moment, for under any circumstances it will take the sturdiest vessel at least five days to force her way through the pack. As a final resort, it is to be hoped that Admiral Byrd will consider the feasibility of bringing out the 40 members of the expedition by plane to the steamships standing by at the pack. If this should be the only alternative to spending another winter on the barrier, the records and equipment of the expedition could be salvaged a year hence.

PARAGUAY VS. BOLIVIA.

The border clash between Paraguayan and Bolivian detachments on January 16 takes on a sinister aspect when considered in connection with the arrangements that had been made to restore friendly relations between the two countries. Under this arrangement Paraguay was to restore and evacuate the Bolivian outpost of Vanguardia and Bolivia was to withdraw from the Paraguayan outpost of Boqueron. Uruguayan officers were to supervise the proceedings. Paraguay, however, took no action, and several weeks after the expiration of the date fixed for the transfer the Uruguayan government called upon Paraguay to explain the reason for the delay. No reply was made to this communication, and then came the clash at Isla Poi. Paraguay asserts that Bolivian troops were the aggressors, and Bolivia asserts that Paraguayans made the attack. The President of Bolivia makes the public statement that "Paraguay's conduct reveals her desire to evade fulfillment of the Washington protocol."

The Paraguayan minister of war has given to the press what purports to be an intercepted "radio message" from the chief of the Bolivian general staff, directing the capture of four Paraguayan forts, ordering troops to move to the frontier, announcing a mobilization decree, and divulging the program of an aerial squadron. If this message is authentic it will take rank among the curiosities of war, as being the first time in history when military plans are broadcast by air so that the enemy shall be fully advised of what is about to happen. This resort to publicity in military operations is a startling innovation, quite overshadowing the famous rule proposed by President Wilson, "Open covenants openly arrived at." The Bolivian government puts a damper upon the sensation, however, by denying the authenticity of the alleged radio message. It declares that no mobilization has been ordered, that the aerial squadron did not take flight on the date fixed, and that the four forts in question have not been attacked.

In spite of the clash at Isla Poi, the two governments concerned are still bound to comply with the protocol. Uruguay is still waiting for the action by Paraguay which will restore the status quo and enable the two governments to resume diplomatic relations.

Five American governments—the United States, Cuba, Mexico, Colombia and Uruguay—are extending their good offices to Bolivia and Paraguay in an effort to compose the quarrel and bring about a peaceful adjustment of the Chaco controversy. These governments are relying upon Paraguay and Bolivia to meet the obligations of the protocol. It will be difficult for either of the parties to disregard these obligations without placing itself in a very embarrassing position.

NO HAITIAN COMMISSION.

The flare-up in the Senate against appointment of a commission to investigate conditions in Haiti promises to bring an expression from Congress on the President's favorite method of dealing with a controversial subject. The foreign relations committee amended the resolution passed by the House in such a way as to relieve the Senate of responsibility for the investigation. But even this proposal met with opposition, and the matter was postponed, with an indication from Senator Borah that the creation of commissions in general will come in for an airing before the Haitian resolution is adopted.

The position of the Senate on this question is clear. If President Hoover is in need of information on the Haitian situation for his own personal guidance, the foreign relations committee is willing to appropriate funds to finance an inquiry. But the committee will not sanction an investigation by commission.

The Senate's opposition was not directed against a survey of conditions in Haiti so much as it was against the underlying tendency toward government by commissions. Senator Blaine and Senator McKellar both opposed the resolution on the ground that enough commissions have been created already. A similar sentiment has been manifest in the House. Congress has committees of its own to investigate all situations affecting any proposed change in legislation. Neither house is in favor of acting on recommendations of outside groups, and if congressional committees are to cover the same ground there is an obvious waste of effort.

President Hoover has sponsored the commission plan because he sees in it an excellent means of assembling all the facts on a controversial issue. From his point of view commissions are of great practical worth, but since Congress must decide most issues of this kind and the two houses insist on investigations of their own, the value of an administrative commission's work would be mainly in furnishing information to the Executive.

In view of the Senate's attitude, a Haitian commission would serve no practical purpose. The President could secure first-hand information by sending a special investigator to the island republic. A special message could then be sent to Congress and that body could handle the situation in its own way.

STEPHEN T. MATHER.

Few, if any, Americans have contributed more to the preservation of natural beauty in America than Stephen T. Mather, former director of national parks, who is dead in Brookline, Mass. For fourteen years, ending with his resignation a year ago, he led the national park movement. Under his direction seven of the most beautiful parks in the country have been set aside as public recreation grounds, and the entire national park area has been developed and made available to the public.

Creation of these extensive national parks, including some of the most sublime scenery in the world, is one achievement of which the United States is very proud. Some areas had been set aside for preservation many years before Mr. Mather took over direction of the park service, but the touch of his genius was needed to make them available to the public. Now the national parks are no longer isolated spots of beauty. They are a great system which affords recreation and education for tens of thousands every year.

Mr. Mather was so devoted to the cause of developing the national parks that he often financed public improvements out of his own pocket. He has stamped his generous and diligent personality on the national park system, and his name will be remembered as long as people find enjoyment in these great outdoor recreation centers.

GREAT SMOKY PARK.

On February 7 the Governor of North Carolina and the Governor of Tennessee, with the attorneys general of those States, as well as their park commissioners, will come to Washington to present to Secretary Wilbur the deeds which will formally convey to the United States title to 150,000 acres of land. This transaction marks the first step toward the creation of the Great Smoky Mountain Park, the first extensive area in the Eastern States to be set aside for park purposes.

Just as soon as the transfer is completed the Interior Department will assume jurisdiction over the tract. But before anything in the way of development can be done, under the law creating the Great Smoky Park, it will be necessary for the United States to acquire title to an additional 277,000 acres. The park as outlined will eventually embrace an area approximately seven times the size of the District of Columbia, or a total of 554,000 acres. When the total acreage is deeded to the Federal Government the National Park Service will proceed to develop it on "a basis comparable to that used at the Yellowstone, Yosemite and other great national parks in the West," according to a statement issued by the Interior Department.

The announcement of the intentions of the department in the matter of the creation of this, the first of the "playgrounds" in the Eastern section of the country, says: "The acquisition of the minimum acreage required before development work may begin seems assured. The States of North Carolina and Tennessee beween them have raised, in round numbers, nearly $5,000,000 to be used in the purchase of this land. The Laura Spellman Rockefeller Memorial has contributed an additional amount, but not exceeding $5,000,000, which is also available for the purchase of land. The amounts are considered adequate for the acquisition of the minimum area required by law. That acquisition but awaits the details of purchase, the local examination of titles and, in some cases, condemnation proceedings where it is necessary. It would appear, therefore, that the establishment of a Great Smoky Mountain National Park, with the delivery of land titles on February 7, will pass into the final stages of actual accomplishment."

RELATIONS WITH POLAND.

The exchange of ambassadors between Warsaw and Washington will meet with general approval. Modern Poland has come to occupy a position of unique importance in both the political and economic life of Europe. Poland is considerably larger than Italy, and has an area equal to almost 75 per cent that of Germany or France. In population it ranks sixth among the countries of Europe, having 30,000,000 people. It is a rich agricultural country, close to the great markets of the continent.

Elevation of the legation at Warsaw to the rank of an embassy establishes the same relationship between the United States and Poland as exists between all the great powers of the world. The Polish Legation here is likewise promoted to the station of an embassy. Closer relations and more friendly understanding between the two capitals should be the result.

President Hoover has appointed Alexander P. Moore, editor and diplomat, to be the first ambassador to Poland. Mr. Moore has been in the diplomatic service for seven years, having been appointed Ambassador to Spain by President Harding and Ambassador to Peru by President Coolidge. By both experience and temperament he is well qualified to represent the United States in this new capacity. He will carry to Warsaw the best wishes of the American people for the continued progress of Poland. The new ambassador from that country can be assured of a cordial reception in Washington.

NEUTRALITY IN WARTIME

By WILLIAM L. RODGERS, Rear Admiral, U. S. N.,
In American Journal of International Law.

Prof. Garner believes that aerial and submarine warfare have thrust upon us the need of new rules for warfare. It is very possible that he is right, but rules should not be made now, for the technique both of attack and defense are developing rapidly, and we do not know what will be advisable later. This is a point of which the public takes little notice. Neither aviation nor submarines are where the war left them, and the counter-defense is perhaps moving faster than the development of attack. When the World War opened, the possibilities of the new weapons had not been thoroughly examined and at first they were little utilized. Necessarily, the means of defense lagged behind the methods of attack. The popular idea of the ascendancy of submarines is based on the spectacular destruction of three fine British cruisers in an hour by Von Weddigen's single submarine in 1914, and by the great merchant ship losses of 1917, which threatened the defeat of the allies. It is generally forgotten that later the defense developed and at the close of the war the submarines were no longer a decisive element. At the present time the sonic and supersonic submarine detectors which were initiated during 1918 are so efficient that a submarine's chances of concealment beneath the surface are much reduced, and only the boldest and luckiest of submarine captains will score success.

* * *

It is the same with aviation. Current ideas of aviation in war are formed by our recollection of raids over London in 1916-17 and the early part of 1918, which were played up by the newspapers in this country, but most people fail to remember that during the last three months of the war, not one hostile aircraft of either kind flew over London. The anti-aircraft devices have much improved since the war, and although both submarines and aircraft are seriously to be reckoned with in the next war, we can not pierce the future sufficiently well to make rules for neutral commerce and blockades based merely on our anticipations as to the capabilities of these new instruments and their future technique.

* * *

Next as to our political position. When this country first advocated "free trade and sailors' rights" early in the last century, she was weak and her farspread ocean trade was both solicited and oppressed by the combatants. Fruitlessly she demanded greater neutral rights, until at last she decided to fight the dominant sea power. Now the situation has changed. The reasons which made us call for freedom of the seas a century ago, now make England assume our early stand. Our financial and economic strength backed by a navy not less than that of Great Britain are more reliable guarantees of our neutral rights than an international agreement would be. The desire of many in this country for such an agreement is grounded on a reminiscence of the past, while the wish of England for a restatement of the rule is based on an appreciation of the future.

Whatever may be done in time of peace to declare neutral rights, it will be difficult to enforce them in time of war. Commerce is the basis of industry and of war. The attack on commerce is an essential part of every warlike effort, and after war is declared it will be very hard for neutrals to persuade belligerents to abide by peace-time obligations if the attack on trade promises to promote success. We must recollect that the belligerents fight for national life; and the neutrals remonstrate for the sake of profit.

* * *

The suggestion that this country should agree to abide by the decision of the League of Nations as to "aggressors" would, if accepted, put us at the orders of the league without having any veto on its action as would be the case if we were among its members and represented in its council. If our Government undertakes to place an embargo on American trade, either of its own initiative, or at the order of the league, it must be sure the sympathy of its people is not with the alleged "aggressor." If the people sympathize with the aggressor nation, the administration will prefer to let the belligerents intercept American trade by blockade and by seizure of contraband, as customary. In either case freedom of choice when the emergency comes is the best position for our Government.

ON TRUE SUCCESS.

How shocked the proud some day will be,
If God's opinions of success
Are different from those which we
Upon the earth possess.

Suppose He shall not think to ask
What temporary posts we filled,
Or were we clever at our task,
Or what we learned to build?

But brushing all we boast away
Of power and fame and earthly pride,
What will be left for us to say
Who fame and fortune glorified?

Yet if God should believe as we:
That triumph is the proof of worth,
Then each shall there be rewarded be
As he rewarded was on earth.

Still sadder then shall be our fate
If Heaven repeats this earthly tale,
For in what men consider great
So many of us wholly fail.

Leading the Class Is an Empty Honor When the Doctor Comes.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

SCHOOLS, in many instances, are places where children must sacrifice their health to please the vanity of their parents.

Mary must study when she comes home from school because Mother will feel ashamed if some other woman's Mary makes higher marks.

I once knew a father like that who nagged at his 12-year-old daughter until he made her frantic.

Despair and fear numbed her mind.

She lost faith in herself.

And when the teacher called on her to recite, she stood in a helpless daze and wept.

The stage was set for a tragedy, but the father's dormant intelligence awakened in time and he said to the child: "You aren't getting enough outdoor exercise. Hereafter you will play when you come home from school, and play hard. I don't care a whoop whether you lead the class or stand at the foot. Roses in your cheeks are more important than anything you will learn in school, and if I see you crack another book at home I'll spank you."

The child won no medals after that; but she made her grades, and she got enough sunshine and oxygen and boisterous fun to make her a normal little animal.

Civilization is guilty of many follies, but none of them is greater than the assumption that a date in history is of greater importance than good eyes and good health.

If a normal, healthy child, following its natural inclination to keep up with the crowd, can't learn today's lessons in four hours at school, the lessons are too hard and need shortening.

We have learned that factory workers increase their output when rest periods are increased, but we still drive children to the limit of their endurance.

The result is despair and cheating and permanent impairment of their physical equipment.

The proper number of hours for schooling is the number left when the child has had the sleep it needs and the play it needs.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE ON THE AIR.

"Ladies and gentlemen of the radio audience, you are enjoying a snappy half-hour with the Five-Power Naval Armaments Boys. This program is coming to you by courtesy of the International Peace Corporation, the world's largest makers of harps and zithers.

* * * *

"The last voice you heard was that of Ramsay MacDonald, guest speaker from the Outboard Motor Corporation whose topic was 'Pleasure-Boating as a Substitute for Naval Warfare.' I am sure you were all delighted with Mr. MacDonald, who will be heard again next Tuesday night at the same hour.

* * * *

"We will now present Col. Henry L. Stimson, who is loaned by the Affiliated Breakfast Cereals Corporation, makers of fine breakfast foods. Col. Stimson brings his famous orchestra, the Washingtonians, Joe Robinson at the piano. The opening number will be 'You Wouldn't Fool Me, Would You?' The first movement, in which the string instruments predominate, depicts the American delegation leaving the United States for the London conference. They are full of high hopes. There is a rather rough and chaotic medley indicating a disagreeable ocean voyage and then a broad outburst of brasses marks the arrival of the delegation on English soil.

* * * *

"The cymbals clash loudly to denote that Charles Francis Adams has smiled. Here there occurs a clever arrangement for bassoons and flutes denoting a message to Col. Stimson that his parrot, the Old Soak, is all right and has no symptons of psitticosis. The violins then sweep into action, which conveys the idea that Dwight Morrow, who is somewhat absent-minded, has addressed King George entirely in Mexican.

* * * *

"Now there is a movement for cornets and trombones, indicating the preliminary conference with the English delegates, and a low moaning of saxophones gives you the impression that many cross-currents are at work. A violent pounding of kettle-drums marks the arrival of the Italian delegation with strict orders from Mussolini to consent to nothing.

* * * *

"An aria for cellists indicates that Senator Reed has fallen asleep, and from afar you hear a rumbling of muted woods denoting that the Japanese delegates are extremely pessimistic and that Premier Tardieu and Aristide Briand have left the conference and gone across the street for some fried snails and cognac.

* * * *

"The composition closes with a rather confusing movement for brasses and fiddles, conveying the idea that the session has been hurriedly broken up by news that the talking-picture photographers have arrived and can't be kept waiting.

* * * *

"Kindly stand by for this selection, ladies and gentlemen. At its conclusion, when you hear the bell, you will know it is 8 o'clock and that the night shift is going on in warship building plants the world over."

THE UNEMPLOYMENT SITUATION.

Employment, says President Hoover, is decidedly on the upturn. Now, what's the use of trying to put that across unless he suppresses those news pictures from Miami, Palm Beach and Bellair?

Mayor Walker of New York is shocked to discover that original estimates of the costs of jobs often double. Has he never been through the experience of having an automobile overhauled?

"That's the last time I'll get up at sunrise to listen to a king on the radio," complained Ima Dodo. "Not a thing he said was funny."

John D. Rockefeller took a ride in an airplane at Ormond Beach but did not leave the ground. He evidently wants to live forever.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Coast Guard Does Not Stop Big Rum-Running Ships—They Are Protected by the Rum Treaty That Ignores Eighteenth Amendment.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Rear Admiral Billard, of the Coast Guard, is clearly, absolutely and everlastingly right when he claims that his guard, while trying to do its duty in lessening small craft and automobile rum smuggling, is fully justified, by direction of the highest legal authority, in shooting rum-runners on the run.

But when the admiral asserts his guard has tried, is trying or will try to stop all rum smuggling and support the Constitution and the laws, he drops into the usual drizzly twaddle of lawless prohibition enforcement officials. For no man better than Billard knows that his guard never does and never will try to stop or even to lessen the enormous amount of rum smuggling carried on in the big foreign-flag liners; knows that the rum-pact treaty which purports to exempt these craft from rum-smuggling penalties can not and does not so exempt, for the reason that the Supreme Court found that the particular kind of rum smuggling carried on in these ships is in direct nullification of the eighteenth amendment and in violation of the Volstead law; knows that it is clearly the duty of his guard, in trying to stop rum smuggling, to seize every one of those big rum-smuggling ships and turn them over to the United States marshals for condemnation proceedings; knows that his guard, in obedience to and following the example of the administration, when forced to choose which prohibition laws it would obey and which prohibition laws it would disobey, chose to obey the lawless rum-pact legislation and thereby to allow and protect rum smuggling, to nullify the eighteenth amendment and to break the Volstead and Jones laws.

The Panther in the Northeast—No Wonder Poor People See Panthers When They Drink Home Brew.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I believe its about time to repeal the eighteenth amendment before bears, mountain lions and other vicious animals make their appearance in the heart of the Nation's Capital.

It seems that the science of making home brew has advanced to such a stage that a fellow is liable to see most anything after taking a good swig.

I would suggest (for humanity's sake) that the Government send at once a competent staff of physicians and attendants to the section where that black panther was seen and administer to those poor people a good ration of real liquor three time a day. They should be made to destroy all home brew or other bootleg and stick to the Government rations until the panther disappears. These people are real flood sufferers of bad booze and need assistance.

I have heard of a jack rabbit getting drunk and spitting in a bulldog's face and a mouse being tanked up and calling for the d—— cats to come on and fight, but when the people of the District began to see panthers in this whisky-settled community, after taking a drink, then it's time to sit up and take notice.

While we are planning to build more jails to house the law violators, and supply more judges to put them in the mill, we should look around for more physicians and suitable buildings for the drinkers of bad booze.

Historic Relics and Sites in Alexandria Should Be Taken Over by the Government.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I read with pleasure the article clipped from the New York Times, commenting on the Cramton bill for inquiring into the advisability of establishing a national monument "in that little corner of Virginia," as the Times puts it, "which includes Jamestown, Yorktown and Williamsburg."

With other patriotic-minded individuals I hope the sentiment will grow for the preservation of old-time American relics. A correspondent to your letter column recently suggested that the National Government take the priceless relics of Alexandria under its care for fear they may be lost in the rapid growth of that city.

And why not? Alexandria is already socially, as it will in a few years be physically, a part of the Capital. No other locality in the Union excels it in historic associations. Its accessibility favors it, and many tourists stop off there for the sole purpose of visiting Christ Church, where George Washington worshiped.

Surely, while the work of maintaining the historic interest of other places is under way, Washington's home town, situated midway between his tomb to the south and the city of his dreams to the north, should not be neglected.

J. R. PATTON.

President Harrison's Example Should Be Followed in Appointing District Commissioners.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: With reference to the proposed change in the requirements of District Commissioners, whereby the President may appoint any one he chooses regardless of place of residence, Congress should be reminded of the words of President Harrison written one month before his death. A "James Abbott" wrote a two-page letter to Harrison requesting the President to appoint a friend of Abbott's to a position in a State in which that friend did not reside, to which Harrison replied in the negative. On the back of Abbott's letter Harrison wrote directing his secretary to "write a letter to him for me to sign saying that it is impossible for me to comply with his request. I can not insult the people of one State by filling offices by citizens of another."

Congress would do well to follow the opinion of President Harrison instead of paving the way for the appointment of one of their own constituents.

Troops Reported as Taking Honduran Town Depart Without Bloodshed.

DEFENDERS ON QUI VIVE

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—A reported penetration of Guatemalan troops into Honduran territory, which for a time threatened to complicate the work of the joint boundary dispute conference meeting under American auspices, tonight had apparently ended without important consequences.

An official statement of the foreign ministry said that a detachment of Guatemalans had occupied Lancetillal, a Honduran town, after driving out four Honduran soldiers and a telegraph operator. President Mejia Colindres ordered Gen. Rodas Alvarado to dislodge the Guatemalan soldiers, but when the Hondurans arrived the invaders already had departed.

A congressional commission called on the president today to express the approval of congress for his action. The president stated that as soon as the Guatemalans had withdrawn from their position the Hondurans also withdrew to a distance of 1 kilometer and remained on the alert.

Guatemala City, Guatemala, Jan 23 (A.P.).—Reports that Guatemalan troops have invaded Honduran territory were emphatically denied in official quarters here today. It was pointed out that such rumors might have been deliberately circulated in order to hamper the negotiations that started in Washington yesterday for the settlement of the boundary dispute between Guatemala and Honduras.

MAN SHOT ON BORDER CALLED RUM RUNNER

officers said was in the boat with him had disappeared. Before losing consciousness Grund told Wyandotte police he had had no liquor but had been cruising in the river with his companion in search of a missing motor boat.

Hopper and Redford appeared before Ward Culver, assistant prosecuting attorney, this afternoon and made statements regarding the shooting. Hopper told of sighting the approaching craft making for the wharf where a lookout was posted. He said that he and Redford ran to the spot and the lookout fled. The men in the boat ignored their orders to surrender.

"We turned our flashlights on them and saw burlap sacks filled with bottles piled in the bow of the boat," Hopper said. "Redford fired a couple of shots ahead of the boat and the man at the oars dropped them and made a move toward his hip. Then I fired and he fell over."

Hopper said they did not fire again as they saw the man was wounded. His companion then took the oars and pointed the boat out into the stream again. The officers went to the Crossville police station and reported the shooting, after which they set out in search of the boat.

Brickbats & Bouquets

—By JAMES HAY, JR.—

NOW in the winter of our discontent when stocks and bonds drop to dizzy depths, our slang-infested language is lavishly enriched by the brand new verb, "to yondle" (derived from the proper name Yon), signifying forensic fusillades, and the Sioux-Maya suffix "-die" (to cover with), which means: to disgorge the dictionary, to shower fulminations, to describe the ubiquitousness of one's omnipresence.

Our fluent and fiery speech was thus adorned the other day when Representative Thomas Alva Yon, of Florida, took the floor of the House to narrate the long train of events leading up to his presence at the Capitol fire and to list the surprising emotions which he experienced while approaching, fighting and viewing that historic conflagration.

In less than one column of newspaper print, Mr. Yon motored all the way from Florida to the District of Columbia, paid tribute to every hero connected with every town, county, State, bridge, river and village on his route, congratulated Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia on their contributions to national glory, thrilled to the beauty of the scenery and the perfection of the highways, tiptoed through history from the days of Ponce de Leon to the fame of Josephus Daniels, arrived in the Capital of "the greatest Nation on earth," got his dinner, heard the cry of Capitol afire.

AND reached for his topcoat and hat, and, thus impressively attired, felt "emotion and consternation," thought of "the greatness and grandeur of this edifice," was overcome by "patriotic fervor" upon beholding the dome ablaze, saw Old Glory, was reminded of its duty "To wave o'er the land of the free and the home of the brave," complimented Francis Scott Key, quoted some more of the national anthem.

And sketched the burning of the White House by the British in 1814, rushed around to the east front of the Capitol to find that he and the firemen were arriving neck and neck, again observed the menace to the building, joined the gallant firemen, grabbed a hose, leaped through a smashed main entrance door, jumped hellbent for "the seat of conflagration."

* * * *

AND assured the House that this heroic and Herculean performance was no easy job, concluded that there was not so much fire as smoke, got "a thrill I will never forget," and wound up with "I thank you."

That was how, in seven all-embracing, peripatetic and profound paragraphs, the language of our up-and-coming, go-getting, money-making people was decorated, strengthened and variegated by the aforesaid brand new verb, to yondle. For Mr. Yon did mightily yondle.

Hereafter, when a congressman rises to speak, every hearer will breathlessly inquire: "Will he speak or will he yondle?" For to speak is merely to speak, while to yondle is to yodle diversified eloquence. It is, in brief, a linguistic journey from unexplored nothingness to the boundless everywhere, a verbal athleticism whose agility surpasses that of the Alpine goat noted for leaping from crag to crag with indescribable speed, precision and savior faire.

HARD TIMES STRIKE CHICAGO EMPLOYES

are going deeper in debt one way or another. And now they are finding it harder even to go in debt. A survey of the loan shops, which make small personal loans at rates of interest amounting to 42 per cent annually at 3½ per cent a month, showed today that more than $7,000,000 was under loans to employes which are not being repaid. This about uses up the available small loans capital, A. P. Snite, president of the State Industrial Lenders Association, said.

He said his companies had quit wasting postage in sending notices of loans being overdue. "They'll pay when they get paid," he said.

Stores having charge accounts with city and county employes generally have extended payment for from 60 to 90 days. Grocers, butchers and other storekeepers are allowing more credit, too, but even with this cooperation, workers without money in their pockets do not think it's such a gay life.

It was estimated today that at the end of this month the city, county and schools of Chicago and Cook County would owe 40,182 employes $11,276,187, distributed as follows:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| City police | 6,715 | $1,395,486 |
| City firemen | 2,689 | 598,216 |
| Other city help | 8,596 | 2,156,298 |
| School teachers | 13,220 | 3,640,000 |
| Other school help | 4,300 | 1,333,000 |
| County employes | 3,862 | 1,133,500 |
| Nurses, &c. | 800 | 1,019,687 |

Civic, political and municipal leaders went ahead with conferences today seeking a way out of the money muddle, with W. H. Malone, State tax commissioner joining in with a plan to sell tax anticipation warrants to the public utilities and big industries which have funds in reserve for tax payments.

MINE WORKERS LOSE SKIRMISH IN ILLINOIS

APPEAL MAY BE TAKEN

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23 (A.P.).—International headquarters of the United Mine Workers of America today lost another legal skirmish in its effort to oust State President Harry Fishwick and set up a provisional government in Illinois.

Circuit Judge Normal J. Jones upheld the legality of an injunction granted to State officers resisting efforts of International President John L. Lewis to oust them. Lewis indicated he would appeal to a higher court.

Judges Jones, in his decree, refused to dissolve a temporary injunction restraining Lewis from evicting the State union chiefs, holding that the international president was without power to discharge summarily any of the elective officers.

While admitting the right of International President Lewis to revoke the charters of State or subdistrict organizations, the chancellor declared that such power could not be employed as a subterfuge for vacating the elected officers of the district No. 12 (Illinois).

Judge Jones also upheld the right of the Fishwick and other State officers to appeal to the courts for support in their fight with Lewis for control of the Illinois miners union.

SINO-RUSS MEETING POSTPONED 30 DAYS

Belief Grows That Chinese Will Not Participate in Conference.

DISPUTE IS UNSETTLED

Shanghai, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Developments today caused general belief here that the dispute of the Chinese and Russian governments over joint operation of the Chinese Eastern Railway, which caused Russian armed invasion of Manchuria last November was far from being settled.

The Nationalist government's Kuomin News Agency stated that the Chinese-Russian conference scheduled for Moscow, January 28, had been postponed until February 25, "in order to enable China to complete preparations." This conference had been arranged to ratify a protocol signed at Khabarovsk by negotiations of the two governments chiefly providing for the resumption of joint operation of the railway.

The belief is growing here that the Chinese do not intend to participate in the planned conference in Moscow. The Chinese newspapers are featuring reports that the Russians are willing to convene at Harbin, Khabarovsk "or anywhere, in order to force the Chinese to accept the Soviet conditions in regard to the Chinese Eastern Railway."

Buy Your Printing at Home

The short-sighted policy of merchants who send their printing work to cities other than the one in which they conduct business is beyond human conjecture. This error in business judgment is doubly emphasized when the practice is indulged in by quasi-public enterprises, universities or similar institutions. There can be no excuse in the latter case, as the money expended for work of this character is drawn from public funds or contributions from members of the community. A plea might be made that a saving in cost enters the matter, but that saving, if any, would be so slight that the plea is in itself evidence of the error.

Reverse the situation. If workers in a community found it expedient to purchase supplies, clothing and other necessities in adjacent centers, what would be the effect on the local business community? Yet this course would seem just as logical as the one complained of. Spending money earned at home is one of the main factors in the industrial prosperity of a community and all its residents.

Chief Justice Absent From Hoover Dinner

Annual Affair in Honor of Supreme Court Is Held.

By JEAN ELIOT.

THE President and Mrs. Hoover's dinner "to the Chief Justice and the Supreme Court" was given last night without the ranking guests, Chief Justice and Mrs. Taft having followed the sun to the South where the Chief Justice is convalescing from his recent illness.

A distinguished company was assembled for this dinner, which was notably successful despite the much deplored absence of Chief Justice and Mrs. Taft, Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, senior of the group of associate justices, and Justice and Mrs. Louis D. Brandeis. On their physician's advice, they never accept dinner invitations, being even released from "commands" to the White House.

Justice Willis Van Devanter headed the guests from the country's highest tribunal—without Mrs. Van Devanter, who is ill, and the others present from the Supreme Court group were Justice James Clark McReynolds, Justice and Mrs. George Sutherland, Justice and Mrs. Pierce Butler, Justice and Mrs. Edward Terry Sanford and Justice and Mrs. Harlan Fiske Stone.

A little group of officials present included the Attorney General and Mrs. William DeWitt Mitchell, Senator and Mrs. Lee S. Overman, Senator and Mrs. Ferderick H. Gillett, Representative George S. Graham, Representative Hatton W. Sumners, the Solicitor General and Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes, jr., and Mr. John L. O'Brian, assistant to the Attorney General and Mrs. O'Brian.

The others present were Mr. and Mrs. George W. Wickersham, Mr. and Mrs. Owen J. Roberts, Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, sometime assistant Attorney General; Mr. and Mrs. John Foster Dulles, Mr. and Mrs. John Richardson, Mr. Jeremiah Smith, jr., Mrs. H. Graham Williams, Miss Susan L. Dyer, who has been visiting at the White House for several weeks; Capt. Allen Buchanan and Maj. John M. Eager.

Although Mr. Wickersham, head of the President's law enforcement commission, has been in Washington for months, Mrs. Wickersham has but recently joined him here. Mr. Roberts, whose home is in Philadelphia, was prosecutor for the United States in the oil cases, Mr. Dulles, formerly a foreign service officer, is a nephew of Mrs. Robert Lansing.

Laid for a state function, the White House table is always very lovely, with its fine linen, its prismatic cut glass, its service plates banded with deep blue, and its exquisite Dolly Madison service of silver gilt. Last evening pink snapdragons, butterfly roses and freesia were used as decorations.

The Marine Band Orchestra played while the dinner was in progress. Afterward there was an hour of music in the east room, with a few guests augmenting the dinner party. The program was presented by Mme. Margaret Matzenauer, contralto, and Mr. Jascha Heifitz, violinist. Mr. Frank La Forge, composer-pianist, was at the piano for Mme. Matzenauer, who sang two or three numbers of his composition. Mr. Isidor Achreon was accompanist for Mr. Heifitz.

Mme. Claudel at Ball Aboard S. S. Paris.

Mme. Claudel will not be at home this afternoon, having gone with M. Claudel, the Ambassador of France, to New York to attend a ball given aboard the S. S. Paris to celebrate its reconditioning after a disastrous fire.

The Ambassador of Japan and Mme. Debuchi were guests at a reception given yesterday at the Mayflower by the Military Attache of the Japanese Embassy, Col. Watari. War Department officials had numerous representation among the guests. Col. Watari was assisted by the wives of several members of the embassy staff, among them Mme. Sakano, Mme. Kato, Mme. Morishima, Mme. Hachiya, Mme. Maki and Mme. Tanaka.

Mr. Setsujo Sawada, Japanese Consul General in New York, who was formerly attached to the embassy in Washington, was a guest at the reception.

The Turkish Ambassador, Mr. Ahmed Mouhtar, was the ranking guest at the dinner given last evening by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Groaner. The other guests were the Persian Minister, Mirza Davoud Khan Meftah; the Minister of Bolivia and Senora de Diez de Medina, Senator Arthur Capper, Mrs. Royal S. Copeland, Mr. and Mrs. William Kerlin and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Cahill.

The Minister of Canada and Mrs. Vincent Massey will return today from Canada where they passed a few days.

Mrs. Lawrence Townsend will have as her guest for several days, Miss Lillian Emerson, daughter of Mrs. Franklin Terry, of Black Mountain, N. C., who will arrive tomorrow from New York. Miss Emerson is a frequent visitor in Washington and will remain here until Wednesday to attend a number of parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Linthicum Are Hosts at Dinner.

Representative and Mrs. J. Charles Linthicum entertained at dinner last evening at the Mayflower in honor of the United States Ambassador to Chile and Mrs. William S. Culbertson. The other guests were the Chilean Ambassador and Senora de Davila, Gen. and Mrs. Charles P. Summerall, the Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Wilbur J. Carr, Representative and Mrs. Henry T. Rainey, Representative and Mrs. John Q. Tilson, Representative Stephen G. Porter, Rev. Dr. Arthur I. B. Kinsolving, Dr. Hugh Young, of Baltimore; Dr. and Mrs. James Hogan, of California; Miss Junia Culbertson, Mrs. George C. Perry, Capt. and Mrs. William C. Linthicum, and Mr. Robert Phillips.

Representative and Mrs. Franklin Fort, of New Jersey, will entertain at the Willard tonight in honor of the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Walter E. Hope.

Italian Attache To Visit in New York.

The retiring Military Attache of the Italian Embassy, Brig. Gen. Augusto Villa, will leave Washington on February 15 and will visit his brother and sister-in-law, Count and Countess Alfonso Villa, in New York for a short time before sailing for Italy, February 22.

The newly appointed Military Attache, Lieut. Col. Marco Pennaroli, will arrive in Washington on February 10 to assume his duties.

Representative Allen C. Treadway, of Massachusetts, and Mrs. Treadway entertained twelve guests at dinner last night.

Mrs. Proctor L. Dougherty will receive today informally from 4 until 6 at her home, 3713 Jenifer street, Chevy Chase, Md.

Seaview Terrace, the famous Newport home of Mr. Edson Bradley and the late Mrs. Bradley, has been presented by Mr. Bradley to his daughter, Mrs. Herbert Shipman, wife of the Suffragan Bishop of New York.

Representatives' Wives To Be Luncheon Hosts.

Mrs. Charles H. Underhill, wife of Representative Underhill; Mrs. C. L. Gifford, wife of Representative Gifford, and Mrs. Frank Foss, wife of Representative Foss, all of Massachusetts, will entertain at a bridge and luncheon at the Hotel Roosevelt on February 5.

Mrs. Douglas Chandor, wife of the distinguished British portrait painter, who is engaged in painting members of President Hoover's Cabinet, arrived in Washington yesterday to be with Mr. Chandor for a week. She is en route to Havana.

Senator and Mrs. James E. Watson will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Mock in their box for the opening performance of Otis Skinner in "Papa Juan," at the National Theater on Monday night. Their party will also include Miss Margaret Baker, well-known English lecturer, for whom Mr. and Mrs. Mock are giving a tea on Sunday afternoon.

District Girl Is Married in Athens Rites

Former Grace Alexander Now in London at Naval Parley.

Word has been received in Washington that Miss Grace Alexander, now in London with the American naval conference delegation, was married on January 4 to Mr. Charles A. Grefe, of New York. The wedding took place in Athens, Greece, where the bride was then visiting her cousin, Miss Priscilla Capps, daughter of Prof. Edward Capps, a former United States Minister to Greece.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Alexander, of Washington, who are spending the winter in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. James Townsend Russell, jr., have returned to town after a ten-day visit at Lake Placid.

The S. R. O. sign will be out soon for the Arts Club's bal boheme to be held on Monday at the Willard. In order that the guests may not be too crowded for enjoyment, it has been necessary to place a limit of 1,600 on the number and this maximum has almost been reached.

Among the box holders, not already announced by the club, are included Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose, Mrs. William Fitch Kelley, Mrs. J. T. Oliphant, Mrs. Mason Gray, Miss Mary B. Adams, Mrs. Frederick A. Parkhurst, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. John A. Hull, Mrs. Stokes-Halkett, Mrs. H. G. Ferguson, Mrs. A. C. Yates, Mrs. John Crayke Simpson, Mrs. J. J. Hamilton, Mrs. Christian Heurich, Mr. Alden Freeman, Mrs. Morris D. Wickersham, Mrs. Henry K. Bush-Brown, Miss Sibyl Baker, Mr. L. R. Taylor and Miss Helen Colhoun.

Miss Myra Hendley, of the Arts Club, is chairman of an interesting committee for the bal boheme. It is known as the "oddments" committee and each year provides an alluring assortment of costume accessories, for the timely aid of the unwary who have failed to provide themselves with fancy dresses. Miss Hendley's committee will display at the door an array of turbans, head dresses, sashes, girdles and, in fact, all sorts of delightful costume accessories.

Fancy dress is required, but no limit of period or place is prescribed.

Mrs. William Wheatley will be at home informally tomorrow afternoon after 4 o'clock and will have with her Mrs. Holland Reavis, of New York and Paris, and Mrs. Clarence M. Busch.

Mrs. Frank Crowther will be at home informally on Monday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Parker will have with them for some time, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Howe, of Bristol, R. I., and Miss Linda Locke Howe, who will arrive in Washington today.

Mrs. Minnigerode Andrews, who is passing several days in New York, was the guest in whose honor Mrs. Henry Walter Wilmot entertained at luncheon yesterday at Pierre's.

Miss McNally to Fete Miss Anne Chabot.

Miss Gertrude McNally will entertain at dinner at the Manor Club on Saturday in honor of Miss Anne Chabot, of Frostburg, Md., who will be married to Mr. Martin Olmstead Slentz, of Washington, at 6:30 o'clock Saturday, in the rectory of the Church of the Nativity.

Miss Chabot will be attended by Miss Mary Keating of Frostburg, and Mr. Slentz by his brother, Mr. George Gilbert Slentz. After an automobile tour of the South the couple will reside in this city.

Cremona, famous old southern Maryland estate dating back in 1650, has been purchased as a summer home by Maj. and Mrs. Howard Davidson, of Bolling Field.

The Davidsons expect to begin work redecorating the mansion house immediately and will probably move to Cremona early in June.

The future mistress of Cremona was before her marriage to Maj. Davidson, Miss Mary Patterson, of Dayton, Ohio.

Mrs. Baker Visits With Parents Here.

Representative and Mrs. Edward T. Taylor have with them at the George Washington Inn their daughter, Mrs. Irving Monroe Baker, of Montclair, N. J. Both Mr. and Mrs. Taylor are slowly recuperating from prolonged illness and their daughter will be with them for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Larrabee, of Warrenton, are staying at the St. Regis Hotel, in New York. Mrs. Larrabee was formerly Miss Madge Stokes, of Washington.

Lieut. Comdr. H. V. Linkins has arrived at the Powhatan for a brief visit from his home in San Francisco.

Miss Beatrice Aitchison, who is attending the graduate school at Johns Hopkins University, will arrive today for a week-end visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde B. Aitchison.

Miss Anne Covington will be hostess at a meeting of the Washington Branch of the Associate Alumnae of Vassar College this evening at 8 o'clock at her home, 2320 Wyoming avenue. Dr. and Mrs. David Allan Robertson will be the honor guests. Dr. Robertson will speak on recent English poetry.

Miss Bernice Green will be at home on Sunday, January 26, to the counselors and the student group of the District branch of the League of American Pen Women. The guest of honor will be Miss Elizabeth McKelvy, president of the group, of which Miss Green is secretary.

Visitor From South

Underwood & Underwood.

MISS SUSAN GUIGNARD, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Gadsden Guignard, of Columbia, S. C., who will arrive on Sunday to be the guest of her uncle, the Rev. Meade Bolton MacBryde.

Supper Event Is Enjoyed by Club Women

Mrs. Porter H. Dale and Mrs. Ramseyer Are Hostesses.

Mrs. Porter H. Dale, president of the Congressional Club, and the first vice president, Mrs. C. William Ramseyer, entertained at a buffet supper last evening at the Congressional Club for members of the Women's National Press Club. An amusing take-off on the fads and foibles of guests was woven into the minstrel show, with its original sketches and song and dance numbers, which was a feature of the evening's entertainment. Mrs. David H. Kincheloe was "end man" and the cast was recruited from the associate membership of the club, the group including Miss Ruth Dickinson, Miss Jean Kincheloe, Miss Ruth Williams, Miss Kiefner and Miss Helen Dale Coalick, niece of Senator Dale, who makes her home with Senator and Mrs. Dale.

Mrs. David Hopkins and Mrs. Kincheloe contributed a music program. A fortune teller was present to reveal glimpses of the future. Supper was served at flower-decked tables in the ballroom, the company assembling about the open fire in the downstairs drawing room for coffee and afterward returning to the ballroom to enjoy the minstrel show.

Mrs. Dale, the handsome and distinguished wife of Senator Dale, of Vermont, has long been active in the Congressional Club and served on several important committees before she was elected president. Consequently she is well fitted for leadership in this important group, and Mrs. Ramseyer is qualified to "pinch hit" for her most gracefully in time of emergency.

Mrs. Ellery Stewell is entertaining the Radcliffe Club at her home, 3734 Oliver street, Chevy Chase, today. Prof. Stewell will talk to the club members on "The League of Nations and Roads to Peace." An informal reception and tea will follow the talk.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorimer Are Sojourning Here.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Lorimer, of Philadelphia, Pa., have taken a suite of rooms at the Carlton, where they will remain for a few days.

The A'Cappella Chorus of the First Congregational Church, under the direction of Mrs. Ruby Smith Stahl, will render two groups of songs at the annual evening meeting of the Women's Alliance of the Unitarian Church, to be held this evening at 8 o'clock in Pierce Hall, Fifteenth and Harvard streets. Mrs. Edward Wilson, composer, will play some of her own compositions. Miss Lucy Street, musical director of the Y. W. C. A., will sing, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Coggeshall. A social hour will follow the concert, Mrs. Van Laurence, hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Winslow Are Capital Visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Winslow, of Leicester, Mass., are guests at the Willard over the week-end.

Mrs. Alexander W. Weddell has motored to Washington from her home in Richmond, Va., and is at the Carlton for several days.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank A. Hornaday, who make their home at the Mayflower, were hosts at dinner last evening in the presidential dining room of the hotel. Their guests included Dr. and Mrs. Reginald Walker, Dr. and Mrs. William J. Mallory, Dr. and Mrs. Daniel L. Borden, Dr. and Mrs. Robert C. McCullough and Dr. and Mrs. Oscar B. Hunter.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Are Dinner Guests.

The Secretary to the President and Mrs. Walter Newton were the guests in whose honor Mr. and Mrs. Donald Conn entertained at dinner last evening in the Florentine room of the Wardman Park Hotel. There were about 26 in the company.

Mr. and Mrs. Conn who recently arrived from their home on the West Coast are passing some time at the hotel.

Miss Cochran to Entertain At Breakfast Event.

Mrs. John J. Cochran, wife of Representative Cochran, of Missouri, will be hostess at an interesting table at the celebrity breakfast of the National League of American Pen Women tomorrow at the Willard Hotel, when she will entertain a number of the wives of her husband's colleagues in Congress from Missouri and other guests. She will have with her Mrs. Harry B. Hawes, wife of Senator Hawes, of Missouri; Mrs. Milton A. Romjue, Mrs. Henry F. Niedringhaus, Mrs. Leonidas C. Dyer, Mrs. Charles E. Kiefner and Mrs. Joe J. Manlove, wives of representatives from Missouri; also Mrs. Edward Hays, wife of former Representative Hayeys, of Missouri; Mrs. Charles P. Keyser and Mrs. Thomas Carlin.

Mrs. Alfred J. Brosseau, former president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution and a member of the Connecticut branch of the Pen Women, will be hostess at a table of ten.

WORK ON BRIDGE

BRIDGERS.

Important Notice!

Beginning Monday, January 27, Mr. Milton C. Work, the international authority, will conduct in this department for two weeks a great Home Bridge Contest. You will find it of intense interest and wonderfully instructive. It will enable you to test and increase your knowledge of Auction and Contract and contest informally with members of your household and friends. Remember the date—January 27. Challenge your friends.

For the Player Familiar With Auction But Inexperienced in Contract.

LAST week we considered jumps of partner's one No Trump to two No Trumps. We shall continue the jumping subject today, with hands with which partner's one No Trump should be jumped to three. The reason for jumping to three rather than to two when the jumper has strength enough for three, is that the No Trump may have been made with a minimum or a hand counting only one more than a minimum, and in that case a jump to two would be passed by the No Trumper and the combined hands would be played at less than a game-bid. When North's count is as high as 12, he can not afford to bid only two No Trumps over South's one No Trump because, even if South have a minimum, the total count is 28; and with that count the chances are that the No Trumper will be able to make nine tricks. So North, with 12 or more, should jump all the way to three. The following are holdings with which North should bid three No Trumps, South having bid one No Trump and West having passed:

| No. 1 | No. 2 |
|---|---|
| ♠ A-X-X | J-10-X |
| ♥ K-10-X | 10-X-X |
| ♦ A-10-X | K-9-X |
| ♣ 9-X-X-X | A-J-X-X |

C35

Both of these hands count exactly 12; the two Tens are counted as 1, even in Hand No. 2 in which the Ten is the highest card of the (Heart) suit. That, however, is quite proper as the strength furnished by the Tens is combined with the No Trump strength opposite.

When the No Trump is bid by the second hand (dealer having passed) and the player to jump is the fourth hand, there is a possibility that the No Trump has been bid with 12—one less than the minimum fixed for the dealer; and to be mathematically precise we should require counts of 10 and 13, respectively, for jumps by East of West's No Trump. To make that provision, however, would add two more counts to our list and in actual play it has not proved to be necessary to do this. It works satisfactorily to permit East to jump with the same strength required for North.

Considering jumps by South and West, the original one No Trump having been bid either by North after two passes or by East after three, the situation is varied. Either North or East must have a count of at least 14 to bid an original No Trump (East should have at least 15); so to jump these respective bids does not require as much strength as a jump by North or East. South and West should both jump to two No Trumps with a count of 7, and to three No Trumps with a count of 10.

Dare INTERPRETS the MODE

Paris, Jan. 23.

TO tell you the truth, it's an idea I have had for many years, but just never had the time on my hands to pursue. After all, why shouldn't the smooth, delicately pointed, shiny surface of the nails that shield miladi's graceful finger tips be decorated, just as well as her dainty ears, her lovely arms or her throat?

But, I don't like the red enameled finger nails that match the lipstick! Do you want to know why? Well, it's just because they don't look calculatedly artificial enough, if you will permit me the description. They look instead like an accident to the liquid nail polish bottle.

Whereas if finger nails were tastefully enameled green, and matched by green eyes or jade jewelry, there would be something so admittedly artificial about them that they would be delightful. Or purple, or a certain shade of vivid blue.

• • • •

Personally, I would adore miniatures in oil paints painted on finger nails of a person with graceful and leisurely enough hands to get away with it. This could be done by any artist, and a transparent shellac or enamel put over it to conserve the paint and permit a handwashing if not dishwashing. I'm serious about this, but it would probably have to be seen to be appreciated. La Chic Secretaire's face is in the throes of horror, and L'Artiste Americaine yells from the other room, "You always see miniatures on finger nails in the subway!"

• • • •

The Conturier.

But here comes a hard one that you will probably have to say more than ten times! Phillippe et Gaston—well, here goes, "Fill-eep-eh-Gastonh."

Now, the Philippe has its accent on the last syllable, and then you say the "eh" without pausing for breath after the "eep," and then leap right into the "Gas-tonh" with the accent on the "tonh" and the nasal sort of cutting off and burying its sound at the end of the word—for the practice of the sound, simply hold your nose as you say "tonh."

• • • •

Ever so tailored she would be, the young lady who attired herself in this too awfully smart for words ensemble of Bernard et Cie! But then, Bernard is always doing things like that.

• • • •

The left-handed artist tried to make one once, and evidently it didn't work. Maybe it was because she is left-handed, but she says it was because she didn't send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet, which would have told her not only how to make the princess nightgown but the combination on princess lines as well—and both of them at that taking only two and three-quarters yards of material.

So now she says she's going to send to The Washington Post for a leaflet all the way from Paris—which is the only way she'll get one! You'd better send for yours, too.

• • • •

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

"Chilly Ladies."

DEAR MISS McDONALD: This is a protest against those undemonstrative women who are so careful of their rights, evidently thinking that her husband has none except that of establishing a home in which he is a somewhat unwelcome guest. I personally know one who encourages her daughter to disobey him and to keep away from him because she herself is "undemonstrative" and wishes her daughter to be like herself. Strange to say she objects to her husband's conversing with any woman.

Women often complain of lack of attention and affection from their husbands. Probably the actual grounds for such complaint would run about 50-50 in both sexes. The woman seems to have gotten what she wanted, a home and a child all of which she considers herself perfectly competent to manage, only her husband is so unnecessary!

Perhaps it is a sort of dispensation of Providence to keep the race from too great extremes, that joins affectionate women to cold husbands and sensitive husbands to "undemonstrative" wives. There is no way of proving that one class is more numerous than the other.

I know another woman, a faithful wife, a careful manager and a good mother, who for many years never received a kiss from her husband without assuming the attitude of a Christian martyr prepared to submit to the torturer. She trained her two children the same way, saying that her objection to kisses was based on sanitary grounds. The husband resented the implication that his kisses were likely to infect his family and ceased all attempts at kissing. Occasionally, after an absence, both wife and daughters showed a willingness to permit his lips to touch their cheek; but this privilege he did not greatly covet. Once a human hug and kiss from either wife or daughter would have meant more than $100 to him. Now he wouldn't cross the street for either. He has been thoroughly cured. In trouble or sickness each would do all possible. But he has long since given up his dreams and anticipation of caresses from a daughter; as well as the confidently expected "demonstrations" of a loving wife.

Doubtless his wife has also had her disillusionments and her unfilled hopes. Still he thinks it is a little chilling, after 20 years of married life, to be told that the wife will be glad when her husband will want neither kisses nor caresses from her. Your opinion of this type of a wife I would welcome.

OBSERVER.

Well our opinion is that "undemonstrative" women, and those who believe kisses insanitary should remain single and be architects or civil engineers instead of wives.

The truth is that these chilly souls are also very calculating and so marry deliberately to secure their future, without the least compunction for the fact that they are obtaining a husband upon false pretenses.

Every man when he marries expects love and affection, and expects these things to be demonstrated unmistakably. In fact, it is our humble opinion that men almost without exception marry for love while women seldom do. Therefore the woman who marries and then withholds or can not give affection should be classed with other dishonest persons and ostracized. Of course a great many chilly women will write up in tomorrow's mail and their letters will be anything but chilly. However, we are almost immune to caustic comment and so our opinion stands. Cold women should go in for politics, not love!

This column is for you! Your experiences, opinions and suggestions will help all who read this page. Express your views and help those in need of advice. You need not sign your name.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

DOWN at the National Theater the boys in the box office are working overtime making reservations for patrons anxious to see "Strange Interlude," Eugene O'Neil's play, on its return engagement. It comes here the week of February 3.

• • • •

Robert Macgunicle, the old Yale man, and now doing duty with one of the dramatic departments in New York, is to be the guest of the Washington Advertising Club at luncheon next Tuesday—in the National Press Club. It seems Mr. Macgunicle has prepared quite an elaborate lecture on the drama which he will unfold to the advertising men.

• • • •

WHILE the Theater Guild is getting ready to make another siege on Washington, with its production of "Strange Interlude," the neighboring town of Baltimore has the honor of getting its prize production of the year. Henry Henkel, manager of Ford's Theater, Baltimore, announces that the much heralded "Apple Cart," by George Bernard Shaw, will have its American premiere in the Monumental City the week of February 17. From there the Shaw play goes into New York.

• • • •

Because one of the outstanding its in "Robin Hood"—coming to Poli's next week—is a drinking song, "Brown October Ale," Mr. T. D. Bonneville, manager of Poli's, has set to work compiling a list of these old refrains. Some of them he sings, at night, in his apartment. In making a study of such music lore, Mr. Bonneville has traced the history of toasts—for drinking songs are nothing more nor less than toasts set to music—and some day he hopes to publish a book. In the meantime, he is anxious that all the old-time men-about-town get together and hear "Brown October Ale" as it should be sung. It seems that Greek Evans is the man who sings it this year, playing the character, Little John.

• • • •

UNDER the auspices of The Washington Post, the principals of the "Robin Hood" company are going out to Walter Reed Hospital next Tuesday afternoon, the day after the opening performance here, and sing for the wounded soldiers. On the staff of the hospital, it is said, are two officers of the Medical Corps who were stationed in Washington when Reginald de Koven composed his celebrated operetta. That was a long, long time ago—in the nineties—after De Koven had organized the first Washington Symphony.

• • • •

OTIS SKINNER, due here next week in "Papa Juan," is now playing to packed houses in Baltimore and has a chance to break the house record when he comes to the National. The advance sale is said to be the largest of the year, which is proof that a star, after all, has box office appeal. It must be the star, for, certainly, no one here knows anything of the play, "Papa Juan"; but all hands seem to know, and admire, Otis Skinner.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"AQUARIUS."

IF JANUARY 24th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 10 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 4 p. m., and from 10 p. m. to 11.15 p. m. The danger periods are from 12.10 p. m. to 1.50 p. m., and from 5 p. m. to 6.30 p. m.

Considerable activity is augured for this date, but there will be only partial success. Your position will remain undetermined, but rays of light will begin to flicker through, and you will feel encouraged. An elderly person will be your friend on this date.

Children born on this January 24th will be gifted and popular, but their pleasure-loving proclivities may be their undoing. They will be romantic and Bohemian in nature. They will learn quickly and are imitative.

Nature gave you a very open, impulsive and generous disposition, free from all suspicions and pettiness. You have a very clear, imaginative brain and in spite of a certain fickleness, your heart betrays a capacity for a great single affection and love. You are capable of very passionate attachments. You are in possession of great magnetic force which draws others to you. Children idolize you and animals feel that you are their friend. Your fingers have almost hypnotic power, and you are destined to make great use of their delicate touch.

All risks connected with water should be avoided, as your greatest danger lies in unnecessary risks connected with water pleasures or sports.

Deep thinking and deep problems appeal to you. You are a wrestler with circumstances, and it is not often that you are thrown upon your back. You will have to fight for your successes in life, but fate will fight for and not against you. You have both energy and patience, the two factors with which all success has to be paid. You have the spirit that overcomes disgust and desolation. Your ideals are high, but not so high that you cannot live up to them. Your hypersensitiveness is your greatest fault.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

COTTAGE-CHEESE CLUB SANDWICH
(U. S. Bureau of Dairy Industry.)

This sandwich is made of three good-sized slices of toasted bread, one or more being spread thickly with cottage cheese. Lettuce or watercress and salad dressing also are used. The rest of the filling may be varied to suit the taste or the larder. The sandwich is cut diagonally and served on an individual plate with the halves arranged in diamond shape. It is desirable to toast the bread on one side only and to cut it immediately after toasting, as otherwise the pressure of cutting crushes out the cheese and spoils the appearance of the sandwich. The cut slices may be placed together again while the sandwich is being filled, and the filling may be sliced through with a sharp knife.

In addition to the cottage cheese these club sandwiches may contain:

1—Tomato, lettuce, mayonnaise dressing.
3—Sliced tart apple, nuts, lettuce, mayonnaise.
4—Sliced orange, watercress mayonnaise.
5—Sliced Spanish onion, pimento, lettuce mayonnaise.
6—Two tiny strips of bacon, lettuce, mayonnaise.
7—Cucumber or green pepper, pimento, lettuce mayonnaise.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

LIVING WITH YOUR LIVER.

L. S. M. writes: I should be very grateful if you would write an article on the care of the liver in middle life.

REPLY.

Thanks for the suggestion. Most people in middle life need to know more than they do about the liver and its care. For that matter, they need to know more than the doctors do on this subject.

The liver, like the weather, has always been talked about but nobody did anything about it, and, for that matter, nobody knew enough about it to guide anybody. Within the last ten years some accurate knowledge of this, the largest, most important and most frequently diseased of all the bodily organs, has been accumulated. Ten years from now your question can be answered with reasonable certainty that the answer is, say, 90 per cent correct. Then, when that answer becomes general information and is made a part of the people's habits, the liver will have an easier row to hoe. As it is, the liver has a multitude of trials and tribulations because of sins for which it is in no wise responsible. In order to spare their livers people of middle life should follow these rules:

First, they should avoid the use of alcoholic beverages. This applies to beers and fermented liquors as well as the distilled ones. There are those who hold that the only partially fermented products of the former are even more harmful to the liver than the aromatics and flavors of the latter.

Second, eliminate condiments from the diet, or greatly limit them. This applies especially to mustard, horse radish, peppers, cloves, cinnamon and bottled sauces. Many apply it to sugars. Certainly it would apply to the excessive use of sugar with the food, though most would allow sugar in the coffee and similar moderate uses of sugar as a condiment.

Third, eat no heavy meals. The allusion particularly is to banquets, many-course dinners and overfeeds generally. Heavy festival dinners such as those of Thanksgiving and Christmas are especially harmful.

Fourth, eat a light evening meal or none at all. At this evening meal especially, eat very little fat or grease of any sort and little or no meat. There are conditions under which many physicians would advise eating considerable fat and with some frequency.

Fifth, do muscular work or take muscular exercise proportionate to the amount of food consumed.

WHEN IS A WEN TOO BIG?

Mrs. R. G. H. writes I have a wen on my head about as large as a small marble. It stays sore and seems to grow quite slowly. Is there anything that will stop its growth and soreness, or will I have to have it removed? How large do they finally get to be?

REPLY.

Most wens on the head are fatty tumors. They grow very slowly and cause no trouble except as they disfigure or get in the way. There is nothing you can do to stop your wen from growing. Protecting it lessens the soreness.

Removal by operation is safe and satisfactory.

SCHOOLGIRLS NEED HEALTH

Daughter of Mrs. Catherine Lamuth
Box 72, Mohawk, Michigan

"After my daughter grew into womanhood she began to feel rundown and weak and a friend asked me to get her your medicine. She took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Herb Medicine. Her nerves are better, her appetite is good, she is in good spirits and able to work every day. We recommend the Vegetable Compound to other girls and to their mothers."—Mrs. Catherine Lamuth.

Daughter of Mrs. Eva Wood Howe
1006 South H. Street, Danville, Ill.

"I praise Lydia E. Pinkham's VegetableCompound for what it has done for my fourteen-year-old daughter as well as for me. It has helped her growth and her nerves and she has a good appetite now and sleeps well. She has gone to school every day since beginning the medicine. I will continue to give it to her at regular intervals and will recommend it to other mothers who have daughters with similar troubles."—Mrs. Eva Wood Howe.

another sled. He was treated at Casualty Hospital.

Sarah Johnson, 50 years old, 325 Tenth street southwest, received a fractured right ankle in a fall at 2823 Myrtle avenue northeast. She was treated at Emergency Hospital. Lacerations of the right elbow were received by Whitfield Honesty, colored, 31 years old, 2329 N street northwest, in a fall. After treatment at Emergency Hospital he went home. George Murry, colored, 29 years old, 53 N street northwest, fractured his jaw in a fall at New Hampshire avenue and H street northwest. His injury was not considered serious at Emergency Hospital. During a reported scuffle with a policeman at a patrol box, Robert Compton, 21 years old, student at Georgetown University, received a fractured left arm when he fell on the ice. Policeman G. M. Stewart, of Seventh Precinct, had arrested him on a charge of disorderly conduct in a lunchroom on Pennsylvania avenue near Seventeenth street northwest.

Park officials last night permitted skating on the Lincoln Memorial Pool until 11 o'clock, and with fair and cold weather in prospect skaters may have a few more days of sport.

Salvation Army officials report that they served 400 families during the recent cold spell and are now busy caring for children in need of warm clothes and shoes.

Wisconsin Bank Robbed By Two Unmasked Men

Brodhead, Wis., Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Two unmasked young men robbed the Green County Bank of a sum estimated at $4,000 shortly after the bank opened today.

Employes were herded into a cage and forced to lie on the floor. No one could tell how the robbers escaped, as employes refrained from watching them because of threats.

Chemical Society Budget Helped Out by Garvan

Through a gift from the Chemical Foundation, of which Francis P. Garvan, of New York, former alien property custodian, is president, the American Chemical Society, with headquarters in the Mills Building here, will be able to adopt a budget for $557,525 this year, an increase of $95,000 over the normal figure.

Announcement of the gift included the statement that "without the support of Mr. and Mrs. Garvan and the Chemical Foundation, the publication of much valuable chemical knowledge would have been impossible."

You Must Order This High School Course at $2.98 Before January 31, 1930—After That Date You Must Pay $10.00

A HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATIONAL COURSE in 60 Handy Volumes—Authentic, Up-to-Date—For Home Study

$2.98 PAYMENT IN FULL — Until Jan. 31, 1930

WE have only 10,000 sets left of our 60-volume edition of the popular HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATIONAL COURSE. When these 10,000 sets are gone, the contents of these sixty handy books will be issued in two large, expensively produced clothbound volumes, to sell for $10 per set. These two large volumes, at $5 each, will contain everything that the sixty smaller volumes now contain—not a word will be omitted! We have decided to make the edition more sumptuous—and consequently more expensive—because of the tremendous impression that these worth-while books have made on the people who are clamoring for self-education.

Meanwhile, we have 10,000 sets of the 60-volume edition—60 books in handy pocket size—to sell for $2.98 per set. We are giving the public a final chance to secure this material in this convenient, low-priced form. When these 10,000 sets are gone, the 60-volume edition will be discontinued, and the HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATIONAL COURSE will be sold in two large volumes, in different (more expensive) binding, for a total cost of $10 per set. Thus, by ordering at once you actually save $7! Think of it! You get this excellent course, word for word as it will be when issued in the $10 format, for only $2.98, payment in full!

Don't let this opportunity slip by. Act while you have the chance—clip the blank and get a HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATIONAL COURSE for only $2.98—which is positively all you pay for all 60 books, as listed at the right.

SAVE $7.00

While these 10,000 sets last the price is $2.98—after these are gone the price will be $10.00 for the large edition.

Read that list of books—surely those titles are worth $2.98. Make no mistake about their usefulness—the set contains a total of 3,488 pages, aggregating 825,000 words of text, which, in the larger library form, on more expensive paper, people will soon be paying $10 to own. All you have to do is sign and mail the special blank—WITHOUT DELAY! To put off ordering this course may mean that you will not be able to get a set for this astoundingly low price. Just 10,000 sets—they will disappear fast!

More than 250,000 sets of this 60-volume edition of our HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATIONAL COURSE have been sold at $2.98 per set postpaid, more than a quarter of a million! These have gone to ambitious people everywhere in the United States and Canada, and to many foreign countries. These people continually write us such expressions of approval as, "I am pleased with the books—they are so simple, interesting and easy to understand"; or, "Congratulations on the set of books, containing the elements of a High School Education; I admire my set very much."

You must act quickly if you, too, want a set of these valuable and useful books. Cut out the blank while you think of it—if you put it off you may forget it, and you will lose this last chance to get this HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATIONAL COURSE postpaid to your address for $2.98, payment in full. And remember—we have only 10,000 sets left; when these are gone, there will be nothing available except the expensive $10 edition.

Test the Value of This Course to You! Can you answer these questions?

To find out whether these books can help you, test yourself with the following 15 questions. If you cannot answer them all, or if you are in doubt about any of them, then you can be sure that this 60-volume Educational Course will be of incalculable value to you. If you can answer them readily, and if you are certain your answers are correct, then consider all the other questions that these 60 books will answer! These fifteen questions are far too few to be a full index to all the information contained in the 60 books listed at the right. They serve only as the briefest indication of the worth of this set.

(2) What is meant by "squaring the circle"?

(4) What are the four forms of English composition?

(5) What is psychology?

(6) Who were Donatello, Cellini, Bologna, Rodin?

(7) What is the Milky Way?

(8) Who was Delilah?

(13) Who was the Roman god of war?

(14) What were the three orders of Greek architecture?

(15) What chiefly caused the U. S. Civil War?

All of these questions, and hundreds of others, are understandably answered in this 60-volume Educational Course, totaling some 825,000 words of text—and the price of 60 books is only $2.98, payable in full. This price includes the postage to your address. At such an amazingly low cost, can you honestly afford to be without a set of books which promises to be so useful and valuable to you?

Grab This Chance to Get a 60-Volume High School Course for Only $2.98, Full Payment!

NOW you can fill in those embarrassing gaps in your knowledge. Here, in 60 handy volumes which fit your pocket or handbag, you can get the essentials of the usual High School Education for only $2.98. This is positively all you pay—if you use the special order blank below before our remaining 10,000 sets are gone.

What do the words "A High School Education" mean? They mean a thorough grounding in those essentials of modern knowledge which enable a person to be the most efficient in the everyday activities of his work and of his contact with others. When it is required that a person have a High School Education, it is meant that such a person must be equpiped with a substantial background of English, History, General Literature, some Languages, Commercial Subjects (Business and Economics), Mathematics, Science and the Arts. It is expected that such a person will have his intelligence alert and trained to enable him to learn new things readily, to know where to look for facts not already in his possession; in short, to be a man or a woman aware of those fundamentals which form the basis of every education and of all culture.

Probably you have often felt the lack of knowledge you really ought to have at your command. Perhaps you did not get the most out of your school days, or possibly you were obliged to leave school before you had completed your education. Or your High School training has slipped into the past, and you are "rusty" on many subjects. Whatever the reason for the lack, you feel that the void is there—and you want to fill in the gaps! This 60-volume HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATIONAL COURSE is just the thing for you—it is comprehensive, easily understandable, thoroughly reliable and authentic, and absolutely up to date.

Whether you wish to study High School Subjects for the first time, or whether you merely wish to review your High School Education, you will find these 60 books exactly what you need. Read the list of titles carefully as listed at the right—and remember, all you pay for all 60 of these splendid books is two dollars and ninety-eight cents!

A word about this astonishing low cost—the price of $2.98 for all 60 of these books is possible, has been possible, because of mass production. These books have been bought by more than 250,000 people. The popularity of these books is irrefutable indication that they are filling a widespread need. Indeed, the price is so low that many people get the set just to have the books handy for reference. At such a price no one can afford to be without these books. In usual library form they would cost perhaps $25; in the new 2-volume cloth edition they will cost $10—but you can get the same material, word for word, in 60 pocket-sized volumes, for only $2.98 postpaid! But remember—10,000 sets are all we have. You must not delay a moment! Grab this chance NOW!

Easy to Understand

TEXTBOOKS are often dry and musty. This Educational Course will be found refreshingly different from the usual educational volume. Every book has been written with the reader constantly in mind. Every page is clear and readily understandable by the average person. No attempt is spared to provide books which every one can use to learn without the aid of an instructor.

Every book in this 60-volume set is self-teaching—that is the plan that underlies them all, to make no instructor necessary. Of course, the books are of no value unless you read them with the determination to learn. There is no royal road to knowledge just by letting your eyes run idly over the printed page! But if you have real ambition, then these are books to help you get ahead—these are books which may be of more genuine benefit to you than all four years of formal High School training.

The simplicity of these books is truly amazing. You will be gratified to find them entirely lucid in every way. No subject is kept difficult—all are presented to you so that you can get the most out of them. Just reading these books is educative to an extent that you cannot realize unless you try the experiment! Furthemore, every volume is interesting. The type is of a size to make reading easy. The authors have been interested in their subjects, and this makes it certain that those subjects are presented in a delightfully fascinating manner.

What makes some textbooks difficult for the ordinary reader is that essential facts have been left out—such facts to be supplied by the teacher. In this Educational Course every fact is inserted in the text. With attention and determination a thorough grasp can be had of the subjects represented in this course (see the complete list at the right.) It is not necessary to ask questions—every question has been foreseen and already answered by the writers who have made this set a marvel of clearness and completeness.

The actual size of the type used in these books (except the reference dictionaries) is 8-point; this is approximately the size type used in your daily newspaper. It is easy to read. Many of the books have illustrations and diagrams to make the text clearer. The books are uniformly bound in stiff covers; they are substantial and neat in appearance. The paper is good white book paper. Each book contains, as a rule, about 15,000 words, or 64 pages.

Variety of Subjects

CONSIDER for a moment the wide scope of these sixty books—think just how comprehensive they are! There are 825,000 words in these sixty volumes. They include a wonderful variety of subjects, from history and economics and literature to mathematics, foreign languages and the arts. Even commercial subjects, such as geography and typewriting, are included. You get a substantial foundation in the arts, and an insight into the great world of science. Then there are the handy reference volumes, the alphabetical dictionaries, which give you concise information just when you need it and exactly as you want it.

Four foreign languages—the languages which most English-speaking people desire to learn—are given in this set. These foreign languages are self-teaching in these handy volumes. They may be readily grasped with the aid of these books.

Everything you need is here—this series is compact and complete in itself. There are two volumes of questions and answers (quizzes) with which you may test your knowledge from time to time. There is that excellent general treatise on "How to Study"—this work alone is really worth the entire price of the set in the valuable hints it gives and in the manner in which it enables the average person to study in such a way that he will get the most possible good out of his efforts.

You will find it invaluable to have at hand many of these books which you may not use at first. Though some of the subjects may seem to you apart from your present interests, they will sooner or later come in handy. Every one, today, should have a representative library of reference to which he can turn in search of facts when he requires them. In our modern civilization, with the miracles of modern printing, knowledge is within every one's reach. There is no longer any excuse for any individual to remain in ignorance. Lack of knowledge is not tolerated. Today you must be progressively alert—keep abreast of the times—and maintain a standard of education that is on a par with the knowledge of your fellows.

Five Cents Per Subject Until January 31, 1930

You get 60 books for $2.98 as long as these 10,000 remaining sets last! This is slightly less than five cents per book—can you imagine any book treating, in a text of 15,000 words (the total words in each of these books, on the average), a subject like Grammar or Economics or U. S. History, that is not worth five cents? This High School Educational Course, in this 60-volume handy edition, is a bargain of bargains. There is nothing like it anywhere. It is unique in the field of popular education.

The authors of these sixty educational volumes were especially chosen to prepare these works so that the average person may readily assimilate their contents. In spite of the sensationally low cost of these books, they have been written by authorities in their various fields. Some of the writers who have helped to make this High School Educational Course possible are:

Professor Carroll Lane Fenton, of the University of Cincinnati; John Cowper Powys, famous lecturer and critic; Joseph McCabe, world famous scholar and author of 180 books; Lawrence A. Barrett, High School instructor of Mathematics; John S. Gambs, High School teacher; Maynard Shipley, President of the Science League of America; Lloyd E. Smith, former college English assistant; Hereward Carrington, New York scientist; J. Geo. Frederick, commercial expert; Dr. Isaac Goldberg, well known critic; Murray Sheehan, educator and novelist; Leo Markun, research student; Nelson Antrim Crawford, well known writer; Clarence Darrow, famous lawyer, etc., etc.

Thus, it is certain that every one of these books is of outstanding excellence. As a reading course this set cannot be surpassed—for the price of $2.98 you get 825,000 words of text, nearly a million words! The general editorship has been under the direction of E. Haldeman-Julius, famous for his campaigns of popular education and providing good reading at a price within reach of every Amazing as it sounds it is quite true that $2.98 is full and final payment for all 60 of the books in this High School Educational Course. There are no strings attached to this offer—$2.98 is all you pay. Think how expensive a High School education usually is in comparison—here you get 60 books for no more than one average textbook costs in school. And you dispense with the instructor altogether, you become your own teacher, learning as you read.

We pay the postage to your address on this 60-volume set. The price of $2.98 includes all charges except the small C. O. D. fee (exactly seven cents), which goes to the U. S. post office. All packing and carriage charge are otherwise fully paid. You can avoid any possible delay or inconvenience (C. O. D. packages sometimes move slower than regular parcel post, and if you are not home when the package is first delivered it may cause you a little inconvenience) by remitting $2.93 with your order. Satisfied customers everywhere guarantee the value of this set of books. You are assured of satisfaction—when you see the books you will be convinced that they are worth the bargain price of $2.98.

However, send no money with the order unless you wish to. We shall be glad to send the books C. O. D. if you prefer. Just mail the blank and pay the postman on delivery. Prompt service guaranteed.

Ten Extra Volumes

During our campaign for self-education, with our 60-volume HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATIONAL COURSE, we are including 10 additional volumes with each set—the set originally contained only 50 volumes—at no extra cost to the public. This is an indication of our intention to give every purchaser of this course full value for the money he invests in these books. Now 60 volumes make up this complete course, as listed at the extreme right of this advertisement. Notice how thoroughly comprehensive they are, and what a surprising variety of subject matter they cover. Yet the price is only $2.98 for all sixty books—surely this is a bargain if there ever was one. Understand this clearly—$2.98 is all you pay; there are no monthly installments, no further payments whatever. When you pay $2.98 this set of books becomes yours, fully paid for. All you have to do is use the blank before our small supply of 10,000 sets is exhausted. We strongly urge you to act at once—otherwise, you may be disappointed. You have no time to lose. Mail the blank today.

Lary, Reese MayBeN.Y. Regulars

Lazzeri Would Shift to Third Base Under Present Plan.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

OTEN baseball managers do things which are beyond the understanding of fans, or of any one else, for that matter, but generally the managers brave enough to play their hunches have been in the saddle for some time, have already made their reputations as capable leaders and thus can afford to take a chance. "Bob, the Gob" Shawkey, newly appointed manager of the Yankees, is planning to risk his reputation as a leader even before he has made one, if reports of a "confidential" conversation he recently had with a close friend may be taken at face value.

Shawkey, according to information received here, plans on restaging the former "brother act" of Lary and Reese, which took so well in 1927 and 1928 when staged on the diamonds of the Pacific Coast League. "Bob, the Gob's" idea, which is quite revolutionary, is that Lary would be a brilliant shortstop if the other half of the second-base combination was one that he had been used to working with. Consequently, it is said that, playing this hunch, he plans to make the necessary changes in his New York infield for 1930 to have Jimmy Reese at the keystone sack.

Lary and Reese Stars on Coast.

Lary and Reese, it will be remembered, formed a brilliant second-base team on the coast in 1927 and 1928, being especially adept at turning in double plays. So well did they work together that major league scouts ranked them as a Damon-Pythias of the diamond and literally fought for their services. After all bids were in it was found that that of the Yankees of $125,000 was the highest and the two were purchased for 1929 delivery.

Meanwhile, Reese faltered so perceptibly that the Yankees decided not to ask him to report, and he continued on the coast, while Lary was getting his big league chance last season. The latter showed rare promise. Last year he hit for an average of .307, poling out 9 doubles, 2 triples and 5 homers. Afield he loomed large, making many fine stops and giving every indication that he was a "find." However, he failed to click with Tony Lazzeri, and Shawkey believes that, with Reese back on the job at second, Lary will prove to be the best shortfielder in the business. And so it is on the books for Reese to play second this season, so the story goes.

To the man on the outside looking in it appears as though Shawkey would be flirting with fate to make a move of this kind, especially as he is not sure that Reese is of major league caliber or that putting him on second might prove more costly to the team than would be gained by Lary's improvement—if he does improve.

With Reese at second, Lazzeri is to be shifted to third, according to reports. Tony is understood to have asked Shawkey to give him a chance at the hot corner, but, if he draws this assignment, it will mean keeping Bernie Chapman on the bench—and the lad is coming up to the big time again with a much greater reputation, both as a hitter and fielder, than is borne by Reese.

Stage Is Set For Primo Tonight

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.
Special to The Washington Post.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Primo Carnera, the large Italian pugilist, who eats so much that he thought it his patriotic duty to leave Italy, will make his first appearance in America Friday evening after three weeks on Broadway during which he learned such American words as goneff, kibitzer and kishkis. His adversary for his inaugural performance at the Garden will be one Clayton (Big Boy) Peterson, a chap who wears horizontal creases across his anatomy, wrought there by his habit of folding up.

Clayton (Big Boy) Peterson was selected to oppose Primo by the New York prize fight commissioners after a thorough canvass of the applicants for the assignment, on the ground that he would not be likely to hurt Primo and would be reasonably certain to fold himself away like a disappearing bed before Primo could hurt him.

It seems that Big Boy is supposed to fold at the first touch on a sensitive spot and the gossip of the trade has it that he is sensitive all over. Whether this is accurate information or not—and Mr. Peterson says it is greatly exaggerated—the fact remains that the New York prize fight commissioners deemed it so when they selected Clayton (Big Boy) Peterson. If it is true, the artistic success of Mr. Carnera's first performance in this land is assured, and he will go on to provide further profits for his large group of imported and domestic managers and the Madison Square Garden Corporation.

Overcharge Restricted To Five Dollars.

The prize fight commissioners seemed to realize that their nominee, Peterson, would not be likely to entertain the customers for any extended time so they stipulated that the Garden Corporation must not charge any customer more than $5 to witness the unveiling of the mastodonic European circus hand whose managers state that he lost his job with the circus for slapping the elephants around.

Primo has been taking boxing lessons in private from Honest Abe Attell, the old featherweight champion, and Mr. Pete (the Goat) Stone, one of his domestic managers, states that he has been stepping about with feline grace and [illegible].

"He is only a big, good-natured kid," Mr. Stone reported, "with just enough of the tiger in him to make him dangerous when aroused. We have been calling him names to arouse him, but personally I have had nothing to do with this because I do not drink, smoke or swear.

Poundage Is Money in Managers' Pockets.

Mr. Stone tells your correspondent that owing to Primo's enormous size it has been possible to allot shares of him to a great many managers and still leave some for Primo himself. I do not quite follow his explanation, not being quick at figures, but he said Primo had four managers, each owning a 15 per cent share, and still retained a controlling interest in himself.

"With a fellow as big as that," Mr. Stone added, "you could take in ten managers at 15 per cent each and not use him up. That is the advantage of digging up a 285-pounder. With ordinary heavyweights you are lucky if you get 100 per cent."

Mr. Peterson is in a fine situation for an out-of-town boy with a previously unsuspected punch, for Primo presents such a large target that it is almost impossible to miss him and Honest Abe Attell has been prodding his knee caps with wicked left jabs all week, sometimes followed by a well-timed right uppercut to the ankle. Students of pugilism who visit the cauliflower beds of the old world extending their knowledge, advise your correspondent that Primo's wrath under fire has been overstated, insisting, in fact, that he has a tendency to advance rapidly to the rear when poked anywhere on the great vacant acreage of his countenance.

Did All His Blocking With Chin.

I recall seeing Mr. Peterson one day a few years ago inflicting furious abuse on a mildewed derelict of the roped arena who seemed to be in a permanent state of coma. The bout was a practice exercise and the comatose sparring partner did all his blocking with his chin, so I may have received an exaggerated notion of Big Boy's right hand punch when the unfortunate stray finally succumbed.

But Primo's chin is very inviting and even the common customers in the garden lobby have been eyeing it longingly as though fascinated by the idea of trying one punch to see if he can take it. However, this has been left for Clayton (Big Boy) Peterson and there will be the utmost confusion among Primo's board of managers, imported and domestic, Friday evening, if he lets one fly and renders the guest artist insensible in his first American appearance.

2,000 Watch C.U. Boxers Win, 5-2

By JACK ESPEY.

A GOOD assortment of left jabs, right crosses and round-house wallops executed by Catholic University's boxers proved far more impressive in the eyes of the judges than the wrestling, holding, shoving, rabbit-punching tactics of the Temple University team last night in the seven-bout program that opened the Capital collegiate ring season in the Brookland Gymnasium before a formally dressed crowd of 2,000 persons. The decision went to the Brookland team, 5 to 2.

Had the Owls from Philadelphia been disposed to fight rather than try to avoid being hurt, the night's entertainment might have proved more thrilling to the plain ring fan. As it was, however, there was plenty to gratify home team adherents. Of the five individual victories of the Cardinals, four were scored by the veterans of last year's team—Capt. Jack Malevich, Rocco Blasi, Harry DiGiacomo and Johnny DePasquale, while the fifth was registered by Tom McCabe, who made his first appearance in any ring.

It was the second year in a row that Catholic defeated Temple by a 5-2 count, and for the second time Blasi, C. U. welterweight, outpointed Irving Kutcher in the most interesting, evenly-contested bout.

De Pasquale Wins By Body Blows.

Kutcher, acting captain of the Owls, exhibited a dynamic right hand which scored many points in his favor with clean blows to Blasi's face and body, but Blasi had a fine right of his own and a stinging left, in addition, which turned the decision his way. An extra round was required to settle this scrap.

Temple's victories were scored at the expense of two C. U. novices, Jim McGuire and Ross Zeno. The former fell an easy victim of Irwin DeMar, while Zeno lost a close bout to Joe Haubrick.

Capt. Malevich defeated Abe Solfer, Temple heavyweight, in spite of being hampered by a sprained thumb and a weak knee which was injured during the late football season. To ringsiders it appeared as if Malevich had earned the decision at the conclusion of the usual three rounds, but the judges ordered an extra one.

De Pasquale sent Catholic off to an auspicious start in the bantamweight fray by beating a tatoo on the ribs of Pete Dalessander. The little Cardinal fighter took several jolting rights on the jaw, but his body blows were more effective.

By WALTER B. CLAUSEN.

AGUA CALIENTE, Lower California, Mexico, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Ten thousand dollars was pocketed by Gene Sarazen, of New York, tonight for four days of golf here. It was the biggest money purse ever offered in tournament play. He galloped into leadership of the Agua Caliente open, just like he broke into fame in 1922.

Coming from behind, he established the course record here with a 68, but, instead of just taking a one-stroke lead like he did in the 1922 national open from Bobby Jones and Jesse Black at Skokie, Chicago, today he passed up Horton Smith, of Joplin, Mo., and Al Espinosa, of Chicago, by two strokes.

The ups and downs of the four days on this new and treacherous course, was much like the ups and downs across the highway on the green baize of the roulette and other gaming tables. Perhaps the jingle of the silver dollars and chips at night, crossed in with the mental jingle of the $10,000 first award, may have jingled the nerves of the 52 professionals who were playing with 6 amateurs in the most colorful of all golf tournaments.

Winnings Come High In Pay-Off.

Gene Sarazen, New York, $10,000; score, 295.
Horton Smith, Joplin, $3,750; 297.
Al Espinosa, Chicago, $3,750; 297.
Olin Dutra, Santa Monica, $1,250; 298.
Mortie Dutra, Tacoma, $1,250; 298.
MacDonald Smith, N. Y., $750; 299.
Al Watrous, Detroit, $650; 300.
Henry Ciucl, Bridgeport, $450; 302.
Bobby Cruickshank, N. Y., $375; 304.
Charles Guest, Los Angeles, $375; 304.
Paul Runyon, Little Rock, $225; 305.
John Farrell, St. Augustine, Fla., $225; 305.
Harry Cooper, Buffalo, $200; 306.
Neil Christian, Portland, Oreg., $200; 306.
Leo Diegel, Agua Caliente, $200; 306.
Abe Espinosa, Chicago, $200; 306.
Neil McIntyre, Indianapolis, $100; 307.
John Golden, Paterson, $100; 307.
Walter Murray, Gary, Ind., $100; 307.
Ed Dudley, Wilmington, $100; 307.

That's what some people get for playing golf, and, of course, there are those tonight who feel like many others in this salubrious Mexican climate that Dame Luck has just turned against them. Take Walter Hagen, of Detroit, for instance. He came here with the record of $80 won in tournament played this year, and failed to change that record. And there were others, too, as the final list of standings appended here reveals.

But to get back to golf itself, here is the way the stocky little winner of the biggest prize yet offered came in today, to collect his $10,000:

Par in .....435443454—36—71
Sarazen .....645443244—36—68

Noting that he was two over on the tenth and one over on the eleventh, it is evident that Gene was playing golf. On three preceding days he rambled through the rain-soaked course Monday and driving wind Tuesday and Wednesday with a 75—73—79. But the fair weather today and his grit soothed the heartache of yesterday's 79.

Horton Smith Gets $3,750.

The Joplin youngster, Horton Smith, despite his 21 years, being the best money winner in golf, had to be satisfied with $3,750 today, and this is why:

Smith out ....443443453—34
In .....645443454—39—73

Al Espinosa split the second and third money with Horton Smith by a card of 73 today.

Low cards brings up the other matter of this tournament, the amateurs. There was the blond George Von Elm, of Detroit, internationally known. He played a brilliant game today, four birdies helping him to card of 70, one under par. He and Sarazen were the only ones to break par on this new course. His card:

Von Elm, out 544443454—36
In .....435443454—34—70

George was among the six high with his 298, and had he been a professional he would have taken $1,250 home instead of the silver-fitted traveling case.

Johnny Dawson, Chicago amateur, also placed himself in the playing range of money winners, making the 72 holes in 306, bracketed with those who got a $200 check each.

The scores:

V. P. I. OFFERS TEST TO N. C. MITTMEN

Winner Over Virginia Stamps Poly as Dangerous Foe.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Jan. 23.—The Tar Heel boxers, with veterans available for six of seven posts, will meet one of their strongest opponents in their opening meet here Saturday night.

Virginia Poly is to furnish the opposition. The Gobblers are very much in the limelight as a result of a 5-2 win over Virginia. Virginia was previously rated as one of the South's best outfits.

Now it looks as if the Gobblers may be one of the biggest hurdles in the way of Carolina's repeating its championship campaign of last year, and interest in this Saturday night meet is running high as a result.

The Tar Heels presented six veterans to Washington and Lee last week-end and opened their season auspiciously with a 5-2 win.

Sheffield and Koenig Try Comebacks.

Harry Sheffield, 125-pounder, lost a close decision, and Bill Koenig, heavyweight, went down as a result of a collision with the floor, caused by a wild haymaker, after he had his opponent all but out.

Both men will be fighting hard for comebacks, and the other five will be striving to keep up their winning records.

What with the unusual interest in the meet and the new comfort of the Tin Can, as a result of the new heating system, university athletic authorities are expecting and planning for a record boxing crowd.

19 Exhibition Games For Cincinnati Reds

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—The Cincinnati Red will leave for their spring training camp at Orlando, Fla., March 1, Sidney Weil, president, announced today. During the six weeks' training the Reds will play nineteen exhibition games, taking on American League clubs in nine encounters and the other ten combats with the American Association and Southern League teams.

The schedule:

March 16, Detroit at Tampa; 17, New York Yankees at St. Petersburg; 19, Philadelphia Athletics at Orlando; 21, Philadelphia Athletics at Fort Meyers; 22-23, Athletics at Miami; 26, Columbus at Orlando; 28, Columbus at Lakeland; 29, Detroit at Orlando.

April 1-2, at Atlanta; 3, at Birmingham; 5-6, at Nashville; 8-9-10, at Louisville; 12-13, Cleveland at Cincinnati.

All-American Finals In Canadian Tennis

Marion Turpie Plans Mrs. Jones in Florida

Edgewater Park, [illegible], Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Mrs. Melvin Jones, of Chicago, Olympia Fields champion and former Western titlist, will meet Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake, New Orleans, the South's foremost woman golfer, in the 36-hole final of the Pan-American Women's Amateur Golf Tournament on the Edgewater Golf Course tomorrow.

Mrs. Jones, playing better golf than she has in any tourney in the last two or three years, easily conquered Mrs. Ralph W. Connors, The Dells, up a new season set mark of 1,812. The previous set record of 1,782 was Mrs. Lake defeated Mrs. Ruth Reymond, of Baton Rouge, former Southern champion, 4 and 3, in the upper bracket.

Independent Teams Form Court League

Seven self-styled crusaders in the cause of basket ball freedom last night shed the socalled tyrannical yoke of the District of Columbia A. A. U. and formed the Independent Basket Ball League, unfettered by amateurism.

Eight clubs were announced by the league's sponsors at having joined the circuit, but a denial that came from the national circles at a late hour last night, reduced the list to seven. Further withdrawals last night were not announced. The teams that will join in the professional circuit with the Skinner aEgles are: French F. C., W. H. West Co., St. Mary's Celtics, Knight's Store Five, Silver Spring Giants and Prince Georges All Stars.

After the meeting the managers adjourned to wintess in a body a game between two A. A. U. teams for the Community Center title.

"Pop" Dulin, Friend Of School Sports, Dies

News that Edmund M. ("Pop") Dulin had died Wednesday night at the Emergency Hospital, was received with saddened hearts by thousands of high school followers yesterday who had come to know him intimately at interhigh athletic functions ever since they can remember.

Until the opening of the current basket ball series, "Pop" has rarely missed a game or contest between the high schools, being conspicuous everywhere with his "rooting for all" tactics and his pregame predictions. The sight of "Pop" leading the cheers in front of a student body brought forth a thrill which none in the stands failed to feel. Always backing the high school teams in their competition against other institutions, "Pop" was impartial in his liking of the five schools, having no favorite.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the deceased's home, 1270 New Hampshire avenue northwest.

NAVY TEAMS TO BE BUSY TOMORROW

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 23.—Athletes of the Naval Academy and the University of Pennsylvania will have a red-letter day of competition Saturday. Varsity and freshmen swimmers and water poloists of the two institutions will engage in their annual meets in the big pool at the Naval Academy in the afternoon, while Navy's varsity basket ball team will travel to Philadelphia for a return game with the Quakers to be staged in the Palestra at night.

Though realizing that they will have a rough road to hoe, the Middies are hoping that they will be able to hit the proper pace to avenge the defeat by 2 points suffered at the hands of the Red and Blue on January 15.

Swimming and water polo will attract a deal of interest, although the Quakers have been beaten regularly by the Sailors for several years. Other contests on the home program for the Tars will be a fencing match with Penn Athletic Club; wrestling with North Carolina University, this being the opening of the season in the mat sport here; basket ball between the Plebes and Central High, of Washington, and a small-bore rifle match with Georgetown.

Schmeling Will Fight Sharkey-Scott Winner

Miami, Fla., Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, will meet the winner of the Jack Sharkey-Phil Scott fight in the Yankee Stadium, New York, June 26, Johnny Buckley, manager of Sharkey, announced here tonight.

"An understanding with Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, has been arranged for such a bout," Buckley said. "Since New York boxing officials do not recognize Jacobs, an agreement has been made whereby Schmeling, upon his arrival in New York, will sign his own contract. The fight will be under the auspices of Madison Square Garden."

Sharkey and Scott meet here under teh direction of the Garden on February 27.

Cochran Takes Lead In Kieckhefer Match

New York, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Welker Cochran, of Hollywood, took the lead in his special three-cushions billiards match with Augie Kieckhefer, of Chicago. The score tonight favored Cochran, 400 to 389.

Cochran won both blocks today, 51 to 50 in 46 innings and 51 to 39 in 54 innings. Cochran's high run this afternoon was 7, tonight, 5. Kieckhefer's best clusters were 6 and 4.

C. U. CUB FIVE WINS FROM EASTERN

SENT into the game for the first time at the beginning of the last period yesterday the regulars of Eastern High's basket ball squad failed to hang on to a 4-point lead presented them at that time, and for the second time this season were forced to bow to the Catholic University yearlings, 33 to 30, in the Lincoln Park Gymnasium.

Playing his "ponies" for three periods of the game, Coach Guyon had the satisfaction of seeing his boys lead their older and larger opponents throughout the first 30 minutes of the battle. Getting off to a fast start, the high school lads were always in the van and left the floor at the end of the first half with a 15-13 advantage.

Coming back just as strong after the resumption of play, the "ponies" outscored the Cardinal Freshmen again in the third period, and when the next ten minutes of play were completed were on the long end of a 24-20 score. Two of the smallest members of the "lightweight special," Danny Kesaler and Kenny Finneran, led the assault, with the former counting 9 points with the aid of three field goals and the same number of fouls.

Whalen Sends Cards Into Lead.

However, with the entrance of the Eastern "shock troops" the Catholic lads quickly came to life, and when Whalen finally shoved the ball through the net to give the Cards a 29-28 lead, were never headed. Along with Spinnelli, Whalen proved one of the highlights of the winning combination, the pair scoring 24 points between them.

Grantland Rice Wins Way to Golf Finals

Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Grantland Rice and Jefferson MacHamer, Sandy Point, Long Island, will battle it out here tomorrow for the artists and writers championship.

Rice defeated Fontaine Fox, cartoonist, 4 and 3, in the semifinals today, while MacHamer turned back Hal Evans, New York, 1 up. Rice is favored to retain the championship which he won last year.

Tolley Hopes to Play In U. S. Championships

New York, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Unless his business interferes, Cyril Tolley, British amateur golf champion, expects to compete in both the United States amateur and open championships this year. Tolley's business now keeps him in the United States a large part of the year and will give him the opportunity to compete unless it is pressing too hard at the time the major tournaments take place.

"I am looking forward especially to the open," he said yesterday, "for as yet I have never competed in one of your national open championships."

He expects to return to England April 30 to take part in the Walker cup matches, if he is chosen for the British team, and in the British championships, but will return later in the summer.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

Answered By LEO DIEGEL

Canadian Open, San Diego Open, Massachusetts Open, Metropolitan P. G. A. Qualifying Medal, P. G. A. Championship, 1928; Tied for Long Beach Open, 1928; San Diego Open, 1929.

The average beginner's set should consist of just enough to get him into the proper swing with all the clubs. Driver, brassie, midiron, mashie, niblick and putter should be sufficient. To this may be added later the spoon, driving iron, and mashie niblick, the latter for short pitch shots.

Too many clubs will only confuse the beginner, who will learn their place in the game only after a considerable number of missed shots. The best advice is to use as few clubs as practical, to become familiar with them, and add new ones only as one's game develops.

Closing Rally Gains Lead In League

Buscher and Banta Keep A.A.U. Champions in Game.

JOE CANAVIN, a substitute, and Buddy Timmons, center, sent the Potomac Boat Club into undisputed possession of first place in the Community Center League last night at the Central High Gym, when they came through with vital scores in the waning seconds of play to give their team a 21-18 victory over the hitherto undefeated Woltz Photographers.

Inserted for Wiler, who was banned from the game in the third quarter on four personal fouls, Canavin sent the ball through the net in one of the prettiest "snowbirds" of the night late in the fourth, which brought his team from one point in the rear to a 17-16 advantage. Timmons then came through with a long shot to give his team a 3-point lead.

Undaunted, however, the Photographers again crept dangerously close when Bill Banta counted his only goal of the evening to make the score 19-18. The Photographers were unable to score again though, and as the whistle blew a ball from Timmons' hands swished through the net to give the Boat Club its final margin.

Timmons Makes Twelve Points.

Altogether, it was quite a night for Timmons, who led both teams in scoring with five field goals and two fouls for a total of 12 points. Not only aiding his team in this way, Timmons also effectively guarded aJck Forney to keep the Woltz center from registering more than 3 points throughout the evening.

Although Woltz got off to a 5-0 lead early in the game, the oBat Club overcame this advantage in the second quarter and at half-time was leading, 9-7. Holding this lead throughout the third period, it was not until the final ten minutes of playh ad begun that the score again changed hands. Then Bucky Buscher, who played great ball for the losers, once more gave his team the lead with a long shot which it held until Canavin came through with his stunt.

Another game in the league tonight may have a bearing on the final disposition of the title. The Mount Vernons meet the Petworth Mets at MacFarland Junior High at 9 o'clock and if victorious can create a three-cornered tie for first place by beating the Potomacs in an approaching game. The Mount Vernons lost by only one point to Woltz.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BOBBY POWERS, $16.40, $4.60, $3.10; COBY, $2.70, $2.40; CUT STEEL, $2.80.

BOBBY POWERS showed speed from the start and, holding on gamely, came again to outstay COBY after appearing beaten. COBY was away well and held off the early pace, but tired after getting to the front in the stretch. CUT STEEL raced wide, but came from far out of it. FATTIE LOUISE showed a good effort, finishing well. STAR came fast from a slow start. MAY MAHONEY moved up with a rush on the back stretch, but encountered deep going and tired badly.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:31½. Off at 2:41. Winner, F. Swain's br. c. (3), by Supremus—Sandy Land. Two-dollar mutuels paid—CORAL BEACH, $13.50, $4.10, $3.70; JOAN K., $3.30, $3.00; ZEVE'S GOLD, $5.50.

CORAL BEACH raced as if much the best, moving up with a cyclonic rush after the first quarter and, passing up JOAN K., won as he pleased. JOAN K. set a fast pace and, holding on fairly well, but was outclassed. ZEVE'S GOLD, slow to leave the barrier, made up much ground and showed a promising effort. VICKSBURG tired. AIMEE GOLDSMITH was outrun all the way. SOUTHLAND BELLE acted badly at the post, showed a high flight of speed for half a mile, then folded up.

THIRD RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:02½. Off at 3:05. Winner, J. O. Savree's b. h. Two-dollar mutuels paid—FORCE, $9.40, $6.00, $4.00; ISOSTASY, $6.60, $5.50; QUIBBLER, $3.80.

FORCE, showing a liking for the rough track and well handled, was taken back off the early pace, saved ground entering the stretch, but weakened in the final drive. QUIBBLER was with the leaders to the last furlong, when he tired. ROCKWAY ran a good race. JIM M'MAHON held on well all the way. MILES PRIOR was slow to start.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200. The Fairview Handicap. For 2-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:31½. Off at 3:34. Winner, A. P. Canale's ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MOLE HILL, $13.30, $4.90, $3.20; KLINGSTONE, $4.30, $5.00; STAR O' MORN, $4.00.

MOLE HILL, outrun early, saved ground while working his way up in the final three-eighths and, under strong handling, was just up in time. KLINGSTONE, reserved close up, finished stoutly. STAR O' MORN raced well up throughout and was going well at the end. LEYLAND tired after showing early speed. WAR TIME quit badly in the stretch.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:31. Off at 4:32. Winner, F. P. Letellier's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BORDER CHIEF, $13.20, $5.40, $3.10; HERENDEEN, $2.80, $3.10; WALTER R., $2.20.

BORDER CHIEF, rated off the early pace, moved up stoutly entering the stretch and, taking the lead, outstayed HERENDEEN in a long, hard drive. HERENDEEN moved up strong entering the stretch, but was outfinished. WALTER R. tired in final drive. BRAGGADOCIO had no mishaps. HIGH STORM quit after settling the early pace.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start bad. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:01. Off at 5:09. Winner, F. P. Letellier's b. h. (5), by Tail Timber—Arrogance. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $750; second, $172.50; third, $90; fourth, $25. Time, 0:26, 0:51, 1:17, 1:43, 1:50.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—OREGON FIR, $18.60, $9.60, $4.10; MODERATION, $12.00, $5.80; NICODEMUS, $2.80.

OREGON FIR, racing in his best form, was rated along under close-up restraint to the stretch, where he took command handily and outstayed MODERATION. The latter, much used in racing RAUCONA into submission, held on well in the final drive. NICODEMUS, outrun early, finished fast on the inside. RAUCONA tired after setting the early pace. GOLD RIDGE quit after racing forwardly to the stretch.

IMPORTANT GAMES IN SCHOLASTIC SERIES TODAY

Central Plays Eastern in Opener

Tech Faces Elimination in 2d Contest With Business.

Eastern Seeks Revenge for Earlier Defeat by Central.

ONLY one thing is certain about this afternoon's play in the interhigh basket ball series that enters its second round at 3:45 o'clock in the Tech High Gymnasium.

There will be two games, with Central playing Eastern in the opener and Tech meeting Business in the nightcap. That, and that alone, is the only reliable substance of any forecast which may be made regarding the two games.

There are no favorites, and there are none "picked" to win. Past performances mean absolutely nothing—for they have been proven to mean absolutely nothing so far in the current series. Comparison of teams on paper have proven even less, so that there is not one definite method left of deciding the better team before the game.

The percentage of the so-called "dope" to accurately forecast the results has been lower than a moron's average on a college examination, and the times that the ultimate winner has been picked before the game may be counted on the fingers of one hand.

Tech Beat Western; Central Routed Tech.

Just one example is necessary to illustrate the fallacy of figuring out Tech beat Western and Central swamped Tech, all of which seemed to indicate that Central would be able to do just about as it pleased with Western. And what happened? Western did just about as it pleased with Central, doubling the score on the Blue and White to win, 36-18.

And so it has been throughout the series, with the "favorite" being knocked off so consistently that the term "upset" has come to be the most conspicuous word in the papers.

At present, Central is tied for the lead with Western, having a record of three games won and one lost. Eastern, on the other hand, is tied for the lowest position in the race with Business, having won only one game while losing three. On paper, Central should win, but as this is 1930, an Eastern triumph should occasion no surprise.

Central Won Earlier Clash.

When the two clashed in the opening game of the series a fortnight ago, Central, then not regarded as a championship threat, defeated the Lincoln Parkers, 29 to 25. Eastern will endeavor to avenge that humiliation today.

Tech, still defending champion until definitely dethroned, will attempt to trim the Business Quintet in payment for the 37-to-26 lacing administered to it by the Stenogs on the first day of the race, while Business will be fighting to keep from being further eliminated in the race than it stands already. Although defeated three times already in the championship race, Business is still clinging to that mathematical chance which keeps it in the running.

District Chess Tourney To Start on February 1

The District chess championship tournament to be held under the auspices of the Washington Chess Federation has been scheduled to start February 1, it was announced last night. The tourney is to be an open affair. A $10 entry fee will be posted by each entrant with W. Stark at the City Club.

I. S. Turover, a prominent figure in national chess circles, has donated a silver cup to become the permanent possession of the first player to win the title three successive years. Cash prizes will go to the winner and runner-up. Play will be held each Saturday at the City Club until the championship is decided. The title matches will be open to the public.

Knights Five Defeats Altoona Team, 23-18

The Knights Store Five last night defeated the Altoona Overlands at Alexandria, 23 to 18, with Rush contributing the chief punch for the victors and Kearny and Lands sharing the honors for the Pennsylvanians.

In the preliminary attraction, the Hoffman Buddies defeated the Winchester Girls Sextet, 23 to 10.

Brown Nine Will Play Twenty Games in Spring

Providence, Jan. 22.—Brown University this season will attempt to regain the prestige it enjoyed for many years in baseball under the leadership of Jack Kelleher, former assistant coach at Harvard, who succeeds Jean Dubuc, as coach of the Bruins. Kelleher, who recently underwent an operation, expects to start work early in February.

Battery material is scarce, and the new coach will find this his greatest problem. Infield and outfield material is fairly good. Incidentally, Brown, it is said, will follow the usual custom of having the coach direct plays from the bench. Twenty games have been scheduled.

Maryland Normal Five Faces Gallaudet Tonight

Having dropped their last two games, Gallaudet's Blues will strive to return to winning form tonight when they meet the Maryland State Normal Five in the Kendall Green gymnasium at 8 o'clock. This is the only local collegiate basket ball game here tonight. The visiting team has appeared here twice previously, losing to American University, 37-21, and bowing to Catholic University, 22-20.

Gallaudet also will see action tomorrow night, entertaining the Milton College of Pharmacy Team, of Baltimore, which it defeated earlier in the season by a count of 43 to 13. Tomorrow night's program includes games at the Hilltop and College Park, Georgetown playing Mount St. Mary's and Maryland engaging Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

Rosenberg, Hurt, Forced Out of Pin Sweepstakes

Star, Trailing by 11 Pins, Sprains Ankle in Fall on Ice.

By R. J. ATKINSON.

WITH bright prospects of sharing in the prize money of the Howard Campbell Sweepstakes for the first time, Maxie Rosenberg, the Temple star, who is holding sixth place, just 11 pins back of the leader, has been forced out of further competition with a sprained ankle, sustained Wednesday when he slipped on an icy street in avoiding being run down by an automobile. Two physicians have informed Rosenberg that he will be unable to bowl in the final block of the fifteen-game bowling event at King Pin, No. 1, on Saturday night.

Although suffering much physical pain as the result of the sprain, the Temple ace is even more affected by the realization that his first serious bid for the sweepstakes championship is to be lost on the eve of the final stand. In three previous events Maxie has failed to hit his usual stride, although always a dangerous contender. He has held a secret ambition to win a sweepstakes title and the fat purse that goes with it.

Selection of Substitute Is Problem.

Now that his long-sought goal is within striking distance, the ranking star is to be shunted to the sidelines. Selecting a substitute will offer another problem for Maxie, who plans to wait until the last minute before the start of the final block Saturday night before deciding whether he will take the drives in spite of his handicap and the possible additional injury that he might cause himself. Two prominent bowlers are being considered by Maxie as his proxy, but he plans to refrain from naming either until he is certain that he can not carry on.

Maxie is the second sweepstakes contender to retire from combat after the start. Arthur Logan, who has been ill since the first block, will be unable to roll again Saturday night. He is confined to his home and although on the way to recovery, will be unable to get back into action for several weeks. Jack Williams, the veteran pinman who took up Logan's burden last week will carry on into the final block Saturday night.

Paulie Harrison, who is in second place and shares with Georgie Friend the favoritism of the fans striving to pick a winner, is again in top-notch shape after an illness of several days. The majority of fans are naming George and Paul to wage a spirited stretch battle for the winning and runner-up purses. More conservative dopesters are giving any one of the first 25 contestants a chance to collect the top money.

21—Billheimer, Schroth, Friend.
22—Work, Barnard, Talbert.
24—Clarke, C. Wolfe, Goodall, Santini.
25—Megraw, Linstrom, Schecter, Morgan.

Texas Making Plans For March 28 Relays

Preliminary plans to welcome the most imposing array of track and field stars that the Southwest has ever seen assembled are being made by athletic authorities at the University of Texas. The occasion will be the sixth annual Texas relays, an event that has attracted international attention, and the athletes will gather at Austin on March 28.

Every university and college in the country, as well as the University of Mexico, are on the list for invitations to be mailed shortly, and high schools in every section, particularly those in Texas, also will be asked to participate.

World-famous track stars are expected to compete, according to Dr. H. J. Ettlinger, athletic director of the University of Texas, among them Adrien Paulen, Netherlands star, who has indicated that he would like to become affiliated with the university either as an athletic coach or as a teacher.

The athletes who take part in the Texas competition likely will appear in Dallas the next day for the second annual Southern Methodist University relay games.

SHORTS IN FOX FILM AID STOCK TURNOVER

3,229,290 Shares Traded in Liveliest Day Yet of New Year.

CARRIERS REMAIN FIRM

New York, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—A stampede of shorts in Fox Film gave the bear crowd its worst scare of the month today and boosted the stock market out of the narrow trading range in which it has been languishing for a fortnight.

After the close of the market, Bethlehem Steel Corporation published its annual and fourth-quarter earnings statements. Profit for the final quarter showed but moderate contraction from the record levels of the two previous quarters, despite the disturbing influence of autumn stock market panic. The results from the entire year, showing net profit of about $11 per common share, calculated on the total now outstanding, set a new peace time record, and inspired optimistic predictions as to United States Steel report, due next week.

Wall street was somewhat disappointed that the Bank of England again announced no change in its 5 per cent rate, which again proved an accurate guide to the action of the directors of the New York Reserve Bank, meeting later in the day, on its 4½ per cent rate. In the excitement of the bear episode in Fox, and the appearance of the Bethlehem figures, however, this disappointment was soon forgotten. The market was the liveliest so far this year, although the turnover of 3,229,290 shares was unimpressive in the light of last year's experiences.

Brokers' Loans Decline.

The weekly brokerage loan figures showed a negligible decline of only $24,000,000, but nothing interesting had been indicated by recent sluggish action of the market. It was notable, however, that corporate and private funds were again coming into the call loan market, while bank funds were being withdrawn. The Federal Reserve condition statements showed further strengthening of reserve position. Call loan rates were unchanged, ruling at 4½ per cent, but again sagging to 4 in the afternoon.

The near panic in Fox Film "A" caused a turnover of more than half the total issue of 820,660 outstanding shares. To rush to cover short commitments was precipitated by a report that Mr. Fox had agreed upon turning over his interests to a new trusteeship in connection with which such august names as Charles E. Hughes and John W. Davis were mentioned. This report was not borne out however, when the corporation was ordered to show cause in Federal court next week why a receiver should not be appointed. The stock was bid up 11 points in an enormous turnover to 34, quickly dropped back to about 25, then rallied to close at 27½.

Shorts in the merchandising, chemical, copper and other shares were frightened into covering. The steel shares were strong in anticipation of the Bethlehem statement. Rails were fairly firm, but it was notable that utilities, motors and oils failed to participate notably in the advance. The price index of 90 leading stocks showed a net gain of only 1.6 points, despite sharp gains in selected issues, such recent favorites as the farm implements and amusements were in continued demand. The advance Rumely shares were buoyant on rumors of negotiations for a merger with Allis Chalmers.

Chesapeake & Ohio Gains.

Shares gaining about 3 to 5 points included United States Steel, Air Reduction, Chesapeake & Ohio, Colorado Fuel, Eastman Kodak, General Electric, Loose-Wiles, J. C. Penney, Safeway Stores and Industrial Alcohol. Underwood Elliott mounted about 6 and J. I. Case 7 points. Western Union and Endicott Johnson each lost a couple of points.

Leading commodities sagged. Wheat futures lost about a cent a bushel on bearish weather forecasts and slackening of export demand. Corn lost nearly as much, reflecting large receipts. Cotton lost about 50 cents a bale on lower Liverpool cables, after failing to respond to the light ginnings report.

Foreign exchanges were irregular. Dutch guilders reached a new low for the month. Sterling cables rallied 1-16 to $4.86⅝ on retention of the 8 per cent London bank rate.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Wheat values here headed downgrade today, influenced by nearly complete halt in North American wheat export business simultaneous with much enlarged shipments from Argentina. Besides, for the first time in months, Canadian farmers' deliveries of wheat at country points were larger than a year ago. On the other hand, the export basis for domestic wheat at the Gulf of Mexico held firmly today at the best premiums asked so far this season.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were nervous, ⅝c to 1¼c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅝c to 1⅝c down, and oats ½c@¾c to ¼@⅝c off, with provisions varying from 5c setback to a small advance.

Counting at times as a disturbing influence on Chicago wheat proces today was a weakness in the Winnipeg market. In this connection, it was noticed that the Canadian government's final estimate on this season's wheat in all Canada showed nearly 6,000,000 bushels increase over the latest previous figures, which were issued November 13 last. Today's estimate came out after trading in Chicago had ceased for the day. Meanwhile, Liverpool closing quotations today on future deliveries of wheat were lower than due, and North American export business, such as it was, consisted mostly of Canadian wheat.

Special notice today was taken of announcement that Argentine wheat shipments this week showed 1,497,000 bushels, compared with the week previous, and that vessel rates to Europe for Argentine wheat are below any current in recent years. These circumstances were construed in some quarters as indicating sharpened competition ahead for wheat from North America. A good deal of attention was also given today to the fact that during February last year the United States wheat visible supply decreased only about 6,000,000 bushels and during March last year increased materially as compared with the year previous. Something of an offset, though, is that primary arrivals of domestic wheat are a good deal smaller than week or a year ago or at this time in 1929.

Increased rural offerings of corn today tended to weaken the corn market and oats as well. The enlarged offerings of corn were mostly from Illinois.

Provisions averaged lower with grain, despite uptrns in the value of hogs.

BOND PRICES SLUMP; DOMESTIC LIST FIRM

New 1930 Offerings Total Nearly $500,000,000; Carriers Sag.

FOREIGN ISSUES DECLINE

New York, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—The bond market displayed further easiness today, although the undertone of the domestic list was a trifle steadier. Foreign government issues, which have been working steadily higher, took a breathing spell and minor recessions were scattered through the group, which showed a smaller turnover.

The current tendency of prices is regarded as only natural in view of the fact that new offerings since the first of the year total nearly $500,000,000. Although the decline in the last ten days has been steady, it has been by no means large, and the fact that the list shows such strong underlying resistance is held to be reassuring.

Rails and utilities sagged moderately in today's characteristically quiet session, but the industrials exhibited a fair degree of firmness. United States Governments were in small demand and closing prices were irregular. Time money was a trifle firmer, while call funds followed their now familiar course of renewing at 4½ per cent and dropping to 4.

Baltimore & Ohio Loses.

Declines in the rails diminished, although a handful of the high grade issues, including Baltimore & Ohio first 5s and St. Paul general 3½s lost a point or more. On the other hand, Atchison General 4s, Burlington 4½s, Rock Island 4s, Missouri, Kansas & Texas prior lien 5s, Pennsylvania general 4½s and Erie 5s were firm.

The demand for industrials carried several tobacco company bonds higher, among them Liggett & Myers 5s and Lorillard 7s and 5s. The second named rose a full point. American Type Founders 6s, International Mercantile Marine 6s, Pillsbury Flour 6s, Penn Dixie Cement 6s and Shell Pipe Line 5s advanced ½ to 2 points. In the specialties group Schulit Co. 6½s had another sharp rally, the series A issue rising 9 points and the B's 8. New York tractions were strong.

Utilities moved in a thin market. American Telephone 5s of 1965, when issued, made the best showing from the standpoint of volume, but the fluctuation was extremely narrow. Consolidated Gas of New York 5½s, Columbia Gas & Electric 5s, May maturity and two or three other popular issues traded in normal amounts, but the others were dull and inclined to ease.

German Bonds Are Firm.

Belgian stabilization loan 7s lost a point, while Australian 4½s, Brazilian 6½s and most of the Argentine 6s yielded fractionally. German and French bonds were firm and British 5½s moved up three-eights to 104, which compared with their high for the past year of 104⅝.

Convertibles spent a dreary day, despite the buoyancy of the stock market. International Telephone 4½s rallied 1¼ on small buying and New Haven 6s advanced 3 points on the sale of a few bonds.

New offerings scheduled for tomorrow include a $2,115,000 issue of Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad ½ per cent equipment trust certificates, maturing serially. They are priced to yield 4.80 per cent.

THREE FIRMS ELECT OFFICERS FOR 1930

BANK QUARTERLY IS OUT

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Directors of the District National Bank reelected all of the bank's officers yesterday as follows: Robert N. Harper, president; Joshua Evans, jr., executive vice president; W. P. Lipscomb, vice president; C. J. Gockeler, vice president; N. L. Sansbury, vice president; Hilleary L. Offutt, jr., vice president and cashier; William C. Looker, assistant cashier; Theodore S. Mason, assistant cashier; Barnard & Johnson, attorneys; Wharton E. Lester, counsel; B. L. Colton, trust officer, and Ralph P. Barnard, counsel to trust department.

W. T. Galliher & Bro., Inc.

All officers and trustees of W. T. Galliher & Bro., Inc., were reelected They are C. E. Galliher, president and treasurer; J. H. Galliher, vice president and general manager, and C. Emery Galliher, vice president and secretary. The foregoing are also the trustees.

Lincoln Investment Corporation.

At the annual meeting of stockholders of the Lincoln Investment Corporation the following were elected directors for the ensuing year: Edward C. Kriz, Colin H. Livingstone, Kenneth M. Livingstone, Hugo Thran and DeVere R. Weedon.

After the stockholders' meeting, a directors meeting was held and the following were elected: Kenneth M. Livingstone, president and treasurer; DeVere R. Weedon, vice president, and Edward C. Kriz, secretary. The president reported a very prosperous year.

Washington Clearing House.

Officers reelected at the annual meeting of the Washington Clearing House Association are: H. H. McKee, president, National Capital Bank, chairman; Victor B. Deyber, president, Second National Bank, secretary, and Charles E. Bright, assistant cashier, National Metropolitan Bank, manager.

Frank J. Stryker, president, Columbia National Bank, and Charles F. Jacobson, cashier, National Metropolitan Bank, were elected committeemen to serve two years. Other committeemen are George L. Starkey, president, National Bank of Washington, and Robert V. Fleming, president, Riggs National Bank.

Dollars and Sense, quarterly publication of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, appeared yesterday. It contains an interesting article on "The Present Day Need for Trained Bankers," by Vice President Edward J. McQuade, Liberty National Bank. Raymond D. Lewis, American Security & Trust Co., is editor of this excellent magazine.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—It was estimated today by Dow, Jones & Co. that the 1929 report of the General Motors Corporation will show net profits of about $243,000,000, equal to between $5.35 and $5.40 a share on 43,500,000 shares of common stock. This estimate compares with $776,468,908, or $6.14 a share in 1928, the record year, and is greater than any other year in the company's history.

The gold movement at the port of New York from January 16 to 22, inclusive, comprised imports of $212,000, consisting of $100,000 from Brazil and $112,000 chiefly from other Latin-American Countries, and exports of $12,000 to Mexico. There was a net increase of $1,000,000 in the amount of gold earmarked for foreign account.

The Associated Telephone Utilities Co. has purchased the Johnstown Telephone Co., of Johnston, Pa., which operates fourteen exchanges in and around the midwestern section of Pennsylvania. Subsidiaries of the Associated System now operate in 20 States.

Arrangements have been completed for the sale of a seat on the New York Stock Exchange for $398,000, ex-rights, a decrease of $2,000 from the previously recorded sale.

Six stocks issues were transferred today from the New York Curb to the stock exchange. Included among them was the stock of the newly formed Pittston Co., which was traded in for only one day on the Curb Exchange and then had but one sale of 100 shares.

Following an idea inaugurated by the New York Stock Exchange, the New York Curb Exchange, is now printing on the quotation ticker official estimates of sales at intervals during the day. For the time being the curb ticker will carry sales to noon and at the close an estimate of the total sales.

1,100 ARE RESCUED AS SHIP HITS ROCKS

Other Boats Come to Aid When Vessel Is Wrecked in Magellan Straits.

TOURISTS ARE STRANDED

Buenos Aires, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—The ministry of marine tonight announced a dispatch from the naval headquarters at Ushala, Tierra del Fuego, stating that all the 1,100 passengers and the crew of the steamer Monte Cervantes have been saved from the wreck of that Hamburg-Sud American liner.

The ship struck a rock in the Straits of Magellan yesterday afternoon. The telegram to the marine ministry said the steamer will be a total loss.

The dispatch also revealed that the army transport Vicente Fidel Lopez and four naval dispatch boats are standing by the Monte Cervantes, salvaging baggage and provisions.

The Hamburg Sud American Line ordered the liner Monte Sarmiento to discharge all her passengers at Montevideo, Uruguay, and proceed immediately to Ushala to pick up the stranded tourists.

Fox Film Company Faces New Citation

Trusteeship Fails; Must Show Cause in Court on Receivership.

New York, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—After attempts at a compromise on a trusteeship had failed, Federal Judge Coleman today issued an order requiring the Fox Film Corporation to show cause why an equity receiver should not be appointed to take over its assets. The order will be argued Monday afternoon.

The suit on which the order was signed was filed Monday by Mrs. Susie Dryden Kuser, widow of one of the original Fox backers and holder of 20 per cent of the voting class B stock in the company. Last Saturday Ira M. Gast, a minority class A non-voting stockholder, brought a similar suit, and today a third suit was revealed. Arthur Berenson, attorney for two class A stockholders, said papers in an action for his clients had been served on William Fox before either Mrs. Kuser's or Mr.

VIRGINIA EDUCATORS TO ATTEND MEETING

SUBJECTS ARE LISTED

Richmond, Va., Jan. 23 (A.P.).—A large delegation of Virginia's leading educators will attend the eleventh annual meeting of the Educational Association of the Methodist Episcopal Church South in Memphis, Tenn., February 5 and 6. Dr. J. N. Hillman, president of Emory and Henry College, is vice president of the association.

Ten Southern Methodist institutions of learning in Virginia will be represented at the meeting, with the Randolph-Macon system of schools and colleges—composed of Randolph-Macon College at Ashland, Randolph-Macon Woman's College at Lynchburg, Randolph-Macon Academy at Bedford, a second academy at Front Royal, and Randolph-Macon School for Girls at Danville.

Dr. R. E. Blackwell, president of the Ashland institution, is scheduled to lead a discussion at the first afternoon session of the association meeting on the subject of "Legislation to Be Requested by the Association from the Quadrennial General Conference which Meets in Dallas, Tex., this May."

Presidents of the ten schools, members of conference boards of education, Virginia members of the general board of education located at Nashville, Tenn., faculty members and others connected with educational work of the church will form the State delegation, as follows:

Dr. J. N. Hillman, president of Emory and Henry College; Dr. R. E. Blackwell, president of Randolph-Macon College at Ashland; Dr. D. R. Anderson, Lynchburg, president of Randolph-Macon Woman's College; W. B. Gates, Blackstone, president of Blackstone College; C. D. Custis, Abingdon, president of Martha Washington College; William R. Phelps, Bedford, Randolph-Macon Academy; C. L. Melton, Front Royal, head master, Randolph-Macon Academy; J. C. Simpson, Danville, principal of Randolph-Macon School for Girls; B. M. Beckham, Ferrum, principal of Ferrum Training School; George B. McCrary, Mount Heron, principal of Triangular Mountain Institute; the Rev. G. H. Fielding, Clarendon; Dr. S. C. Hatcher, Ashland; Miss Lelia Bagley, Blackstone; Roy E. Hope, Emory; Sam D. McMurry, Abingdon; F. L. Day, Ashland; William Scott, Lynchburg, and Miss Rebecca Gorwin, Lynchburg.

Matters affecting the Virginia Methodist schools will come under discussion at the approaching session, and the Virginia delegation is expected to play an important part in the two-day meet. Plants of the ten institutions located in this State are valued at approximately $4,500,000.

PRESIDENT TO VIEW ALEXANDRIA PARADE

GOV. POLLARD TO ATTEND

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

It has been definitely decided that President Hoover will come to Alexandria February 22 to review the civic and military parade, which will be the principal feature of the celebration of Washington's birthday. The President, to whom an invitation had been extended January 13 by a committee of Alexandrians representing the George Washington Birthday Association, and headed by Representative R. Walton Moore, promised at that time that he would accept, provided no other engagement interfered, and yesterday he notified Representative Moore that he would come to Alexandria.

The President's acceptance assures the attendance of Gov. John Garland Pollard of Virginia and his staff, and the governor will in all probability be accompanied by the Richmond Light Infantry Blues Battalion as his escort. He had also accepted the invitation, contingent upon the acceptance of the President. Many members of both Houses of Congress will also come to view the parade, as well as members of the Diplomatic Corps and other notables. The General Assembly of Virginia will also probably attend.

A glass-inclosed reviewing stand will be erected on North Washington street, and this will be steam heated so as to protect the President, Gov. Pollard and their staffs from inclement weather. The arrangements will be similar to those made for the entertainment of President Coolidge, two years ago, when he attended the celebration, except that Mr. Coolidge came to Alexandria on the Mayflower and was greeted at the wharf by Gov. Harry Flood Byrd and the officials of the association.

A large number of Government and State troops is expected to be ordered here for the parade, and there will be several units of high school cadets and many civic and fraternal organizations in line. A number of floats and several bands will also be in the parade.

The George Washington Birthday Association for many years past has held a parade on Washington's Birthday every two years, with the exception of the period during the World War. The morning of February 22 a committee of members of the association will go to Mount Vernon and place a wreath on the tomb of Washington, returning in time to welcome the Governor of Virginia and the President of the United States.

The Red Cross drive for members, which was held in December, yielded a total of 1,067, which exceeds the record of last year, according to the report of C. S. Taylor Burke, treasurer of the local branch. Mr. Burke has just received a letter from Robert E. Body, manager of the Eastern area, acknowledging the payment of $446.50, representing the second installment of the roll call, in which Mr. Body states the results reflect the earnest effort given by the roll-call workers. "I am sure the chapter has already extended a fitting expression to the Business and Professional Women's Club members who have given their support," he declared.

Robert M. Colvin, superintendent of the Potomac Railway Yards, was the recipient of a gold watch and chain, the gift of the Clerks Association in recognition of his 40 years of service with the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac Railroad. The presentation was made by W. D. Duke, vice president of the railroad company, at the fifth annual banquet held in the George Mason Hotel Wednesday night. Many officials of the company were present at the banquet.

George Hensley, 55 years old, of 208 South Payne street, was charged in police court yesterday with the theft of ten doughnuts from in front of the King Street Market, and Judge Snow imposed a fine of $10, or $1 each for the doughnuts, and also sentenced the man to 30 days in jail, the latter sentence being suspended. Hensley was arrested by Policeman Mullen.

Numerous complaints have been received by the police of the theft of doughnuts, and close watch has been kept upon several stores, with the result that a small boy was captured in the act of stealing the cakes. When Hensely was captured, he stated he intended paying the proprietor for the doughnuts, but he failed to convince Judge Snow of his good intentions.

John Barton Phillips has been chosen to head the newly formed organization composed of citizens of Alexandria and the recently annexed territory, to be called the Citizens Association of Alexandria, with J. T. Till, vice president; Fred A. Holden, secretary, and William Kleysteuber, assistant secretary.

The president was authorized to appoint a membership committee to immediately start the work of securing new members. A constitution and by-laws committee will report at the next meeting of the body.

Dr. Francis B. Short, of New York, noted lecturer, will address the community meeting to be held next Tuesday evening, sponsored by the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, the American Legion, the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs, in the nature of a reception to the new citizens of Alexandria, now living within the boundaries of the city. His topic will be "Community Welfare."

Dr. James Hargrave, of Petersburg, reported to the police yesterday that while his automobile was parked in front of a lunchroom on King street a hand satchel containing articles valued at $40 was stolen. Shortly afterward Policeman Elmore discovered the satchel in the space between the People's drug store and Lipp's lunchroom, with the contents undisturbed.

Lon Crouch, 3 Terra Cotta lane, is a patient in the Alexandria Hospital suffering from a broken nose and bruises sustained when he was struck Wednesday night by an automobile driven by Martin J. Manning, of 1001 Mount Vernon avenue. The accident occurred on Mount Vernon avenue near Hume Spring.

The merchants and manufacturers bureau of the Chamber of Commerce will hereafter hold its monthly meetings on Tuesday following the second Monday of each month. Heretofore the meetings have been held on the third Monday in each month.

School Law Brings Busy Day in Court

24 Alleged Violators of Statute Face Judge in Albemarle.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Jan. 23.—The first court of the school session for alleged violators of the State compulsory education law was held yesterday and 24 Albemarle County residents were summoned before T. M. Boyd, juvenile judge, by Supt. A. L. Bennett. Several convictions, carrying fines ranging from $5 to $10 with costs, were returned, but many were dismissed with warning when they promised to observe the law in future.

Mr. Bennett stated that a majority of those haled into court were summoned only after they had disregarded a notice to appear before him to discuss the circumstances of the offense. Two convictions made yesterday came as a result of habitual tardiness on the part of pupils.

The superintendent declared he felt the county school board's policy of rigid enforcement of the compulsory education law had met with success to a large degree, and the number of violators was comparatively small.

The main excuses offered by parents for the delinquency of their children were: Lack of parental control, claims that they "started the child and he did not go," and claims that the child was sick when evidence showed the contrary.

Father of 25 Children Held on Liquor Charge

William Dorsey, 69-year-old Negro, was "head man" twice too much. Once as "head man" of a family of 25 he was charged with failing to support, and now, as "head man" of a 25-gallon still, found in his house at Gaithersburg, Md., according to Maryland State police, he was arrested last night.

Policeman Paul Watkins was serving a warrant for nonsupport and another for disorderly conduct when he sighted what he characterized as the "still" on the kitchen stove. He said he seized one pint of liquor which had just been manufactured, in addition to 25 gallons of mash. Dorsey was lodged in the Rockville jail, while his family, from his wife, Mamie, down to 3-month-old Sally, awaited his return.

$40,000 Attorney Fees Awarded by Will Suit

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., Jan. 23.—Attorneys' fees totaling $40.000 were awarded today by Judge Frederick W. Coleman to three local attorneys who successfully defended a suit to invalidate the will of Mrs. Victoria B. Stevens Wallace, of this city, whose estate was estimated to be worth about $700.000. Under the terms of decree W. W. Butzner is allowed $25,000 for his services in representing the heirs under the will; H. Lewis Wallace is given $10.000 and Frank M. Chichester receives $5,000.

The suit attacking the validity of the will was tried here last summer Judge Coleman sustained the will.

Grain Elevator Fire Causes $12,000 Loss

Special to The Washington Post.

Purcellville, Va., Jan. 23.—A $12,000 loss was sustained by the Loudoun County Milling Co. this afternoon when fire starting in the basement of the elevator at Paeonian Springs, 6 miles from here, quickly spread through the frame building and entirely destroyed it with its contents of grain and feed.

The loss is partly covered by insurance.

TWO MEN ARE HELD IN HOUSEBREAKINGS

Capital Pair Suspected of Series of Thefts in Montgomery.

STOLEN CASH RECOVERED

Two Washington men are being held for investigation by nearby Maryland police in connection with the recent series of housebreakings in Montgomery County.

Policeman James McAuliffe, of the Bethesda police substation, yesterday arrested Alexander Page, 40 years old, of K street, near Fourteenth street southeast, a short time after a thief entered the home of Charles E. Myers, 113 Delray avenue, Woodmont, and stole the purse of Mrs. Myers, containing $22.69.

John William Campbell, colored, 28 years old, of Sixth street near N street northwest, was arrested by the police of Silver Spring upon recognition of Campbell's clothes as those given to released convicts. Police claim he was unable to give a satisfactory account of his movements.

Campbell is said to live directly across the street from Oscar Kemp, who last week was arrested as he is alleged to have attempted to pawn articles stolen from residents of Montgomery County. Kemp is now at the Rockville Jail.

The heroine of the Myers robbery was 13-year-old Dorothy Myers, over whom the thief climbed in entering a first-floor window under which she was sleeping. The girl was instantly awakened, but pretended to be asleep until the thief left, when she called her father.

According to Policeman McAuliffe, Page when arrested was at first indignant, but later admitted that he also had entered the home of Mrs. Charles M. Arthur, at Somerset, and had stolen a pocketbook containing $1. Page probably will be taken before State's Attorney Robert B. Peter, jr., today.

Bethesda police announced yesterday that silverware valued at nearly $1,000, which on January 14 was stolen from the home of Clarence Hall, 4 East Kirke street, Chevy Chase, has been recovered in a Baltimore pawnshop.

Woman Turns On Gas; Dies After Explosion

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Jan. 23.—After hearing the death sentence from three Clarksburg doctors whom she had consulted, Mrs. Nina McCune, 24, of New Milton, turned on the gas at a stove, sat down and awaited the end this morning in a room of the National Hotel.

Some time later, when gas streamed into an adjoining room where a fire was burning, there was a blast, and Mrs. McCune was burned beyond recognition. She was taken to a hospital in a dying condition. Miss Edith Mayles, 21, of Richwood, in the adjoining room, was burned, but not seriously. The second floor of the hotel was wrecked. Mrs. McCune first wrote pathetic letters to relatives and her husband, Charles, now a Moundsville Penitentiary convict.

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Jan. 23.—W. H. Warren and Hub Little were each sentenced to four years in the State penitentiary, and Elton Mitchell was sentenced to six months in jail by Judge J. Turner Clement in the Pittsylvania County Circuit Court, at Chatham, after they had been found guilty of theft of tobacco from barns of several farmers.

THREE SENTENCED BY FAIRFAX COURT

CIVIL CASES ARE HEARD

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Vienna, Va.
Phone Vienna, 64.

Frank Spencer, arraigned in Fairfax County Circuit Court yesterday on a charge of violation of the State prohibition law, entered a plea of guilty to the possession of intoxicating liquor and was fined $50 and costs and a suspended jail sentence of 30 days.

Rosial Harris pleaded guilty to violating the prohibition law and was fined $50 and costs, with an additional jail sentence of one month suspended during good behavior. A second indictment against him for colliding and leaving the scene of an accident was nolle prosed. The case against Estell and William Bailey was continued to the first day of the March term.

In civil court, Judge Smith appointed Walter Bowles, George Hunter, James Hunter, Ellen Gray and Antonia Payne as trustees of the Fairfax Colored Cemetery Association.

A license to sell soft drinks was granted to J. A. Madden at his place of business northeast of Engleside, on the Fort Humphreys road.

The First National Bank of Alexandria was granted homestead waiving judgments, with costs of the suits and 10 per cent attorney's fees in each case, against O. K. Miller for $500, with 6 per cent interest from February, 1929, until paid; against C. Melville Walker for $450, with 6 per cent interest from September, 1928, until paid; against B. F. Groves for $150, with 6 per cent interest from March 25, 1929, until paid; against F. N. Mohler for $460, with 6 per cent interest from July 1, 1929, until paid; against C. C. Cockerill for $500, with 6 per cent interest from May, 1929, until paid; against K. K. Keys for $510, with 6 per cent interest from September, 1928, until paid. The above suits were all based on notes of the individuals.

Benjamin F. Nevitt, of Fairfax, was appointed by the court as a member of the county electoral board to serve for a term of three years, beginning March 1, 1930. Robert D. Graham, B. W. Middleton, Thomas A. Williams, James Adams and E. L. Popkins were appointed jury commissioners for the county for the coming year beginning February 1, 1930.

The application of Jesse N. Cornwell for a Confederate pension was granted by the court. Cornwell is 92 years old and blind. He served as a private in the 114th Virginia Militia, Company A, enlisting at Romney July 14, 1861 when called by the Governor of Virginia. Pension checks were ordered sent to 80 Confederate veterans and their widows now on the pension roll in this county.

The Merrifield Improvement Association filed a petition with the court asking that trustees be appointed under the deed of J. W. Gaylord, dated October 8, 1874, in place of the original trustees who are now deceased. Gaylord deeded property on which the Merrifield School now stands to the community, to be used for school and religious purposes. Under this deed the court appointed B. F. Salisbury, Charles Kaiser, Miss Cora Seoane and Charles R. Moran as trustees.

The case of James Dodson against Justice of Peace Harry Shephard for impounding a machine involved in an automobile accident, was dismissed by the court on a motion of the plaintiff's attorney and at his costs.

E. W. Oliver, Lemuel T. Douden, C. H. Powell, Andrew Cleveland and John Gaines were appointed as a committee by the court to divide the Dove estate near Baileys Crossroads into four parts of equal value and to allot one part to Lucy Ellen Insoce; one part to Everett L. Insoce as grantee of William Fairfax Dove and wife; one part to Arthur Dove and one part to Robert Dove. The commissioners were authorized to employ a competent surveyor and to report their findings to the court.

The bill in which James M. Denty was complainant against James F. Denty and others was referred to one of the master commissioners to ascertain and report to the court as to who is entitled to the 68-acre tract of land.

The case of John O. Rabbitt, trading as a Georgetown supply company, against George Carlin, which has been on the docket since 1917, was dismissed by Judge Smith because no proceeding had been taken upon it for thirteen years.

C. C. Carr, secretary of the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce, is in receipt of a letter from Radio Station WJSV at Mount Vernon Hills, Va., in Mount Vernon District, saying that beginning February 1, 1930, that station had set aside the hour from 5 until 6 o'clock every Tuesday evening to be known as "Fairfax County Hour." This hour will be used by the various county organizations, and many forms of entertainment will be broadcast by the different organizations. Mr. Carr stated yesterday that he would ask the educational bodies to take over the first program to be broadcast February 4.

Winter B. Hampton, of the Oakgrove Poultry Club, is the winner of the county 4-H Club poultry contest. During the past year his total expenses for hatching eggs, building costs and feed was $93.99. He had kept an accurate account of each item spent and receipts. He sold fowls that paid him $16.95 and eggs amounting to $64.18, and the increase in value of his flock and equipment was $131.26, showing a net profit of $118.40.

Marshall Doak, of Clifton Station, a member of the 4-H Club, takes first rank in bee club work in Virginia, information recently received from the State headquarters states. Mr. Doak's record book was kept properly and showed in detail all receipts and expenditures for the year. He started with a colony of Italian bees and a part interest in another of ordinary black bees. At the end of the year he had seven colonies of Italian and one of black bees. His total expenses were $46.53 and total receipts $140.71, showing a profit of $94.17. In addition to this, he won prizes at the county fair amounting to $1.75. Doak made a specialty of raising Italian queen bees for sale. J. E. Brown is leader of the 4-H Bee Club.

After an illness of several years, Samuel M. Laws, prominent resident of Herndon, died at his home Tuesday mornnig. Yesterday afternoon he was buried in the family cemetery near Herndon. Mr. Laws was 84 years old, a native of Fauquier County, having been born at Catletts Station, but had resided in this county for many years. He is survived by his wife and six children, Mrs. [illegible] kins, of Herndon; Mrs. Lorella Meeley, of Waldorf, Md.; Mrs. Agnes Bailey, of Atlantic City, N. ## Seven Are Injured In Baltimore Fire

Blaze Follows Explosion in Furniture Firm's Basement.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 23 (A.P.).—Seven persons, six of them firemen, were slightly injured in a blaze which swept the C. P. Meislahn Furniture Co. building in the heart of the business district, following an explosion in the basement during the evening traffic rush today.

Patrons of two moving picture theaters, separated from the burning building by a fire wall, split into two groups as smoke entered the building through ventilating fans, many staying to see the end of the show and others filing to the street to join thousands of homegoers watching the firemen work.

Eleven workers who were in the furniture company building escaped, one suffering a sprained leg when he was forced to swing to a fire escape on an adjoining building by a rope thrown to him by rescuers after he had been trapped on the third floor. No cause for the explosion has been given by fire officials or owners of the company.

Girl Severely Burned As Kerosene Explodes

Luray, Va., Jan. 23.—Severely burned when a can of coal oil in her hand exploded, Dorothy Estep, daughter of Emmett Estep, York, Pa., is in a critical condition at the home of her mother, Mrs. Daisy Estep, in Luray. While the mother was sleeping Miss Estep arose from her bed, secured a can of kerosene and started a fire in the cook stove. The girl, after securing the can of coal oil, locked the door leading to her mother's sleeping room.

Aroused by her screams, Mrs. Estep attempted to go to her daughter's rescue. Finding the door locked, she was compelled to break it down. In extinguishing the fire Mrs. Estep and another daughter were also seriously burned.

FARM BOOKLOVERS LEAD VIRGINIA LIST

RURAL FOLK DINE BETTER

University, Va., Jan. 23 (A.P.).—The prosperous farm family reads more than any other class of Virginia's citizens, according to a survey made by the Institute of Research in the Social Sciences of the university.

In each of three classifications, "poor," "intermediate" and "prosperous," the farm families exceeded in time devoted to reading their neighbors in the city, and the difference between the "prosperous" groups in the city and country was over 50 per cent on the side of the country.

Poor city families in the survey reported the pricipal wage-earner as employed on an average of nine hours daily for five days in the week and four and one-half hours on Saturday, with Sunday generally free. Intermediate families averaged approximately nine hours on the same basis and prosperous families seven hours.

City Folk Greatest Visitors.

The most frequent and regular visiting within the community and outside was found among the families in the prosperous city group. Among these families two-thirds averaged two or more extended trips a year for pleasure and rest. Among poor families, nine-tenth reported no visits of this nature whatever.

Findings tended to the inference that a considerable amount of recreation is experienced by the city families with friends at home.

Of 35 poor city families visited, all inhabited frame dwellings. With an average of about four persons occupying an average of a fraction less than four rooms, conditions, it was stated, could be wholesome under ordinary circumstances. Stoves and open fireplaces were the customary forms of heating, and 43 per cent of the homes of poor families used oil lamps for lighting. Only one-sixth of the houses were equipped with bath facilities.

Farm Diet Healthier.

The physical comforts and conveniences of the intermediate group exceeded those of the corresponding farm group. The prosperous city family came closest to an approximation of the ideal physical compensations of farm life, due to a greater freedom of space than was true of the other two city groups.

In the study the diet of farm families yielded 41 per cent more energy, 72 per cent more protein, 92 per cent more calcium, 50 per cent more phosphorus, and 25 per cent more iron than was actually needed. The urban families, on the other hand, consumed food yielding 6 per cent more energy and 9 per cent more protein than was estimated as needed, but the mineral content of the diet was inadequate to meet their need.
